Chiefs of Staff In Germany

Start Study Of Western Europe's Defenses; Aid Talk Is Ruled Out

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 30—(AP)—The United States military chiefs of staff flew in from Washington today for a get-acquainted survey of western Europe's defenses.

Top-secret conferences with officers of Italy and Luxembourg and with American military leaders in Germany are docketed Monday. The party — including Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Air Force Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Adm. Louis E. Denfeld of the Navy—has a dual mission on its 10-day tour:

1. To discuss the proposed military organization provided by the 12-nation North Atlantic treaty.

2. To make a first-hand study of American troops in Europe, the bulk of whom are concentrated in western Germany.

Travelled In President's Plane

The chiefs arrived this afternoon in President Truman's personal plane, the Independence They will move on next week to London, Paris and Vienna for conferences with military leaders of the pact nations.

They will confer here with John J. McCloy, the American military governor; also the Army, Navy and Air Force commanders in Germany and the Luembourg and Italian military representatives, who have not been identified. They may take time out for a quick flight to Berlin.

Denfeld told reporters there would be no talk about military aid. President Truman's proposal for the appropriation of $1,450,000,000 to arm friendly nations is before Congress.

To Study What Is Needed

"We will talk with the chiefs of staff of the Atlantic pact nations," Denfeld said. "We are not going to talk about military aid. The U. S. defense department has ruled out discussions on the European arms aid program."

Bradley said "we will see what kind of organization and staff are needed to implement the pact."

Vandenberg said "there will be an exchange of ideas with the European military leaders during our visit."

Tuesday they will fly to London for conferences with the British chiefs of staff and other military officials. They will proceed to Paris Thursday.

Take Key From Child's Throat

Dale Lee Cairer, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cairer, 1913 South Harrison avenue, swallowed a "T" shape toy winding key, sometime Friday evening. The little man was relieved of his "unusual diet" about 4:00 o'clock Saturday morning by Dr. John M. Rodeman, and never once seemed to show much worry over the incident.

The parents became alarmed over the baby's coughing about 7:00 o'clock and later took him to the Bothwell hospital. An X-ray picture revealed the little key lodged in his throat. When Dr. Rodeman would endeavor to "finger" the key, the doctor became the victim of several sharp front teeth.

The baby was permitted to rest and Dr. Rodeman administered an anesthetic and within thirty minutes the key was removed and the child was taken back home, with tired and worried but relieved parents.

Youth Thrown From Wagon Fatally Hurt

Horse Frightened Runs Away; Two Other Boys Injured

William Lynn Turner, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, of the Huston-Turner funeral home, Windsor, died at 12:15 o'clock Saturday morning from injuries received Thursday evening when he was thrown from a wagon by a run-away horse.

The Turner boy and two other children were injured about 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening about a mile south of Windsor on the Leesville road. The other boys, Harold McCampbell, 10, and Harry Scheele, 12, received only minor cuts, scratches and abrasions. All three boys were rendered unconscious at the time of the accident, and the Turner boy never regained consciousness. He died at the Windsor community hospital.

According to Mrs. Turner, the three boys had been using the horse and wagon all week in helping the McCampbell family move from their residence in Windsor to a farm near the scene of the accident. The horse, described as very gentle, pulled a rubber-tired wagon and the little boys moved light articles to the new home. It was their last trip, and they were almost at their destination.

Help Came Too Late

The McCampbell boy was driving the wagon, and called for help when he realized the horse was frightened. A neighbor ran to the scene, but too late to help, and found the children out of the wagon. It is believed the wagon struck something in the road, throwing the children out, although this, and what had frightened the animal, was not clear to the boys.

The horse was in a great state of excitement, and broke two gates before it was subdued. Men at the scene could not go near the animal, it was reported, because of its wild actions.

Mr. and Mrs. McCampbell were following the wagon in their car, but had not caught up with the boys in time to see the accident. Mrs. McCampbell is a registered nurse, and was formerly in charge of the Windsor hospital.

Survivors

William Lynn is survived by his parents, one brother, Max, age two, and one sister, Sally, age 10. His grandmothers, Mrs. Rose Turner of Windsor, and Mrs. Omega Robinson of Warrensburg, also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Huston-Turner funeral home at Windsor, with the Rev. John D. Garrison, pastor of the Christian church of Windsor, to officiate.

Pallbearers will be John Dunn, A. R. Thurston, Jess Scrogham, R. B. Marshall, F. J. Webb and R. G. Sutherland

Burial will be in the Windsor cemetery

Mule Angry at Being Kicked, Kicks Man Twice

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 30 (AP)—There's such a thing as kicking too much.

A motorist, his car mired on a side road near U. S. highway 59, stopped 12-year-old Bob Betts of Winthrop, Mo., with two mules he was leading.

When the boy told the motorist he couldn't help him because he had no harness for the mules, the motorist kicked the boy. Then the motorist kicked one of the mules.

The mule retaliated and gave him a good kicking, landing two good blows, before the motorist could get back into the car.

The motorist and his two passengers managed to push the car from the mud before Officer Jim Keames arrived and fled across the bridge into Atchison, Kas.

Wage Contract Submitted For Approval

MIAMI, Okla., July 30—(AP)—A wage contract, by which 500 idled employes may go back to work, today was submitted for their approval by the Eagle-Picher Mining and Smelting Co. and union negotiators, a union spokesman disclosed.

The offer, will be discussed and voted on at a union meeting Wednesday night, according to Bobby Huddleston, international representative of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (AFL).

Huddleton, Eagle-Pitcher personnel director E. C. Mabon and others were closeted for two hours today.

Offer The Same

Except for minor changes, the company's offer is the same as that made before shutting down tri-state operations June 30, throwing 825 employes out of work—including the 500 union members.

Eagle-Picher said at the time it hoped for union acceptance of an average daily wage cut of $3.08 per worker in order to continue operations despite the slumping price of zinc ore—now $53 a ton. The proposal was rejected.

Huddleston said the cut was still in, but that the company had modified its offer for a sliding wage scale pegged on the price of ore.

The current business slump has idled 3,600 in the Missouri-Oklahoma-Kansas Mining district.

The President, however, is scheduled to return tomorrow The weather bureau forecast that showers may break the extended heat wave.

Woman Hit By Truck, But Not Seriously Hurt

Taken To Hospital And Released In About An Hour

Mrs. Letha Reynolds, 309 East Third street, was injured, but believed not seroiusly, in an accident at Third and Massachusetts avenue about 9:43 o'clock Saturday night. Mrs. Reynolds was struck by a truck driven by N. E. "John" DeWan, 320 East Main street.

DeWan reported to the police he was not driving more than ten miles per hour when the accident occurred. He said he had just left his parking space on Massachusetts avenue between Third and Fourth streets, and in approaching Third street was going very slowly. He said Mrs Reynolds was crossing the street and he was unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap, and she was evidently unable to get out of the way.

Struck by Bumper

Mrs. Reynolds was struck by the bumper and knocked to the pavement. She suffered bruises on her right leg below the knee, an abrasion on the right elbow, two broken ribs on the lift side.

DeWan was accompanied by Miss Nellie Klein, 102½ South Washington avenue, and C. H. Salmons, 301 East Twenty-Seventh street, who also said DeWan was driving very slowly at the time.

Mrs. Reynolds was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance and she was treated by Dr. Gordon Stauffacher, and released about an hour later and taken to her home.

Cool Front Is Moving to East From Canada

Unusually Chilly Temperatures In The Midwest

By The Associated Press

A storm-studded cool front broke the east's two week heat siege late Saturday.

At Philadelphia, the mercury dropped from an afternoon high of 96 to 79 at 10 p.m. In some places in Maryland the drop was as much as 18 degrees in 15 minutes.

Heavy rains drenched Pittsburgh. An overnight low of 62 was forecast for Steel City.

Thundershowers brought relief to heat-stricken New York city. The temperature in Manhattan dropped 10 degrees to 76 within an hour after the storm struck Manhattan at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

Temperatures Soared

But Saturday temperatures soared—to 100 at Newark, N. J., 98 at Portland, Me., 84.2 at New York city, 96 at Hartford, Conn., and 94 at Washington. Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.,

The upsurge of heat prostration deaths subsided with at lease 77 reported.

There were scattered local reports of relief in upper New York and New England as showers dropped Boston's mercury to 81 for a while and Dunkirn, N. Y., experienced a gratifying dip to 67.

Miami an Exception

But it was 90 in all but a few localities. Miami, Fla., was an exception, with a high of 86 before a thunderstorm pushed the mercury lower.

It was the hottest day of the year in Maine. Portland's 98 broke the all-time record of 91 degrees for the date set in 1909. Temperatures ranged from the high 80s well into the 90s in all sections of the state. Forestry officials patrolled three new fires in the woods. High humidity was credited with preventing really serious outbreaks.

Baltimore, Md., with a high of 96, chalked up its 12th straight day of over 90 temperatures—the third longest spell in 78 years of record keeping.

In contrast, clear, cool, weather prevailed from the Great Lakes westward to the Rockies, and as far south in the plains as Oklahoma. Chicago's temperature at 2 p.m. (EST) was 73.

Chilly in Midwest

There were some unusually chilly temperatures reported early Saturday in the Midwest, including 40 degrees at Land O'Lakes, Wis., 49 at Aakdale, Neb., and 56 at Omaha. The Omaha figure tied the low record for the date set in 1889.

The Southeast, however, appeared to be relieved by the cool air mass which fanned eastward from the midwest. The cool weather front moved as far south in the Ohio valley at Louisville, Ky., where brief showers in the early afternoon dropped the temperatures from 90 to 83 degrees.

Real relief was predicted by the weather bureau for New England, and all of New York and Pennsylvania Saturday night. Substantially milder weather for the middle Atlantic area was predicted by Sunday.

A thunderstorm, accompanied by wind gusts up to 40 miles per hour, broke a 12-day heat wave in West Virginia, lowering the temperature Saturday afternoon at Huntington from 93 to 71 degrees.

Larger Downtown Stores To Be Open on Thursday Nights

Beginning this Thursday night—August 4th—Sedalia and Central Missouri shoppers will have an opportunity to shop in most of Sedalia's larger downtown stores until 9:00 o'clock.

For more than a year there has been a movement here to have a middle - of - the - week shopping night. This movement finally became a reality when those interested called on other Sedalia merchants and drew up a plan of action which will result in practically a city-wide Thursday night opening of all Sedalia downtown stores.

A middle-of-the-week shopping night has been a nationwide trend among stores and cities for several years and gained considerable momentum during the recent war period. Proponents point to the fact that people's habits and working hours have changed, and that those who are employed, or who operate businesses, have free time over the end of the week and that many of these people want to devote that time to recreation and relaxation, yet they want and need a night other than Saturday when they can make necessary purchases.

An Experiment

The new Thursday night opening will be an experiment by Sedalia merchants, and will be operated on a trial basis throughout August and September. During this trial period, many stores plan Thursday night merchandising features to keep the new shopping night before the people of this area and to create an incentive for shopping on that night.

On the back page of the second section of this edition of the Democrat-Capital is a cooperative advertisement calling attention to the new Thursday shopping night and listing the names of the stores who are cooperating to bring the message to the people of the Sedalia territory. Many stores not listed on this advertisement will participate and their places of business will also be open each Thursday night during August and Septemeber.

It is the belief of some merchants that their places of business should be open on Saturday nights as usual until a Thursday night opening has proved to be a more satisfactory shopping night for Sedalia and out-of-town people, and most Sedalia stores will be open both Thursday and Saturday night throughout the trial period.

An Unusual Plant Growing in Dresden Known as Unicorn

An interesting plant growing in the garden of James Anderson, of Dresden that has puzzled Sedalians and Dresden neighbors for quite sometime, has finally been identified.

Mr. Anderson has cared for this plant all spring and summer, as it came up voluntarily in his garden, and not knowing what it was, hesitated in cutting it down. R. V. Denny, of Sedalia, was so interested he took a picture of it, to send away to be identified. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Denny went to Dr. J. E. Cannaday's office to tell him about it, but he could not tell them, upon their description.

Dr. Cannaday, who is a student of botany, Mrs. Ora Stephens, a botonist, and Roy I. Coplen, county farm agent, made three trips to Dresden, and none of the three could identify this plant, so they decided to send specimens to the University of Missouri.

Plant Identified

Saturday, they received word that the plant is a Unicorn, or Martynia Proboscidea. The more common name is "Elephant's Trunk."

In making a more thorough study of the plant Saturday, Dr. Cannaday said the pods are often used as ornaments in homes, and some people have used them for pickles as they do cucumbers, as well as for the heavy foliage in the gardens.

Dr. Cannaday gave the following description of the plant: Rand branchy, sprawling limbs on the ground, very heavy odor, with leaves broad, and more of a type of one to two feet high. The flowers of whitish mottled, resembling snapdragons. The pods are five parted, very hairy, with a long curving beak, and the name of "Elephants' Trunk" come from this. The fruits have a very distinct appearance by reason of the long curved horn which splits from the top as the capsule hardens. The seeds are large. The plant is treated as half hardy annuals.

How the plant originated, no one knows, but it is believed, since the plant is growing near a railroad track, that a seed fell from a passing train.

Briefs

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—The administration was reported working today on a proposal to reduce the size and scope of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 (B) foreign arms program.

This revision may turn up later in the form of a Democratic compromise after congressional committees have completed hearings.

The State Department, however, denied there had been any such compromise or that it was considering any.

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Testimony of a self-decribed former Communist that Russia has used the United Nations to "reinforce" her spies in this country was made public tonight by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

The statement was made by Mrs. Ruth Fischer of New York City, a sister of Gerhart Eisler, the Communist leader who jumped bond and skipped the country after being convicted of passport fraud.

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—A determined effort to clip some of the vast powers wielded by the 21-member Senate appropriations committee appeared under way today.

Some Senators told a reporter privately that is the real cause of perhaps the worst snarl in regular money bills in 25 years or longer.

Although the new fiscal year isa month old, nearly $30,000,000,000 (B) worth of appropriation now are piled up waiting Senate action.

Majority leader Lucas (D-Ill) and other Democratic congressional leaders hope to break this legislative logjam next week. But no one now is certain when the disputes will end and Congress can plan to adjourn.

LONDON, July 30—(AP)—The British sloop Amethyst escaped down the Yangtze river today under fire of Chinese Communist shore batteries and rejoined the British fleet, the admiralty proudly announced.

Prime Minister Attlee relayed his personal congratulations to the commanding officer and crew of the Amethyst for their "gallant exploit." The British naval commander in chief in the Far East told the sloop's crew their daring passage will go down as "an epic in the history of the Navy."

Still Enforce On Rent Control

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods said Saturday, administration and enforcement of Federal Rent Control will continue without change, and that the decision in Chicago by U. S. District Judge Elwyn R. Shaw holding the Housing and Rent Act of 1949 unconstitutional because of the "local option" provision will be appealed.

"Rights of tenants against eviction and overcharge, and rights of landlords under the adjustment provisions of the Act will continue as heretofore," Mr. Woods said.

"In other words, the Housing and Rent Act of 1949 is still the law of the land and will continue to be unless it is set aside by the Appellate Courts.

"In the meantime status quo will be maintained in all areas and parts of area still under Federal Rent Control."

Two Mothers Into Court In Child Case

Natural Mother Takes Her Away From Foster Parents

TULSA, Okla., July 30—(AP)—Two mothers—one of them jailed, but defiant—vied with each other today for the custody of a missing little girl. Eleven-year-old Jerriline Beshears.

Jearriline's whereabouts is the bone of contention between her natural mother, Mrs. Nellie Beshears, a 29-year-old divorcee, and the child's adopted parents—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Whitley.

Mrs. Beshears has been jailed since Thursday for failing to make $1,000 bond on a charge of child stealing filed by the Whitleys.

"I wouldn't tell where she is if they were fixin' to hang me," she told her attorney, John L. Ward, Jr. He said he will ask that the adoption be set aside due to "misrepresentation."

Admits Taking Child

Mrs. Beshears admits taking the child from the Whitley home when informed she could no longer see her. "The child's all I have left, now," she said. An older boy is being treated at a state hospital for a speech defect.

Mr. Whitley today denied refusing Mrs. Beshears permission to see the little girl, adopted by the couple July 5. "I only refused to let her take the child to her rooms," she explained.

All live in suburban Sand Springs. Mrs. Whitley, who worked in a cotton mill with Mrs. Beshears, said she and her husband took care of Jerriline when the mother worked nights.

Habeas Corpus Action Filed

"When Mrs. Beshears decided to adopt the child out, we asked if we could get her," Mrs. Whitley declared. "I can't have any children of my own, and we want her son," she sobbed.

Mrs. Beshears next week will face a habeas corpus action filed to get her to bring Jerriline into court, County Attorney Elmer Adams said.

"I won't tell," Mrs. Beshears repeated grimly. "I can't have any more children, and I'm going to hang onto my little girl as long as I can."

Sixteen Killed In Collision

Airliner And Navy Fighter Crash In The Air; Fighter Had Buzzed Other Planes

FORT DIX, N. J., July 30 (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed today as a Memphis-bound airliner was chopped apart in the New Jersey skies by what witnesses described as a stunting Navy fighter plane.

The airliner's left wing and tail were shorn off, and the crippled Eastern Airliner DC-3 whirled into a farm house pasture and burst into a wall of flame. The Navy plane burrowed into the ground two miles away.

The charred bodies of twelve passengers and three crew members were strewn throughout the wreckage of the airliner. The pilot of the Navy plane was found dead in a field beside an unopened parachute.

State police said they had reports from two witnesses who saw the two planes tangle high in the sky over the Fort Dix military reservation.

Had Buzzed Piper Cub

One was a pilot of a Piper Cub who said the Navy fighter had buzzed his little craft and "stood me on my right wing for an instant" just before zooming into the airliner.

"The small plane appeared to strike the airliner on the left side just aft of the left wing," the Piper Cub pilot, George Humphries of Fair Haven, told investigators.

"Parts of the airplane were all over the sky, and I veered to my right. I saw the aircraft strike the ground amid a cloud of dust and flames."

Another witness, farmer Harry Miller, said he saw the fighter plane take the tail off the airliner and send it into a spin.

"The big plane took three turns and then the wing fell off," he said.

Other Complaints

Pilots of two other commercial planes complained later at Miami that their airliners also had been "buzzed" by Navy aircraft while flying over the New Jersey area today.

A National Air Lines pilot said three Navy craft had swerved in front of his plane two-and-a-half hours before the fatal crash. Another Eastern Airlines pilot said his plane had been buzzed at about that same hour some 25 miles from Fort Dix. Both statements were made in the pilots' reports to their airlines.

The dead were taken from the scattered wreckage tonight and placed in three funeral homes throughout this rural area. State police said that most of the dead were burned beyond recognition.

Included among the casualties was Howard Sanderson Le Roy, of Washington, D. C., a past president of Rotary International.

Airliner Into Ditch

The two-engined airliner, bound from Boston to Memphis, plowed open a wide ditch as it ground into a mass on the farm of Peter Mungus in the Chesterfield-Sykesville road.

Farmers who ran to the rescue said the crash was followed by an explosion and a wall of flame which kept them at a distance for almost half an hour.

Firemen from the Fort Dix Army camp and nearby communities said there wasn't a sound from the burning plane when rescuers reached it.

"The only noise was the crackle of the flames," said Stanley Matthis, chief of the Chesterfield township fire department.

Pilot's Name Withheld

Maj William A. Somerby of the Fort Dix public information office identified the military craft as a Navy fighter from the Anacostia Naval Air Station in Washington, D. C. Navy officials there said a Navy F-6-F Hellcat left there this morning for Quonset Point, R. I., and was overdue.

The Navy said it could not make public the pilot's name until his next-of-kin is notified.

Eastern Airlines, Army, Navy and Civil Aeronautics Board officials sped to the crash area to investigate the accident.

Somerby said Army investigators had been told by an eyewitness that the fighter plane had approached the airliner from the right rear and had crashed into the top of the liner.

The plane had left Boston without any passengers at 7:35 (EST) this morning. It picked up 15 passengers in Hartford. Nine of these got off at LaGuardia Airport in New York. Six others, who died in the crash shortly after 10 a.m., boarded the plane at New York.

The action was filed by the baby's father, Edward Nelson, against Charles Sparino. While giving the baby his first hair cut on June 24th, the suit alleges, Sparino twisted the child's head.

Prosecutors to Get Extra Pay

JEFFERSON CITY, July 29.—(AP)—Attorney General J. E. Taylor ruled today prosecuting attorneys can start collecting at once a salary increase granted by the recent legislature.

The legislature directed third and fourth class county prosecuting attorneys to attend all coroners' inquests. For this extra duty they are to receive 25 per cent of their previous salary.

Sam Semple, prosecuting attorney at Moberly, asked whether the increase is effective at once, in view of a constitutional section which says an officer's salary can not be boosted during his term of office.

Assistant Attorney General Will F. Berry, Jr., concluded that under Missouri court decisions, extra compensation may be collected when extra duties are performed.

GOP Planning 'Grass Roots' Convention

Twenty-Five States Represented In A Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO, —uly 30 — (AP) — A group of Republicans from 25 states, discontented with their party's policies, adopted a program Friday and laid the groundwork for a later "grass-roots" convention.

Fred A. Virkus of Chicago called the conference, contending the GOP needs revitalizing. The 105 attending all were either delegates or alternate delegates to the 1948 Republican National convention

Virkus himself is president of the conference of American Small Businesses and a former Illinois state legislator.

After two days of closed committee sessions, the dissident Republicans:

Urging New Policies

Recommended a labor policy based on the Taft-Hartley law.

Urged a farm policy based on government purchases in the open market.

Called for a Republican round-up, or grass-roots convention, before the next elections. Representatives of county GOP organizations would be invited.

Mrs. E. Wyatt Payne of Huntington, W. Va., urged the GOP to bar from consideration for the 1952 presidential nomination the governors of both New York and California.

She declared the next GOP standard-bearer should come from the midwest "where they have not been tainted by foreign ideologies."

The group selected Chicago for its temporary headquarters.

In their policy statement, the Republican group asserted:

"There must be returned to the states the rights, privileges, and duties which have been usurped by the federal government x x x.

"We oppose federal aid for housing and education, which would result eventually in socialism and the loss of individual liberties" x x the socialization of medicine x x x (and) government use of the taxpayers' money to compete with private enterprise."

They advocated "every honarable effort to maintain the peace of the world without surrendering our national sovereignty."

The farm plank called upon the government "to maintain parity between labor, industry and agriculture by purchase in the open market of basic agricultural products."

George Virkus, son of the sponsor, was elected secretary and W. H. Mason of Memphis, Tenn., treasurer.

The following were among those named to the executive board: Mrs. Chester Dunn, Oxford, Kas., and Mrs. M. Kelly, Trenton, Mo.

Two Minor Traffic Accidents Friday

Two minor traffic accidents occurred in one hour in Sedalia, Friday afternoon, but no extensive damage resulted in either of them, and no arrests were made.

The first collision occurred at the intersection of 50 and 65 highways, when a 1947 International truck of the Sedalia Packing Company, being driven westward by Berley Odell, of 603 South Engineer avenue, collided with a 1947 Mack truck of the Gerbes Super Market of Tipton, being driven in the same direction by Edward F. Gerbes. Damage to both trucks was slight, and the drivers agreed on settlements at the scene.

The second collision was at 2:15 o'clock at Sixth street and Osage avenue. W. C. Colvin, of Sixteenth street and Marshall avenue, was going south in his 1936 Ford sedan, and was in collision with the 1936 Chevrolet truck of Fred Eads, route 1, Beaman, which was stopped at the time of the accident. The right side of the Ford was damaged, but the truck received no damage. The drivers settled at the scene.

Mrs. V. J. Taylor, of St. Joseph, formerly of Sedalia, who is employed in the office of the J. C. Penney company in that city and was chosen queen of their float in the Apple Blossom Festival held there in May. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Miss Doris Kelley and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kelley, 103 East Walnut street, Sedalia. Mr. Taylor was manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company here before being transferred to St. Joseph.

May Still File For Dividend

Veterans may file application for the special National Service Life Insurance dividend even though they do not know their insurance number, W. F. Fidler, Jr., in charge of Veteran Administration Office at 511 South Ohio said.

While the "N" number will help to more speedily identify an account, veterans who have lost or misplaced their insurance certificate and number need not make inquiry of the VA concerning this information, Fidler said. In case an application is received without an insurance number, it will be furnished by the VA from the veteran's insurance account.

Application forms for the special insurance dividend are expected to be available August 29. It will be a three-fold card. After the veteran fills it out, he retains one-third(with the instructions) for his own records and mails the other two parts to the VA. The application part of the card is separated at the VA and the return acknowledgment portion mailed back to the veteran in order to let him know his application has been received, Fidler explained.

Students Picnic At Warrensburg

The Pettis County Club, composed of students enrolled in the summer session at Central Missouri State College, entertained with a picnic at Shepard Park in Warrensburg on Thursday evening, attended by 24 persons. This activity culminated the several meetings which the group had held earlier during the summer. The committee in charge of the picnic was as follows: Misses Dora Benz, Dresden; Norma Jean Leicher, Hughesville, and Virginia O'Neill, Beaman. They were assisted by the officers of the county group, Mrs. Donald Donath, president; Miss Margaret Jo Cranfill, vice president, and Mrs. Cecil Peoples, secretary. Prof. Courtney Aldrich is faculty sponsor of the Pettis County Club.

Attending the picnic as special guests were Mrs. C. F. Scotten and daughter Judy, Mrs. Will Embrey, and Miss Marjorie Rector, all of Sedalia.

Following the picnic several of the group attended the concert of the college orchestra and chorus held at 8:00 p. m. in Hendricks Hall.

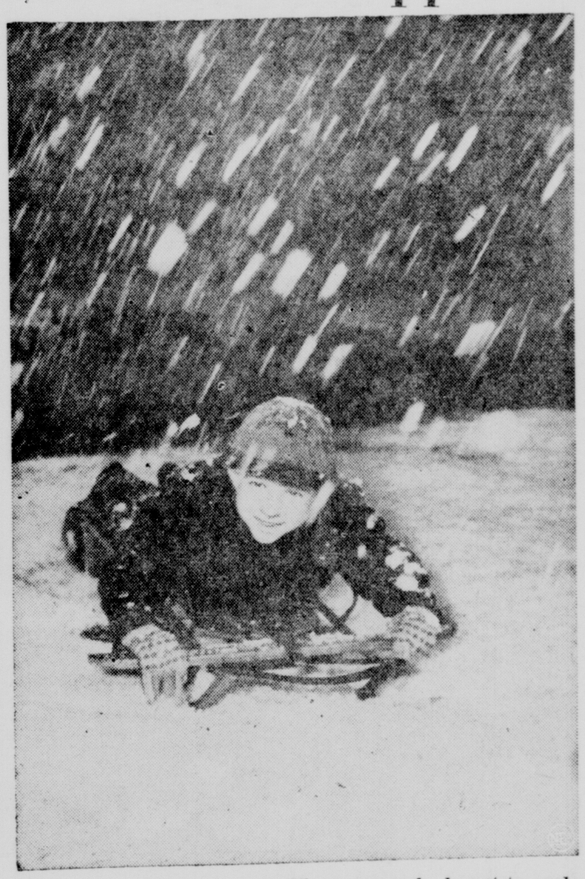
Look What Happened!



—It's snow—real, honest-to-goodness snow—falling in Cleveland, O., on July 28, with the temperature at 93. And it didn't take Jackie Steiner, 7, more than a minute to grab a sled and his ear-flap cap and go sledding in the stuff. Now if you're skeptical and don't believe this snow-in-July story, look below. (NEA Photo)

Bell Hearing Is Recessed Until Tuesday

2 More Witnesses, Then Opponents Will Prepare Their Case

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 30 —(AP)—Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's effort to get $5,000,000 more a year on its Missouri rates recessed Friday until Tuesday.

When the state Public Service Commission resumes the hearing then, the company plans to present two more witnesses to complete its case. After that cities fighting the rate increase want two months to prepare their case.

Next week's witnesses will be H. M. Duphorne, Bell's inventory and costs engineer, and L. D. Leverington, general rate engineer.

Leverington will present the detailed schedules of the requested ocal and long distance rates. Duphorne will testify about the cost of the "telephone plant in service"—the lines and equipment now in use.

Company's Evidence Unnecessary

In a little byplay today, Commission Chairman Morris Osburn indicated some of the company's evidence was not necessary.

He broke into an argument between opposing attorneys to comment, "as far as I'm concerned, the Commission is going to pay very little attention to reproduction new."

"Reproduction new" is one of the theories of valuing a utility's property.

Today was the fifth day in the second round rate increase case.

It was punctuated by Bell delivering a check for $1,800,000 to Cole county circuit court here. That represents a $300,000 monthly payment for the last six months to cover the costs of refunds if the Bell company loses an earlier $3,400,000 rate increase granted by the PSC.

It is now being appealed to the state supreme court. The company posted a $3,500,000 appeal bond yesterday. The $300,000 monthly impoundment payments will continue until the appeal is decided.

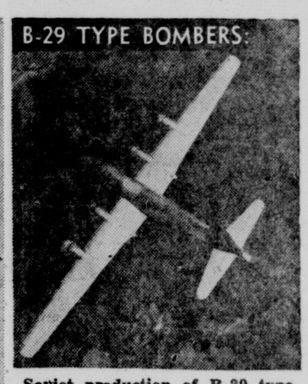
Is There Another War Scare Around the Corner

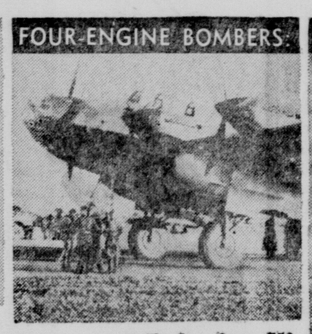
Latest figures indicate Russia and her satellites have 6,000,000 men under arms. U. S. officials say Russia alone has 170 combat divisions, her satellites 90 more.

Aviation experts estimate Soviet Union has between 12,000 and 15,000 operative war planes.

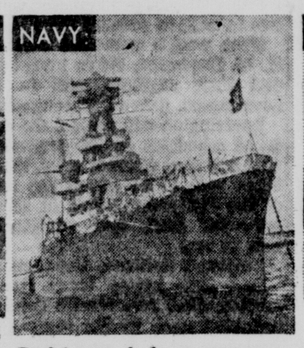


Soviet production of B-29 type bomber has reached 75 to 100 per month, says European expert. U. S. authorities believe this is too high.

Foreign reports estimate Russia can put more than 1000 jet fighters into air at once. U. S. thinks figure is low.



Russia reportedly has from 750 to 1000 four-engine bombers. U. S. officials are skeptical.



Soviet navy is in no way comparable with that of the U. S.

Kremlin has powerful submarine fleet—bigger and better than that with which Hitler entered war. Strength estimated up to 300.

Will the cold war become warmer? That's a question which is confusing diplomats, government officials and Americans generally. In a major foreign policy address in Chicago, President Truman said the Russian threat was waning. Six days later, in support of his arms-for-Europe program, he told Congress the "massed might of the Soviet Union" was suc hthat it might again resort to the threat or use of force. Then the administration announced it would lay before Congress "secret intelligence reports" indicating Russia is arming for war. This newschart gives the latest estimates available on Soviet military power.

Royal Yacht Hit By Floating Mine

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 29.—(AP)—Copenhagen newspapers reported today a floating mine nearly hit the Danish royal yacht carrying King Frederick and Queen Ingrid.

The papers said the crew of the royal yacht, the "Dannebrog," sighted the mine in the Atlantic floating directly in their path. Crewmen exploded the mine, identified as a derelict left over from World War I, with rifle fire.

The royal couple, returning from a visit to the Faroe Islands, were asleep at the time.

Nylon Serves Summer Sports

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The fabric that's fast winning all-American fashion honors emerges now as champ in the field of summer sportswear.

That's nylon. It makes "taffeta" shorts, slip-ons and cardigans of "jersey," styled like those shown above, which dry quickly and can by-pass the ironing board on trips from and to the tennis court, golf links or beach.

Nylon taffeta shorts in black and other dark colors are smartly styled with cuffed legs.

Sleeveless nylon jersey slip-ons in white and black and pastel colors have deep armholes designed for coolness and freedom of movement.

Long-sleeved cardigans of nylon jersey color-matched to slip-ons, button up all the way to little collars.—By EPSIE KINARD, NEA Fashion Editor.

A Severe Storm Strikes Boonville

BOONVILLE, Mo., July 30—(AP)—A severe electrical storm that dumped nearly an inch of rain here in a 25-minute period Friday cut the city's electrical power and damaged its water plant.

About half of the city was without power for two hours. Power was not restored to the other half until 5 p. m.—more than four hours after the current was cut.

The 25-minute downpour netted .91-inch and another rainfall started later.

Lightning struck the filter plant at the city water department, but the water supply was not believed to have been affected. Trees and telephone poles were downed by streaks of lightning.

'Baby Face' Burke Is Paroled

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 30—(AP)—"Baby Face" Mike Burke, who, as a youth, confessed the slaying of two men and terrorized this community, will be released from the Missouri state penitentiary next Tuesday.

He will have served nearly 18 years of a life sentence for murder.

In 1931, Burke, then 17 years old, was tried for the slaying of John Fisher, superintendent of Armour and company, in a holdup, and was acquitted on grounds of insanity. After serving for several months in a state hospital, he was released as sane.

After his release he was charged with the fatal shooting of John Brown, former constable, in a holdup. He had confessed the Brown slaying at the time he admitted the Fisher killing, and pleaded guilty to a charge of murder. He was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the Brown shooting.

Burke's escapades created tension throughout this area. He admitted more than 100 burglaries. His accomplishments included the hold up of a car's occupants as he rode alongside on a bicycle flashing a gun.

He was caught in the act of burglarizing the home of Emmett J. Crouse, then a state Senator and now a circuit judge.

When Burke's burglary confession was being obtained, a bill was pending in the state legislature to increase the St. Joseph police force to cope with crime spree here.

Col. Marvin B. Casteel, director of the state department of correction, said Burke plans to go to Iowa after his release to become employed in the floor sanding business.

Jewelry Cache In Rooming House

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30—(AP)—Oklahoma City police Friday reported finding thousands of dollars worth of jewelry in a rooming house following the arrest of two robbery suspects.

Police Inspector Roy Bergman said one of the men told officers most of it was taken in the burglary of a Salt Lake City, Utah, pawnshop two weeks ago.

Bergman said the pair was arrested at a downtown hotel after police received information they had a large amount of jewelry in their possession. Both denied knowledge of the jewelry, but it was found in a rooming house after police received another tip.

About a dozen Oklahoma City pawnshop tickets were found in the pockets of one of the men. He said he pawned several watches and rings here and also two movie cameras in Denver.

The found jewelry includes 105 diamond and gold rings, and 33 watches. Four pistols also were found in the rooming house.

Bergman said both men have prison records, one for burglary and the other for car theft. One gave his home as St. Louis, the other said he lived in Seattle, Wash.

Bergman said the pair also will be held for questioning in a series of two-man holdups here in the past two weeks.

A 240-Pound White Marlin

Two visitors in Sedalia the past week brought a "fish story" to the Democrat-Capital office that they were really prepared to prove. They not only had the above picture of themselves with the fish, but also had an official certificate in recognition of their catch.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tiede, of Las Vegas, Nev., were the lucky fishermen. They arrived in Sedalia on Wednesday, July 20, for a visit with Mrs. Tiede's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMackin, of the Milner hotel, and left last Thursday.

Mrs. Tiede told of their vacation into Old Mexico a few weeks ago, where they make frequent fishing and vacation trips. They stayed at Acapulco, Mexico, a city on the Pacific Ocean far down on the Mexican shore.

It was on a trolling trip from this city that they caught the fish pictured above—a white marlin weighing 240 pounds, and measuring 9½ feet long. The marlin is a member of the swordfish family. The fish was caught July 15.

Troll Fishing

Mr. Tiede landed the fish along from the back of a small trolling vessel, in the ordinary manner of troll fishing. The bait used is a fish about eight inches long, with the hook sewed securely inside. The fisherman is bound just as securely to his chair in the back of the boat, because of the large and powerful fish that are sometimes hooked.

Mr. Tiede had the first strike about 12:15 o'clock, and an hour later the fish was ready to be taken into the boat. Three men assisted in getting it into the vessel, since the fish must be killed by harpooning because of its mean disposition and deadly "sword" snout.

The fish was then brought into the harbor at Acapulco, and the picture was taken under the sign of the Hotel Club de Pesca, where the Tiedes were staying on the trip.

Certificate Presented

The following certificate was presented to them in recognition of the catch. It is a large yellow diploma-type document, embellished with various nautical signs and pictures, and has a large picture of a swordfish in the center. It read as follows:

"Club de Pesca de Acapulco, A. C.

"This is to certify that Mr. Larry Tiede of Las Vegas, Nev., caught a sailfish measuring nine (9) feet (6) six inches long and weighing 109 kilos—240 pounds.

"This catch has been duly recorded in the Fishermen's Union Official Sailfish Ledger.

"Acapulco, Mexico. 9th July, 1949."

CHICAGO, July 30 — (AP) — From last place came the pounding hoofs of Calumet farm's Ponder today to gallop to a rousing victory in the $87,750 Arlington classic ending Arlington Park's highly successful 36-day meeting.

Seemingly hopelessly last at the half-mile post, sixteen lengths behind, the plodding Ponder charged on to take the lead at the stretch turn in the mile and a quarter race. He flashed under the wire three lengths ahead of Admiral Lea, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, Chicago. It was the same margin by which Ponder defeated Capot in the Kentucky Derby.

Capot Is Fifth

In third place, two lengths back of Admiral Lea, came Isidor Bieber's Palestinian, which finished in the same spot in the Derby. Saint Nicholas, Brown Hotel stable entry, was fourth, six lengths behind Palestinian. Green Tree stable's Capot was fifth. John's Joy, owned by J. A. Kinard, Jr., was sixth and last.

Ponder's victory was cheeringly acclaimed by 32,047 spectators, largest crowd of the Chicago season. The colt went to the post 6-5 favorite and returned $4.40, $2.80, and $2.20. The race was almost a duplicate of his victory in the Kentucky Derby. His time was 2:03 1/5.

Bound Over to Higher Court

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. July 30—(AP)—George O. Wells, Jr., 26, of St. Joseph, Mo., today was bound over to district court on a first degree murder charge in the death of a circus performer.

The action came at the conclusion of a three-hour preliminary hearing in county court. Bond was set at $3,500.

Wells, a former dredge deck hand here, is charged with slaying Jesse Charles Dillard, who did a female impersonation act with the Rogers Brothers circus.

Dillard's body was found July 14 in an empty box car near the city dock. He had been beaten.

Wells did not testify in his own behalf. The principal testimony for the state was given by Sheriff Carl Ryder who said Wells admitted being in the box car with Dillard and striking him.

Dillard used the name "Jack Lopez" in his circus appearances. The FBI established his real name by fingerprint comparisons. Dillard at one time was a clerk-typist at the Veterans Administration hospital in Nashville, Tenn.

Democrats May Have Trouble Over Meeting

If Committee Is Called To Choose A New Chairman

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Democratic leaders Friday faced the cheerless prospect of opening 1948 party wounds if a National Committee meeting has to be called to choose a new chairman.

The present chairman, Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, has been offered the attorney generalship by President Truman. He has not yet accepted.

A Worrying Question

The question worrying party leaders is:

Should an official call be addressed to the still legal members of the committee who opposed Mr. Truman in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina last year, or to pro-Truman forces organized in those states since, but not yet officially ratified by the national group?

"It's a question, but we will meet it when it arises," said one official at party headquarters.

There is a possibility that both groups would be invited to force a showdown on whether to replace members who supported the States Rights presidential ticket.

Look To 1950 Elections

Meanwhile, President Truman and the Republican National committee took a long look toward the 1950 congressional elections. Mr. Truman was quoted by a visitor as desiring the election of a "forward looking Congress."

Republicans announced plans for a "kickoff" dinner for 1950 here next Thursday night after election of a new chairman of the GOP National Committee.

Senator Brewster of Maine and Rep. Hall of New York, heads of the Senate and House GOP campaign committees, said the dinner would be in honor of the party's national committee.

The committee has been called to meet here earlier in the day to elect a chairman to succeed the retiring Rep. Scott of Pennsylvania. Walter S. Hallanan, National committeeman for West Virginia, told a reporter today he believed no informal agreement on a successor would be reached before the meeting.

Style Guide

for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

A fur trim coat works magic on the wardrobe for the new fall season. This type coat has been scarce for the last few seasons and now the selection is wide. There is nothing more feminine than a large fluffy fox collar and especially white fox—particularly striking on pastel fabrics. Grey fox is better on the dark fabrics. Squirrel in either grey or brown is being used for small collars, or to edge an odd-shaped one. A diamond-shaped collar fashioned from squirrel is especially attractive. Flat furs such as mouton, persian lamb and bombay lamb are smart on green, wine, black or grey—muskrat is good on brown, grey or the new neutral shade called "Dasha." Most of the fur-trims have loose backs with smart tailoring of yokes and gores.

Good accessories properly selected bring out the quality of a fur-trim coat. The furs that I have mentioned are popular priced and they will fit the average budget. It is well to select your fur-trim coat early to get top furs and workmanship—then too, you can build your wardrobe around it so you will always be appropriately dressed.

Red Cross Corner

Miss Nina Larkin, Nursing Consultant for Missouri from Area office in St. Louis, was in the office of the Pettis County Chapter of the American Red Cross Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Larkin has just returned from 55 days of disaster service at Cape Girardeau, and while she was here she talked with many persons concerning the Chapter's disaster plan. She said this was the ninth tornado disaster that she had helped in rehabilitation and that no two were alike. Our plan covered a disaster as near as preliminary planning could do, she said.

The Board of Directors of the Pettis County Chapter met Thursday with Philip M. McLaughlin presiding. Miss Margaret Egan gave a report on the Junior Red Cross Work Shop that she had attended at Pittsburg, Kas. There will be a Junior conference at Warrensburg in September and Miss Egan hopes to take a group from Pettis county. Mrs. Henry Menefee and Mrs. Eula R. Spencer told the board about their experiences at the American Red Cross convention at Atlantic City the last of June. Mrs. Menefee said that she felt very proud of this Chapter as she talked to persons from all over the country and realized that the local organization was so nearly up to date in interpreting the program to the county. Mrs. Spencer felt that the convention was an inspiration to all who attended and would help everyone to do a better job.

Card Try-Out Camp Soon

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (Special) July 30—Joe Mathes, director of the famous St. Louis Cardinal farm system, has announced that the large annual Red Bird try-out camp will be held at Sportsman's park here August 10, 11, 12, and 13.

All boys 17 to 23 years of age who would like the opportunity to have their playing abilities appraised by major league scouts are invited to turn out for the drills, which will start at 9 a. m. daily. Since the Cardinals do not supply such equipment as baseball shoes, gloves, or uniforms for their trial camps, those planning to attend are asked to bring their own. The Cardinals will pay all expenses incident to attending the camp for any players signing contracts.

Successful System

Mathes can point with pride this year to the success of the Cardinal farm clubs and their ability to produce. Of the 25 men now on the Red Bird "varsity," 23 are products of the Cardinal system. And as of July 19, 18 of its 21 clubs were in the first division of their respective leagues. Records of that type are unusual for such a large organization, and serve as some indication of the type training offered players in the Cardinal system.

Supervising activities here will be Red Bird scouts George H. Sisler, Jr., Joe Monahan, W. H. "Buddy" Lewis, George Silvey, and C. A. "Runt" Marr. All five men are veteran players and scouts, fully qualified to pass judgment on the players who will pass before them during the workouts.

All boys attending the camp will have an opportunity to participate in regular drills of fielding and throwing, and games between teams made up of the players at the camp.

It Pays to Marry

Smithton Hornets Play Tipton Today

The Smithton Hornets will tangle with the strong Tipton ball club this afternoon at the Smithton park, with game time scheduled at 2:15 o'clock.

Either Donath or Johnson will be on the mound for Smithton. Both have had good records this year, as has the entire ball club.

Other probable starters for the Hornets will be Thomas, left field; Demand, first base; Landes, right field; Phillips, third base; Lamm, center field; Estes, short stop; Brown, catch; and Fairfax, second base.

A tight game is predicted, since the Tipton team also has had a good season.

Yanks' Lead To 3 1-2 Games After 9-2 Loss

As Indians Outslug Red Sox 10-6 In 10-Inning Thriller

By Ralph Roden

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP)—Casey Stengel's 59th birthday was anything but happy today as his New York Yankees took a 9-2 trouncing from the Chicago White Sox.

The Sox not only ripped Casey's ace, Vic Raschi, to shreds but they also cut the Yanks' American League lead over the Cleveland Indians to three and a half games. The Indians outslugged the Boston Red Sox, 10-6 in ten innings at Boston.

Chicago White Sox manager Jack Onslow, an old foe of Stengel's, shook up his lineup and the revamped batting order came through. Don Wheeler belted in five runs on a triple, double and single. Floyd Baker delivered three on a single, two walks and a fly out. Charley Kress pounded out three hits and scored four runs.

Bill Wight, a former Yank, started and received credit for his tenth victory. Wight is the first Chicago pitcher to win ten games since 1947. Ed Klieman, also an ex-Yankee, relieved Wight in the sixth and blanked the Yanks over the last four heats.

Four Runs in Tenth

The Indians pounced on Mel Parnell for four runs in the tenth with Ike Boone featuring the rally with a two-run homer. Boone got into the game in the eighth inning during a four-run Red Sox rally that tied the count at 6-6. Boone replaced Manager Lou Boudreau who was thumbed out during an argument. Mickey Vernon poled his 13th homer for the Indians in the sixth.

Dom DiMaggio of the Sox collected one hit in six trips to extend his consecutive batting streak to 26 games.

Tigers Trounce A's 11-0

Virgil Trucks pitched the Detroit Tigers to a five-hit 11-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Neil Berry with four hits, and Don Kolloway and Aaron Robinson with three each paced the Tigers' 19-hit bombardment of a trio of Athletic pitchers. Pat Mullin's triple during a six-run ninth-inning drive, was the Tigers' lone extra base hit of the game. The triumph was Trucks' 13th of the season.

Browns 11, Senators 9

The St. Louis Browns exploded for four runs in the eighth inning and went on to clip the Washington Senators, 11-9. Roy Sievers drove home three runs on a trio of safeties and Paul Lehner four on two blows to spark the Brownie drive. Joe Ostrowski, second of four St. Louis pitchers, was the winner and starter Paul Calvert the loser.

Phillies Win Two

The Philadelphia Phillies snapped their fourth place National League tie with the New York Giants, beating the Chicago Cubs twice as the Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds, 8-7, in ten innings.

Philadelphia took the opener, 4-3, and the nightcap, 9-1.

Russ Meyer checked his former Cub mates on five hits in posting his eighth triumph in the first game. One of the blows was Hank Sauer's 20th homer with a man on in the first inning.

The Phils broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh against Doyle Lade on singles by Dick Sisler, Bill Nicholson and Willie Jones. Nicholson had homered in the third to give the Phils a 3-2 lead.

Robin Roberts scattered eight hits in gaining his tenth triumph in the second game. The Phils sewed up the game in the fifth with a four-run rally against Johnny Schmitz and added four more in the ninth against Emil Kush.

Giants Win in Tenth

The Giants won out in the tenth when with two out Hank Thompson singled and Whitey Lockman tripled. The Giants overcame a 6-3 deficit with a four-run blast in the sixth inning that Sid Gordon featured with a three-run homer, his 21st of the season. The Reds sent the game into overtime with a run in the eighth.

A scheduled game between the Boston Braves and the Pirates in Pittsburgh was rained out.

An 80-Year-Old Card Fan Dies Of Heart Attack

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(AP)—An 80-year-old St. Louis fan, Anthony E. Fechter, suffered a fatal heart attack tonight during the Cardinal-Brooklyn Dodger game at Sportsman's Park. He was stricken about an hour after the game started while sitting in the bleachers with his daughter and friends.

Conservation Commission Explains Rules

Question Of How They Are Made Is Answered

The Missouri Conservation Commission has had numerous requests in past months on "How are the rules and regulations of the commission formulated?" The following story regarding this question has been compiled by the commission and is being told by its various conservation agents, and passed on to those of Central Missouri by agent William H. Stuesse.

Generally speakng, all the regulations in Missouri's Wildlife Cofe have three original sources: the public, the wildlife technicians and the enforcement personnel. These groups send in their ideas to the commission itself, which considers them, determines if immediate action is required and, if not, passes them on to a regulations committee for detailed study. The committee briefs and tabulates them, proceeds with any field or other investigations or hearings, gathers relevant data and information and finally prepares a recommendation which is submitted to Director I. T. Bode, who submits it to the commission for final action. At this time the tabulated summary of all ideas that have come in again goes before the commission so they may receive all suggestions regardless of the recommendations of the regulations committee.

An Example

To make it more simple, let's take an example. Suppose a sportsmen's club in Pettis county wants a change in fishing regulations and writes to the director. He submits their letter to the commission. The commission determines whether immediate action is required. If not, the matter is referred to the regulations committee of Assistant Director Jay Morrow, Fish and Game Chief Mel Steen and Field Chief Vernon Bennett. In this case, the committee calls in Dr. G. B. Herndon, chief of fisheries, to advise with them on the matter. If Doc has already talked to his field boys about conditions and no further studies or hearings are required, he analyzes the suggestion and makes his recommendations.

Then Vernon, or Red Bailey of the Protection Section, considers it from the enforcement angle; finally, the proposed change is mulled over from the public relations viewpoint. If further field study or hearings are indicated, these are then carried out.

If everything clears and the change is agreed upon, the revision is sent back to Director Bode, considered by the four commissioners—usually at the August meeting—and there given tentative approval, a final form is drafted by the commission's legal counsel, Lon Haymes, of Springfield, and brought up before the commissioners again at the September meeting, which is the time final changes are approved for the Code for the ensuing year.

Emergency Measure

If approved again, the measure then goes to the secretary of state for filing in accordance with law and is ordered printed in the Wildlife Code for 1950. In an emergency, a new regulation can be made legal in ten days but no one likes to do that; even with our fine newspaper cooperation, it's hard to get people acquainted with the change.

That's how suggestions from the public are handled but, of course, not all suggestions come from the public. Many of them are based upon the recommendations of biologists and zoologists, the technicians who make a career of studying our fish and game. These men will ask for regulations that are needed for good "management" of a species. For instance, if their studies show the population of bullfrogs is down, they'll ask for a lower bag limit or a shorter season. But their requests are treated exactly like those sent in by the public.

The field men send in a lot of recommendations, too, based upon their own experiences on the streams, lakes and hunting grounds.

All Suggestions Noted

Every suggestion gets attention, despite the large number coming in all the time. Each of them is noted by the commission, referred to the regulations committee and, condensed and grouped, again presented to the commissioners.

Public hearings are held over the state, too. Commission personnel have been sitting in on sessions with gigging associations since early spring, trying to work out a solution to that knotty problem. The commissioners hold at least half of their monthly meetings at points outside Jefferson City and hear a lot of delegations. Right now, hearings are going on with coon hunters associations, fox hunters and other groups.

But in the end, all proposed revisions or new regulations must meet one final test: Is it good game or fish management; is it for the greatest good of the greatest number of people.

Sport Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

IT appears, from rumors, the Sedalia Blues, Pettis County Post No. 16, Jr. American Legion baseball team, and the Sedalia Chiefs of Central Missouri Ban Johnson league, will have to carry the 1949 baseball season to completion. The Sedalia Athletics, it is reported, have turned in their uniforms and called it a year.

The Sedalia Athletic Association at the first of the season had an excellent idea on sponsoring sports. Various difficulties occurred during the season, and especially the lack of fan support disheartened not only the organization but the players. The club was, and is, entitled to far better financial support of local fans than it received, and if they should fold up now, maybe a better start can be made in 1950.

But Sedalians can still see some mighty fine baseball played at home. The Blues have been playing some hot teams this year and their record is far, far above the average. The Chiefs didn't do so well in winning the first half of the season, but the second half is producing a championship team. Certainly The Junior Legion has been turning in some excellent baseball and their games, as far as Sedalia's playing, have been worthwhile.

To put baseball teams on the field costs money—not chicken feed—but good old hard cash. Hench if Sedalia expects to carry on in baseball, then paying fan attendance is necessary.

BASEBALLS are rather costly these days. It seems the youngsters, hungry for baseball, are at it again—snitching a foul ball knocked over the fence, and then running. I am sure the parents of these boys don't approve of such action and if they knew where the ball their son is playing with came from—Papa would make him take it back.

The police patrol is being pressed into service again to try and stop such practices. We hope the boys stop of their own accord and not because a police officer is necessary to keep them honest.

IT is reported new lights are to be purchased for the Liberty Park baseball diamond, and the old ones will be placed at other parks, the Southeast Sedalia park especially, to give Sedalia a lighted softball park. This is something which is badly needed, as Sedalia has no such lighted park and there are several strong teams of this sport desiring to play night ball in Sedalia.

The Sedalia park board plans other improvements not only for Liberty park, but for Housel park in Northeast Sedalia. and Hubbard park in North Sedalia. The park system is excellent in Sedalia and should be maintained constantly.

Athletics And Blues Tied In Boys League

A's Defeat Blues 12-11 In 12-Inning Game On Monday

The Boys League, sponsored by the Northeast Athletic association, had one of its best games of the season, when the Athletics defeated the Blues 12 to 11 in 12 innings, Monday afternoon. The two teams were tied for the league lead at the end of the week, with 12 wins and two losses each.

Trent was the winner in the overtime affair, while Wall was charged with the loss. Wall homered for the Blues in the ninth to send the game into extra innings, but his error allowed the winning run to score in the twelfth frame.

Wednesday, the Flyers overpowered the First Baptist team, 19 to 1, with Murphy hurling for the winners and Mines for the losers.

Friday, the Athletics took a good contest from the Flyers, 5 to 2, with Fall pitching for the winners and Kays for the losers. Alcorn homered for the Flyers in that game.

Chiefs To Play Mexico Today

The Sedalia Chiefs will leave Cal Rodgers' station at 9:30 o'clock this morning to journey to Mexico for a league game with the Ban Johnson club of that city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Chiefs saved their ace hurler, Joe Imhauser, to pitch the Mexico contest, which will be a big feature game as the last of the year in that city.

Saturday night, the Chiefs downed the LaPatina B-J aggregation of Kansas City, 7 to 3, in an exhibition contest that went only seven innings because of a failure of the ball diamond lights. Gene May went all the way on the hill for Sedalia, with Phillip White and Carl Barbour doing the receiving.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. July 30—(AP)—The Patton Creamery team of Springfield downed Marshall, 4-3, here tonight in the Missouri semi-pro baseball tournament.

Former Kemper Coach To MVC At Marshall

MARSHALL, Mo., July 30—(AP)—Dale Skelton, for 10 years Coach at Kemper Military Academy at Boonville, has become assistant coach at the Missouri Valley College.

Dr. J. Frederick Doering, interim chief administrator, said Skelton will become line coach for the football team, head basketball coach and will assist in track. He succeeds Warren Harris, who will become coach at the Edwardsville, Ill., high schoo

The new assistant coach coached in high schools in Kansas, including Chanute, for a number of years before going to Kemper.

Snead Now Leads Western Open

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 30—(AP)—Sam Snead caught and passed the leaders in the third round of the Western Open Golf tournament today, firing a seven-under-par 65 in today's round for a 54-hole total of 201.

That figure put the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro one stroke ahead of Chick Harbet of Detroit, who wound up today with a 68, and a 202 total for 54 holes.

Lloyd Mangrum, who had been tied with Harbert for the lead at the start of today's play, had some tough luck on the 16th hole when his drive went into a trap, and turned in a 69 for 203 and third place.

Snead lost no time in starting his drive to overtake the leaders. He cut one stroke off par on the first hole, taking a three, and from then on never went over regulation figures. He was one under on four more holes of the first nine to make the turn with a 31, five under par.

Cards' Lead To 2 1-2 Games After 7-6 Win

Ninth Consecutive Win Comes After Two Runs In 8th

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals extended their first-place margin over Brooklyn to two and one-half games tonight by defeating the Dodgers 7-6 in a spine-tingling thriller, with catcher Joe Garagiola doubling in Glenn Nelson with the winning run in the eighth.

Enos Slaughter drove in Stan Musial with the tying run in the same inning. Musial had drawn a bases on balls.

The contest was witnessed by a sellout crowd of 31,614, who were on their feet most of the time as the high-flying Cardinals won their ninth straight gae, not counting two tie contests with Brooklyn this week.

The clubs will close their crucial series with an afternoon game tomorrow.

Dodgers Ahead in 7th

A four-run uprising in the seventh sparked by Jackie Robinson's two-run single to right put the Dodgers ahead 6-5. Pitchers Max Lanier and Ted Wilks were blasted out in the big inning.

Single by Tommy Brown, Bruce Edwards, and pinch hitter Roy Campanella and a base on balls accounted for two runs and sent Lanier to the showers. Robinson drove in the two scores with his single to right after Peewee Reese beat out a bunt for a hit. A force play at the plate and an outfield fly had left the bases loaded.

Red Munger came in and forced Gil Hodges to hit into a force play ending the inning.

Al Brazle is Winner

Al Brazle, the fourth Cardinal pitcher, was the winner.

The Redbirds forged into the lead 5-2 and kayoed Lefty Joe Hatten in the third. Hatten got the first two men out but Chuck Diering started things going with a triple to deep right center, scoring Lanier who had walked. Red Schoendienst singled home Diering and, after Musial walked, scored on a single by Nippy Jones. Hatten was relieved by Jack Banta after walking Enos Slaughter, and was greeted with a two-run single by Marty Marion.

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the third on three singles and an error. The inning started with successive singles by Brown, Edwards and Joe Hatten. Hattens' blow drove in Brown. After catcher Del Rice fumbled Peewee Reese's sacrifice bunt and Edwards was forced at the plate Carl Furillo hit into a force play, Hatten scoring.

Erv Palica, the last of four Dodgers who paraded to the mound, was the losing pitcher.

Diering Stars in Field

Diering brought roars from the crowd with several spectacular fielding plays. At the start of the ninth he sprinted far into left center for a great catch of Campanella's terrific drive. He made a shoestring catch that robbed Carl Furillo of a hit in the first.

Garagiola, a hero in his home town of St. Louis tonight, had been sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, and smacked his game-winning double to the right field screen as a pinch hitter. A pinch runner was sent in for him.

Presley Askew Succeeds Coach Lambert At Arkansas U.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 30—(AP)—A thorough "student of the game" with an impressive small high school coaching record was appointed head baseketball mentor at the University of Arkansas today.

He is Presley Askew, 38, who last season was an assistant to the man he succeeds, Dr. Eugene Lambert.

Lambert announced yesterday that he had resigned, after guilding Razorback Cage fortunes for seven years, to enter private business.

Broadmoor Tourney Into Finals Today

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 30—(AP)— Portly Jack Munger of Dallas and Claude Wright of Denver today earned the right to meet tomorrow in the final of the Broadmoor Invitational Golf tourney.

Munger gained the final with a two-up win over favored Matt Palacio of Wichita, Kas., two-time winner of the title.

Wright moved into the showdown bracket with a two and one upset victory over Fred Newton, fellow Denverite, who won the Broadmoor title in 1946.

Munger's win was the bigger of the two surprises as it halted a steadily good golfer who earlier ousted Dee Replogle of Oklahoma City, tourney medalist, in Thursday's round.

Blues Meet Raymore, Mo. At Housel Park

Sedalia Seeks 11th Victory; Visitors Have 17-2 Record

The Sedalia Blues will meet the Raymore nine this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Housel park.

The town of Raymore is located on Highway 71, between Harrisonville and Kansas City. According to reports, the club has a record of 17 wins against two defeats. The team has beaten teams such as Kansas City, Kas., Pratt, Kas., and teams of Kansas City.

The Blues will be shooting for their eleventh home victory today. The Blues have been hitting an average of .294, with the following hitting over the .300 mark: Slocum, Barnes, Barr, C. Poynter, Evans, and Sullivan.

Manager Reynolds of Raymore said he will use the following line-up today: King ss, J. Reynolds cf, Lane 1b, Jackson 3b, L. Reynolds lf, N. Suddath rf, Thomas 2b, L. Suddath c, and either Reevoldt or Bradford doing the pitching.

Blues Lineup

The Blues' line-up will be: Slocum ss, Sullivan rf, Barr 3b, Evans lf, C. Poynter 1b, Walls or Scott 2b, Barnes cf or C. Weller cf, Don Weller c, with either Turchek or Bob Rapp on the mound.

Wire has recently been placed along the first and third base lines so cars can park without danger of breaking glass in the windows.

Today will be the first time Raymore team has ever played in Sedalia, and with the two clubs' past records, this should be a rough contest.

Waitkus May Not Play This Year

PHILADELPHIA, July 30—(AP)—A thin, drawn Eddie Waitkus is asking himself this question these days:

"How good will I be after my bullet wound heals?"

The popular first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies would like to play ball again this year if only for a few games. He wants to prove to his own satisfaction that the bullet wound inflicted by a love-crazed girl in a Chicago hotel room hasn't dulled his ability as the best fielding first baseman in the National League.

But there appears only a slim chance that Eddie will play again in 1949.

He still has a drain in his back and visits the doctor several times a week for treatments. While his appetite has improved vastly, Waitkus hasn't gained much weight back. It looks like a slow, tedious trip back for the 28-year-old star.

The Phillies are counting heavily on Waitkus in their 1950 pennant plans. Club officials don't expect Eddie to play this year.

A spokesman said the Phils will be gratified if Eddie recovers sufficiently to make the final western trip with the club merely as a spectator and morale builder for the team's youngsters.

The spokesman explained it is in the morale departn ent that the Phillies sorely miss Waitkus.

Sedalia Wins Central Mo. Softball Title

N. Thompson Pitches Merchants To 3-2 Victory Friday.

Norman Thompson, Sedalias' big right hander, pitched the Merchants into the Central Missouri Softball league championship, by beating Baker, Sweet Springs' ace pitcher, in a pitchers' duel Friday night by a score of 3 to 2.

Thompson allowed three hits, while his teammates were collecting four off the offerings of Baker, one of Central Missouri's leading pitchers.

Sedalia scored their three runs in the second inning on hits by Thompson, Paul Evans, a walk to Whittle and a hit by Klink.

Sweet Springs scored one in the fourth inning on two walks and a hit. Their second tally was a home run in the fifth by Mautz.

Thompson now has a season record of 13 wins and two losses, to put him among the best of Central Missouri softball hurlers. He pitched a no-hit, no-run game earlier in the season against Carrollton.

Play Tonight at Marshall

The Merchants still have one remaining game in the league with Marshall, to be played tonight. They are out to avenge the only defeat they suffered in the league play. Their league record is 8 wins and 1 loss, and their season record is now 18 wins against three losses.

The Merchants have entered the state district tournament to be played at Marshall the week of August 14. This is the third straight year that the Merchants have won the championship of the league. The team formerly played under the banner of the Sacred Heart Redbirds.

Sedalians have not had a chance to see the Merchants in action at home this season. The cost of burning the lights at the big diamond at Liberty Park prohibits any softball games to be played here, so the team has played all games away from home.

Outstanding Players

Much credit must go to Johnnie Swisher, who has filled in as a player on all positions on the team. The Merchants have such players as the veteran Omar Simon, catcher, Rocky Carver, third baseman, Junior Reams, first baseman, Charles Finnell, shortstop, Leo Richards, Lester Whittle, Paul Evans, Kenneth Tucker and J. J. Paxton, fielders. Frank Lueck, veteran second baseman, was lost to the team early in the season when he accidently lost a finger on his right hand while at work. Lueck has been assistant manager and coach since the accident.

Newcomers that have strengthened the team are Bud Michaelis, infielder, Bud Klink, infielder and pitcher, Mickey McNeal, and Jess Tuggle, infielder. The team is managed by Virgil Hogan.

The Merchants carry a team batting average of .293 into the State tournament. All players are to leave from 410 Wilkerson at 6:30 o'clock for the Marshall game.

Rifle Club Throws Rocks

HAMBURG, Germany —(AP)— Use of firearms by Germans except police is still banned by the military government so a Ruhr Rifle Club had a problem when the time came for their annual shooting match. The traditional bird-shaped target has been set up in a tree.

The marksman finally knocked it down by throwing stones. "Hope military government won't think we are practicing grenade throwing and prohibit this too," commented one member.

'Vest-Pocket' Kitchen Unit Designed From Back Stairwell And Hall Landing

By Hugh Evans
Written for NEA Service

The "vest pocket" kitchen, miniature but complete, stationary but removable, which can be built into a shallow closet, window alcove or even a stairwell is the householder's ace in the hole today for turning rooms with no cooking facilities into a real home.

This problem of what to do about a kitchen can be solved by families whose search for homes wind up with rented cellars, one-room accommodations, or the upper stories of houses unequipped for cooking.

Proof that a vest pocket kitchen can be put in almost anywhere that provides enough space for cooking, dishwashing and refrigeration — even over a partially closed stairwell — is the H. V. Kaltenborn project which my brother Bill and I installed for this New York radio news commentator.

In this case, the need was for an easy-access upstairs "snack" kitchen which in our client's home was installed over the stairwell to supplement a full sized downstairs kitchen.

What was done here to convert a narrow hall, made narrower by a stairwell, into a "vest pocket" kitchen can be duplicated in kind by any householder whose crying need is for small-scaled, efficient cooking facilities.

In the Kaltenborn home, we made room for one small steel cabinet, a two-burner stove, a sink, a medium-sized refrigerator and a storage cabinet by taking the needed space from a narrow back hallway. This hallway forms the landing for the back stairs and serves as passageway between library and living room.

For the additional space needed for installing kitchen units an old storage cupboard was removed and flooring was built over part of the stairwell of the descending back stairs. This partition of stairwell was covered to provide a floor stout enough for the support of kitchen unit's weight. The flooring, however, did not interfere with stairway traffic or reduce the head room of stair climbers.

The stove refrigerator unit was anchored in place over the new flooring, and a cabinet was hung above. A hardwood natural finish board placed at the exposed end of the stove and attached accurely over the stair bannister served as an adequate work table.

Plumbing and electric wiring were connected to basement outlets and a three-plug electric outlet on the hardwood table top was added to accommodate electric toaster, grill or broiler.

This newcomer in the Kalten-

3—In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear husband and father, Harry Young, who passed away July 30, 1948.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
But while you wait in peaceful sleep,

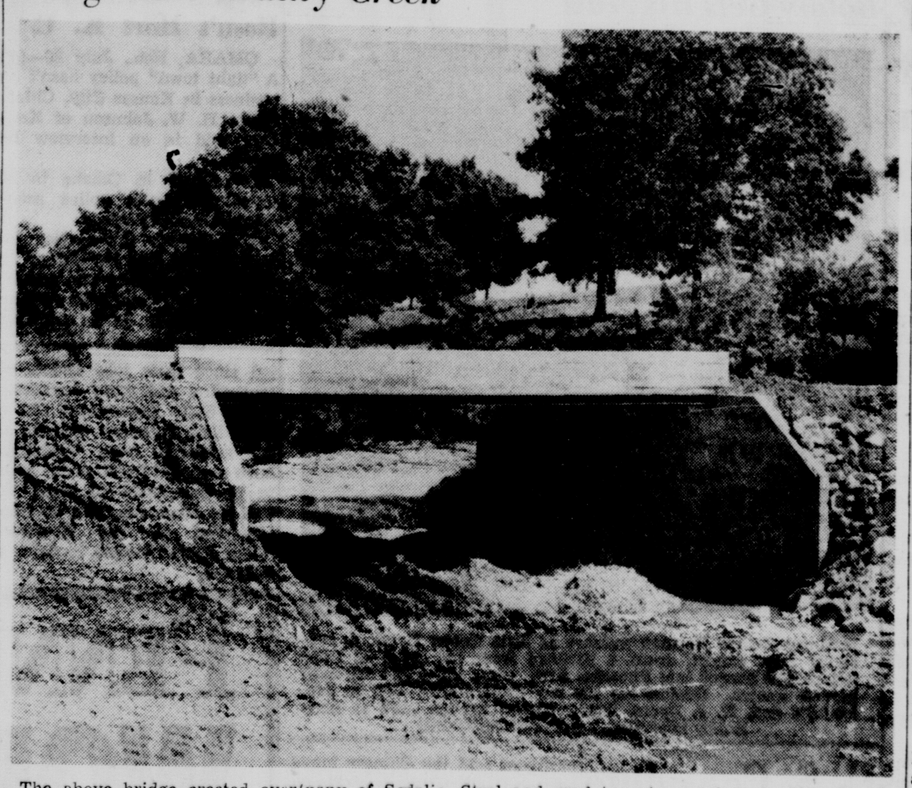
Will Travel In Indiana

Robert K. Shaffer, of 901 South Prospect avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaffer, leaves today for Indiana where he will travel over that state during the next six weeks for a supply firm and then will enter college for an advanced course.

Bridge Over Brushy Creek



The above bridge erected over Brushy Creek, about four miles northwest of Sedalia, was recently constructed under King Bill Project 49-7. Included in this project is the graveling and grading of 2½ miles of dirt road near the bridge.

The bridge was constructed by the Howard Construction Company of Sedalia. Steel and grading was furnished by the 12-Mile Road District. Before a bridge of this type is build in conjunction with the King Bill Project, the county engineer and 12-mile road district superintendent make up the specifications and submit them to the state for approval. After approval is met by the state, the county court open bids for the construction.

When a bridge is completed, it is inspected by the state and county engineer, and if approved, the state submits its portion of the construction cost, as does the 12-Mile Road District to the couny court, who in turn pays off the contractor.

Two Sedalia Musicians Into Business

Two Sedalia musicians have opened a music shop on the second floor of the Scott's Dollar store building with the entrance at 418½ South Ohio avenue.

According to the two partners, Harry Trotman, a former salesman for Hamilton Motors, and Marion "Jake" Siragusa, a former Sedalian but more recently of Alfred, N. Y., the shop will carry a full line of Selmer, Bundy and Frank instruments and will have a repair department equipped to take care of minor as well as major repair jobs.

The Harjak Music Company, as it will be known, is located in the front part of the second floor, with three sales and business rooms that is approximately 16x20 and a 10x20 repair, or work room.

Trotman said a large room on the third floor, that is about 30x60, will be used for a practice room for various musical organizations in Sedalia after pianos have been moved in and it is redecorated. The acoustics of this room, which are very important for practice as well as for concert productions, are good, he said.

"Jake" as he is known to his friends, started his professional music career playing around Bradford, Penn., where he played string bass with the symphony orchestra and played bass and sang with several dance units around his home town. Uncle Sam brought him to the S.A.A.F. in December '45, and while he was stationed at the base he became a member of the 757th A. A. F. band, under the direction of Thomas E. Wilson. "Jake" was active in music in and around Sedalia when he was here, playing in the Sedalia symphony, and was a member of several dance units including Cracker's Quintet and Harry Trotman's old dance band. He married a Warrensburg girl, Stella Swope, and when he was discharged they moved to Sedalia to make their home. He was employed at Central News Agency prior to his leaving to attend Alfred university in Alfred, N. Y., over a year ago. After returning to Sedalia last month he and Trotman began their plans for the business. Mr. and Mrs. Siragusa have two daughters, Toni Ann, 5, and Susan Carol, 2½.

Also at S.A.A.F.

Harry Trotman is also an alumni of the old S.A.A.F. and began his musical career in Haddonfield, N. J., a suburb of Philadelphia. Harry started his playing in 1935 and did considerable dance and orchestral work in and around Camden, N. J. He has studied with Donald S. Reinhardt, one of the leading brass instructors in the country. He was a student at Temple university, majoring in music, and a member of the S.A.A.F. for four years. Trotman was a flight instructor on C-47's and C-46's at the base and he later married Margi Duncan of this city. After he was discharged he formed his own dance band and was director of music in the Green Ridge high school for several years. The Green Ridge band went to the state music contest several years ago and won second place in the class D band division. Harry has been an important addition to the trombone section of the Sedalia Symphony the past five seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Trotman have a daughter, Beth Ann, six months.

Mrs. William Butterwick, of Star Route, was taken from the Bothwell hospital to the S. B. A. hospital in Topeka, Kas., Friday by the Gillespie ambulance.

L. A. Pharris Is With SCB

The adjustment and collection department of the Sedalia Credit Bureau will be in charge of L. A. Pharris beginning Monday, according to G. V. Jones, manager of the bureau's office, 301 South Ohio street, in the Third National bank building.

Until two years ago Mr. Pharris was manager of the Public Loan Corporation in Sedalia, then served in a similar capacity in the Brainerd, Minn., office. During that time Mr. and Mrs. Pharris maintained their home in Sedalia at 1005 South Missouri avenue.

This week Mr. Pharris resigned his connection with the Public Loan in order to assume his new position in charge of the adjustment and collection department of the Sedalia Credit Bureau.

"We were Sedalia residents back in the late thirties before we went to Boston," Mr. Pharris remarked, "then finally got back here in the middle forties. Sedalia is our home, we hope, permanently. It'll take a tornado to blow us out of here again."

Three Youths Involved In Auto Thefts

Kansas City Boys Released To Parents Following Inquiry

Three juveniles, two thirteen years old and another fourteen, are being detailed for investigation by the City police in connection with the stealing of two automobiles, one in Kansas City and the other here in Sedalia. A fourth boy, who is from Kansas City, but visiting here, and who is fourteen, was permitted to go to his relatives' home.

The three Kansas City youths were returned to their homes by their parents, Saturday morning. As to the fourth boy, there was no evidence he was involved or had knowledge the cars were being stolen and was released. Juvenile authorities of Jackson county requested the boys be turned over to their parents and they would be contacted after they were returned home.

They were apprehended at Ninth street and Ware avenue about 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon after they had "ditched" the 1938 Ford tudor which they stole in Kansas City. The driver, who is fourteen, was doing his utmost to get the engine started when Chief of Police Ed Neighbors and two of his officers drove up in front of him and took charge.

Sedalia Car Involved

At police headquarters the boys were questioned regarding the taking of the Sedalia car, a Dodge sedan of C. R. Lind, of 1422 South Grand avenue. The car was stolen from near Broadway and Warren avenue and two of the boys denied any knowledge of it. But two others said they remembered a second car, and one of the younger of the group told the officers he thought he could show him where it was.

Taking a ride in the patrol car, the boy directed them to 412 West Fifth street, where the car was found parked. It was later returned to the owner. Two boys denied any knowledge of the car while two others admitted it was taken.

A Third Car

A third car, belonging to Leonard Swope, 1301 East Boonville, which was on a parking lot at Main street and Lamine avenue, was the subject of an attempted car theft by a youth wearing overall pants and a blue shirt. This car, a Chevrolet coach, was run into the rear of a 1941 Mercury belonging to N. H. Lewis, Dean apartments. Police were called to the scene and arrived just in time to see the youth running up the alley toward Massachusetts and when they reached Massachusetts avenue, the boy had disappeared.

The Kansas City car was stolen from near Thirty-Fourth street and Warwick avenue, sometime about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, the boys told the police. They said they drove out 40 highway to highway 13, then back to highway 50 and into Sedalia and later met the fourth boy.

Keys Were In Car

The car belongs to Elmer Dungan, 3213 Lockridge avenue, Kansas City, who did not notice his car was missing until after the noon hour.

The boys said the keys were in the car which "invited them to 'borrow' it for the trip to Sedalia."

Mr. Dungan accompanied by his wife arrived in Sedalia, early Saturday morning and claimed his car. The car had two damaged fenders, and a clutch burned out from the time it was stolen until it was recovered.

Pvt. H. Schick Is In Japan

With the Eighth Army in Sapporo, Japan—Private Hayward Shick is now stationed with company "G" of the famed 31st Infantry regiment, 7th Infantry Division, which is stationed in Camp Crawford, Sappopro, Japan.

Pvt. Shick enlisted in the Army in August of 1947 for a period of three years service in the Far East Command. After completing his initial training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, he was assigned to the 31st Infantry regiment in Korea. While in Korea he was stationed on the 38th Parallel as a rifleman. In December of 1948 Pvt. Shick moved with the 31st infantry regiment and 7th infantry division to Japan. After arriving in Japan he became a cook for the company.

The 31st Infantry Regiment is known as the "American Foreign Legion." This name was given to the Regiment because of the fact that the Regiment has never been stationed within the continental United States since it was activated in 1916.

Drew Pearson Should Testify Says Maragon

Demands Pearson To Furnish Specific Evidence On Charge

By Roger D. Greene

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Dapper John Maragon, an ex-bootblack who once had a White House pass and auto parking privileges, demanded Friday that columnist Drew Pearson be called to testify in the Senate investigation of "five percenters."

Pearson Would Be Delighted

"I should be delighted to testify," Pearson replied in a statement.

Maragon said Pearson accused him in a July 20 column of being "not only a five percenter but a 50 percenter."

The 56-year-old Malta-born Jack of many trades—he won't say what he is now—emerged beaming from a closed-door session of the Senate's special investigation subcommittee headed by Senator Hoey (D-NC).

The Senate group is looking into allegations that persons claiming to have influence with government officials have been telling businessmen they could get fat government contracts in return for a percentage fee.

Maragon, who used to ply his shoe-shine trade in Kansas City and met President Truman there, talked to newsmen after being questioned for the second time in less than 24 hours by Senate investigators.

With a big smile, he said:

"Not Mad At Anyone"

"I am happy. I am not mad at anybody. We just talked about my personal affairs. I am happy to be here. When you have been accused of being a five percenter or a 50 percenter, you want to straighten it out."

He said he had asked the Senators to hale Pearson before the subcommittee and demanded that the columnist be required to furnish specific evidence of his charges against Maragon.

"What did they say, John?" a reporter asked.

"That," said Maragon, "is for them to say."

A girl reporter then asked: "Well, what did the committee want to know?"

"Honey," Maragon smiled, "that is something the committee will have to tell you."

Asked if he had given the committee any clues about "five percenters" operating in the nation's capital, Maragon replied:

"How could I give them any clues when I am not in a position to ascertain any?"

He said, however, that he doubted the committee would call him back for more secret testimony. However, only a few hours later he was back before the committee for still a third round of questioning.

Good Friend Of Vaughan

After being quizzed at last night's unheralded session with the lawmakers, Maragon told newsmen that he is a good friend of President Truman's much-decorated military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan.

Vaughan himself has said he knows about 300 persons engaged in contract operations in Washington.

Asked whether the committee questioned him about Vaughan today, Maragon gave his stock reply: The committee would have to answer that.

The next question was whether he knew James V. Hunt, a former U. S. army colonel and one-time War Assets Administration employe.

"I have had no relationship with him, socially, in business or any other way," Maragon said. "Oh, he might have been pointed out to me in a hotel lobby, but I don't know him."

Paid $1,000 For Help

Paul Grindle, a Massachusetts manufacturer, has said he paid Hunt $1,000 for aid in seeking a government contract. Grindle said Hunt claimed influence with two major generals—Alden Waitt, chief of the army chemical corps, and Quartermaster General Herman Feldman. Both the two-star generals have been suspended pending further investigation.

Grindle said Hunt also listed Vaughan as a good friend.

Hunt himself has denied that he ever attempted to sell influence. He is reported under a physician's care for heart trouble, but may testify before the Senate committee later.

Maragon declined to say what business, if any, he is presently engaged in.

"Maybe in a couple of weeks I'll tell you," he said.

U. S. Consulate General Office Is Seized

About 100 Chinese Take Control To Enforce Back Pay

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—More than 100 Chinese seized control of the American consulate general office in Shanghai Friday to enforce back pay demands against the U. S. Navy, the State Department reported.

An official dispatch to the department said the Chinese invaded the offices at 7:20 a.m. (Shanghai time) locked the gates at 3:30 p. m. and prevented the consulate staff from entering or leaving.

Police Refuse To Intervene

The department was advised that the police flatly refused to intervene and that the Communist military control commission's alien affairs bureau also failed to take action to restore order.

The report came from the consulate general. John M. Cabot is the consul general at Shanghai but officials said they did not know whether he was present personally. He has been trying to return to the United States by plane with Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

Earlier in the week the State Department spoke of "difficulties" the Communists were putting in the way of Stuart's arrangements to leave.

Former Shanghai Employees

The besiegers were described as former Shanghai employes of the Navy which pulled out of that port before the Communists occupied the city late in May. They are demanding pay for the period since their jobs ended, plus separation and other bonuses.

The State Department was advised that American officials, under authority from Washington, have proposed a settlement known to be acceptable to more than half the claimants. They had been requested by the Communist aliens affairs bureau to defer the proposal.

"Tight Town" Policy Hasn't Hurt K. C.

OMAHA, Neb., July 30—(AP)—A "tight town" policy hasn't hurt business in Kansas City, Chief of Police H. W. Johnson of Kansas City said in an interview here Friday.

Johnson is in Omaha to help examine Omaha police seeking advancement in grade.

The Kansas City police head said Kansas City is "tighter than tight" on gambling and prostitution, but the population has continued to climb. At the same time, he said, there has been a 13 per cent decrease in the city's crime rate in the last two years.

"Some people argue that you attract visitors and promote business when you open up a town. That's a lot of hooey," Johnson said.

Sedalia Sisters Sing in The Church Noted for Weddings

If they are former Sedalians you can't get within a block of them without knowing it, because they are going to tell you.

A man who was in Sedalia on business recently told about three Sedalians who worked for the same company that he did in another city and everybody that knew them knew that Sedalia was their old home town.

"No matter where we go," the husband of a former Sedalia girl said once, "she is sure to run in to somebody from Sedalia and that means at least an hour."

So it isn't any wonder when a group of former Sedalians get together they have the time of their lives.

In a letter to Sedalia friends here Mrs. William Shackelford, who formerly lived at 910 West Third street, but who left here less than a year ago for LeRoy, Minn., told of a recent visit there by Mrs. Frank Meyer, daughters, Misses Frances and Mary Helen, and sister, Miss Grace Duncan, of Kansas City, who are also former Sedalians.

Visit Church in Vale

Among the things enjoyed by the former Sedalia group was a visit to the Little Brown Church in the Vale at Nashua, Ia., which was made famous by the song and has now become a Gretna Green with weddings one after another all day long. To be married in the little church costs five dollars and the minister is then paid whatever the bridegroom cares to give him. The minister and his wife are a very charming couple, Mrs. Shackelford said, and the quaint little church is in a pretty and peaceful setting. Each couple rings the bell as they leave the church.

Meyers Sisters Sing

Shortly after the former Sedalians reached the church the seventh couple that day arrived to be married. Mrs. Shackelford had told the minister that the Meyer girls sang so they were asked to sing at the wedding. Knowing the Meyer girls as all Sedalians know them, ready and willing to give of their talent at all times, they of course, consented to sing. The fact that Frances was in a blue house dress with no hose and Mary Helen wore a yellow house dress with yellow bobby socks didn't keep them from singing at the wedding.

The couple chose the song, "Because," and the girls sang, accompanied by the minister's wife.

Making up the dignified audience on the back pew of the church were Mrs. Shackelford, Mrs. Meyer and Miss Duncan, also in house dresses.

The young couple then asked to take pictures of the wedding party and asked for the names and addresses of the members of the group. The minister then wanted the girls to sing: "I Love You Truly," which they did, and as they started off the eighth couple arrived for another wedding, but the ex-Sedalians did not stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Shackelford moved to Le Roy to be near their son and daughter after Mr. Shackelford's retirement last August from Swift and company. They like it there very much now, but it still isn't Sedalia. "But," wrote Mrs. Shackelford, "Won't we have a lot to talk about this winter?" referring to the visit of the Meyer family and Miss Duncan, and then added: "We do keep up with what is going on in Sedalia, the building, improvements, births, deaths, etc., through the Sedalia Democrat."

Work Brings Same Things As Riches

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — (AP) — People sometimes say:

"The only way you can get in the newspapers is to hold up a drug store or elope with a movie star."

So today I'd like to tell you the story of a simple heart—the story of "Mrs. Van." She is a fine old lady who never robbed a bank or ran against Harry Truman for President.

"But I've had a wonderful life," she said. It might not seem so to some people, but it does to her.

She has a long Dutch name, but she is shy and asked me not to use it. So I'll just call her "Mrs. Van"—as everybody does.

Mrs. Van is a practical nurse. She is white-haired and 63, but her skin is as fair as milk. I got to know her when she came to stay with a young neighbor couple expecting their second child. She would only accept $10 a week.

When the baby came, the young mother said:

"Do you know what Mrs. Van did with half of her first week's pay? She bought me flowers."

Money doesn't mean much any more to Mrs. Van. But being helpful does.

She likes the younger generation—and disapproves of it.

"I don't think they can face life as we did," she said. "They don't have discipline. If I had lived as young girls do today I would never have been able to confront the problems I met with in my married life—no, never."

Moved in Schoolhouse

Mrs. Van was born in Holland and married a carpenter at 21. They had five children when he came to the United States to found a new home here. It was just at the time America entered the first world war, and for two years we couldn't send money back to his family.

"I had to move into an abandoned schoolhouse," said Mrs. Van. "We had no breakfast, and the children took a carrot or a turnip to school. For lunch we had potatoes, and I saved the peelings and cooked them for supper.

"The neighbors felt sorry for us, but I was happy. We were all together—the children and I—and we were healthy."

After the war she and the children came over, and the family settled in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Van had twins at the age of 39, and one died. Later her husband lost his mind. He spent five years in a mental institution before his death, and Mrs. Van had to support the family.

"I didn't know the language well," she said. "So I had to work as a scrubwoman and do washing. Then I studied the language with the children and I became a practical nurse. But I never was in want of a job."

"Now the children don't want me to work. They say I worked all my life for them, and now I should rest. But I like to help where I can."

She has a serene faith that never faltered in her long years of trouble.

"You just have to have courage and responsibility," she said. "Without courage there is nothing."

Mrs. Van has no desire to revisit Europe.

"Here if you work you can have the same things as the rich man," she said. "You can't over there. You don't even buy your groceries at the same store."

She is sturdily indifferent to the present plight of the world.

"I believe the Lord will have to come and settle it," said Mrs. Van. "And the way the world is going, I don't think it will be long.

"There is an awful tribulation coming, but it won't get me. The Lord will come and take me away first. He will take care of his own."

Asks For Arms Aid

Secretary of State Dean Acheson tells the House foreign affairs committee that the U. S. should begin promptly to help rearm western Europe because "the possibilities of direct military aggression" by huge Soviet forces cannot be ignored. He asked approval of the administration's drive for $1,450,000,000 arms aid program. (AP Wirephoto)

said it "has the force of an indictment of the whole social and political structure of contemporary America."

Knob Noster State Park Popular—

"A man's best things are nearest him," would apply to Knob Noster State park, 20 miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50, which is no distance at all these days of the automobile.

Annually the Democrat-Capital staffs and their families have a picnic. This year the committee decided to use the State park. Only a handfull of the 120 men, women and children had ever been inside the park though they had driven by the entrance a half mile west of Knob Noster many times.

A huge shelter house, equipped with oven, tables, running water; lake nearby, and clean comfort stations surprised the visitors. This recreational area of winding roads, beautiful trees and well-kept grounds has been developed rapidly.

The park is equipped for group camping in a manner similar to that of Cuivre River and Lake of the Ozarks State parks, and is used by Girl Scouts and similar non-profit organizations during the camping season. All camps are equipped with modern conveniences, and the public use area where the Democrat employees had the picnic there are tables, benches, shelters, ovens, barbecue pits, water, sewer and electric lights.

One can also imagine what a delightful place this is for steak frys, and weiner roasts come fall weather.

People of Central Missouri who have never visited this park should drive through it, stop at the parking grounds in the picnic area and roam around through the grounds just to see what they have been missing right under their noses.

—O—

Streets, East-West; Avenues, North-South—

Sedalia's north-south main business thoroughfare is commonly referred to as Ohio street. This is incorrect. Ohio is an avenue. Lamine is not a street; it, too, is an avenue.

In fact, and it is something easy to remember, north-south thoroughfares in Sedalia are designated avenues and all these avenues have names. Generally speaking the east-west streets from Main street on south are numbered. There are exceptions like Main street, Walnut, Wilkerson, and Broadway.

There is a real First street and a First Terrace, both intersecting State Fair boulevard south of Main street, sometimes called First street.

This information is repetitious, but sometimes the obvious needs repeating, especially so now the new street signs are attracting attention and performing a very good service.

—O—

Law Library—Keep Out!—

Certain tolerance should be allowed when making rules. Sooner or later hard and fast rules are broken, either intentionally or unintentionally.

The weather was unbearably hot during sessions of the June grand jury so the regular jury room was abandoned and the men moved to the cooler law library for two of their sessions. None seemed to notice the fine print on a placard attached to the law library door which read:

"No individuals, organizations, societies, groups or kindred associations of any type shall be permitted to hold meetings, conferences, gatherings or the like in said library.

By Order of the County Court,
27th of June 1940."

—O—

Three Words Need A Permanent Home—

"Prudent financial management," was an expression used by President Truman in an address to the people of the nation. He says he believes in it. This is reassuring because there had been slight suspicion currently that practice in governmental affairs of this well deserved objective has not dovetailed with the theory.

In the family of words, prudence, frugality and economy are close relatives. We hope they become welcome visitors in the administration household. Indeed they have been victims of the housing shortage these many years. May their sojourn in Blair House, though temporary, be continued in the remodeled White House when moving day comes.

—O—

A Fall Not In The Script—

There is a certain inevitability about time and circumstance. Whoever thought that glamorous Mae West of the '20s would find herself "sick, sore, lame and disabled." Yet that is her 1949 status according to an action in court against a New York hotel for $250,000 as result of a bathroom fall. The accident forced closing of the play she was in.

Two years ago I sat within "arms length" of Mae in a New York theatre. She and her escort had slipped in quietly and taken a seat in the rear. She had just returned from a foreign trip. How her presence became so quickly known is a mystery but soon there was a buzz in the audience and many autograph hounds got to work, more interested in Mae than the play they had paid to see. The unexpected attention caused Miss West and her companion to slip away as quietly as they slipped in.

A news item reports the dados in the Pettis County Court house have been painted york buff. "Serves them right," says the court reporter, "only they shoulda daubed those foreigners with yellow."

Many Catholics Do Not Approve Cardinal Spellman's Criticism Of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—What may have been a significant conference was scheduled in New York this week between Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, who called on Cardinal Spellman.

What they planned to talk about is not known. But it is known that on the preceding evening, when the distinguished prelates from Chicago and Detroit attended a preview of the motion picture, "Come To The Stable," they did not appear happy over Cardinal Spellman's attack on Mrs. Roosevelt.

This brings up a highly important point now widely asked in both political and denominational circles, namely—did Cardinal Spellman speak for the Catholic church or only for himself when he wrote his letter to Mrs. Roosevelt?

The answer, according to lay Catholic leaders and to Catholic newspapermen, may lie in the fact that Cardinal Spellman is not popular with various of the Catholic hierarchy. Catholic leaders interviewed this week pointed out that Spellman has jurisdiction only over the New York metropolitan area, excluding Brooklyn which is under the jurisdiction of Bishop Molloy.

They also pointed out that, despite this, the New York cardinal has shown great dexterity in placing his own friends in certain key spots where they can influence church policy. Recently, he appointed one of his proteges, Father Thomas J. McCarthy, to be chief of the National Catholic Welfare Conference Information Bureau which distributes news to all Catholic papers.

Another of Spellman's proteges, J. Francis McIntyre, was appointed archbishop of Los Angeles, an appointment resented by many Southern California Catholics where the population is largely Italian and Mexican and not appreciative of an Irish clergyman all the way from New York. This is the first time an archbishop has been appointed to that area who could not speak Spanish.

First American Pope—

Some years ago, Spellman wrote a speech for Jimmy Roosevelt to deliver at Springfield, Mass., in favor of the child labor law—a law opposed by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Spellman had served under O'Connell as his auxiliary bishop, and when Spellman was promoted to be archbishop of New York, a Catholic newspaperman congratulated Cardinal O'Connell. The much-loved prelate did not reply immediately. Finally, with a note of sadness, he said:

"Francis epitomizes what happens to a bookkeeper when you teach him how to write."

Many of the Catholic hierarchy have felt that Cardinal Spellman's frequent visits at the White House, his widely publicized magazine articles, and his various trips to Europe were part of a campaign to make him papal secretary and later the first American pope.

It is recalled that when the American cardinals-designate went to the Vatican to receive their red hats, Spellman alone was kissed by the pope. At that time, the late Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis remarked to Congressman Joseph Casey of Massachusetts, who accompanied him to Rome:

"I hear Spellman wants to be papal secretary. He'll have us all in hot water."

That, many Catholics fear, is now what has happened. They point to the constantly growing Ku Klux Klan and to the zooming sales of Paul Blanshard's book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power." The book received almost no reviews in the press, while even advertisements were banned by the New York Times. Nevertheless, the book has gone into its fifth printing since Cardinal Spellman's blast against Congressman Barden of North Carolina. And since his attack on Mrs. Roosevelt, the sales have skyrocketed.

All of which is why, in fairness to all Catholics, it should be noted that Cardinal Spellman appears to represent only one segment of his church.

Gore Celebrates—Tennessee Loses—

Congressman Albert Gore of Tennessee celebrated his victory over the Brannan farm plan at a drinking party in his office. One of the most jubilant guests was Tom Hitch, president of the Tennessee Farm Bureau, who promised to support Gore for the Senate if he would help defeat the Brannan plan.

NOTE—What wasn't mentioned at the celebration party was that Gore's action will cost Tennessee $71,331,824 in lost farm subsidies.

DDT Can Now Help Fight Once Dread Yellow Fever

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

North America has suffered repeatedly in the past from yellow fever (also called yellow jack) which was brought in from the West Indies by ships.

Between 1668 and 1821 there were about 20 epidemics in Philadelphia, 25 in New York, eight in Boston and seven in Baltimore. In 1793 an epidemic in Philadelphia took 4044 lives and 3900 more in 1803. In 1803 there was an epidemic in New York with 608 deaths.

In recent years yellow fever has apparently existed only in South America, Africa and Panama east of the Canal Zone. This terrible disease has been cast out of our continent because it was learned that it is carried by a mosquito. Dr. Carlos Finlay, a Cuban, in 1881 was the first to announce the theory that the mosquito spread yellow fever.

By 1900 the Yellow Fever Commission of the U. S. Army had clinched the case against the mosquito now known as Stegomyia fasciata. This commission was composed of Drs. Walter Reed, Carroll, Agramonte and Lazear.

Direct Connection

Their studies showed the direct connection between the bite of the mosquito when infected and the development of yellow fever in the person bitten. In the course of their studies, in which they allowed themselves to be bitten, Lazear lost his life from the disease and Carroll suffered a severe attack.

Screening of living quarters and active measures to destroy all mosquito breeding places were begun. In less than a year a sanitary specialist, named Gorgas, was able to rid Havana of yellow fever.

Now DDT and other insect killers can be used to aid in the battle against the disease in South America and other areas still in danger.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

QUESTION: Is a lump in the groin which gets larger and smaller a rupture? Could it be cancer?

ANSWER: It is extremely unlikely to be cancer if it changes in size. It is impossible to tell from the description whether it is a rupture. It could be a lymph gland, since there are many lymph glands in the groin area.

American Wives Don't Need Apron-Strings on Husbands

Are American husbands tied to their wives' apron strings?

An Englishman recently returned to London after being a guest of Uncle Sam, claims they are. He bases his pitying accusation on the fact that on a Sunday afternoon the American husband piles his wife and children into the family automobile and off they go for an afternoon's outing.

On the other hand, according to the critic of American family life, on a fair Sunday the British husband goes out for a solitary stroll or joins some male companions in a bar.

Granting that the Englishman's observations are sound, it doesn't follow that he has reached the right conclusion.

There may be a better reason why the American husband spends much of his leisure time with his wife and kids than that he's hopelessly tied to his wife's apron strings . . . and I think there is.

Why Pop's Happy, Though Married

American wives make a great effort to be companionable to their husbands.

They get taken along where their husbands go, because they are good sports who have learned to enjoy the same kind of recreation as their men.

If Papa is a baseball, fan chances are Mamma is just as fond of relaxing at a ball park.

If Papa likes to fish, chances are Mama has learned to sit still and keep quiet hour for hours at a time.

If Papa is a golfer, Mama has very likely been taking lessons from a pro. And so it goes.

As a matter of fact, the American wife has made herself so companionable to her husband that often she's the one who it tied down.

Far from wanting to be alone the American husband with a companionable wife has a fit if she plans to go to a bridge party on his afternoon off, or if he comes home from work to an empty house.

When an old buddy happens to be going through town the American husband doesn't say "I'll meet you at a bar." He says, "Come on out to the house for dinner. I want you to meet my wife."

And he couldn't be pried loose from his easy chair to take a solitary walk—as any wife wanting to run a vacuum cleaner over the living-room rug well knows.

The American husband is a family man, not because he's tied to Mama's apron strings, but because he likes it.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, has been extended an invitation to occupy the pulpit of the Lindell avenue Methodist church in St. Louis while the regular pastor is on vacation.

Dr. T. P. McCluney, formerly of Sedalia, now of Warrensburg, was in the city last night to hear Kryl's band at the Chautauqua.

Fred L. Hoxie left for Seattle, Wash., in the interest of the Worrell Manufacturing company of this city.

A severe windstorm struck Sedalia early this morning but no serious damage resulted. It followed an unusually heavy rainfall for July.

O. F. Fowler, chief dispatcher for the M. K. & T., left for McAllister Springs to take a few days' rest.

W. T. Grow, a former Sedalian, now of Galveston, Texas, is here for a brief visit while on his way to California.

It may be more than a coincidence that the arch criminal seldom is caught flat-footed.

A robber in Oregon who used hook and line to fish money from dressers is no sportsman. He never throws back the small ones.

The most frequent color in animals eyes is brown. The green-eyed monster just has to be different.

Jewlers are to hold a convention in a western city. Oh, goody, youngsters—another gem session.

There's no agreement that marriage is a 50-50 proposition until the golden anniversary is finally reached.

A Kentuckian who lived past 100 has never seen an auto. It was thought unnecessary to ask the usual question about the secret of his longevity.

• Social Situations

SITUATION: You and your husband accept a dinner invitation.

WRONG WAY: Wait several months before inviting the couple who entertained you to have dinner at your house.

RIGHT WAY: Return the hospitality promptly enough so that the couple will feel that you enjoyed the evening and really want to see them again.

SITUATION: A friend tells you she is considering decorating with a certain color which you dislike.

WRONG WAY: Say, "Oh, don't use that color. I think it is hideous."

RIGHT WAY: Keep your own personal taste to yourself. If you express a strong dislike for something a friend likes she will either have to give up the idea that pleases her or know that you think she has poor taste.

THE STORY: Mrs. Everson, a rich widow, believes that an atomic war is pending that will mean the end of the world. So she has equipped two trailers and has set out with her servants and a companion, the Marchese Dellacasa, to reach a place of safety. Where this place is, no one but Mrs. Everson knows. Mrs. Margaret Malone, who was hired along the route to replace a cook who left because she thought Mrs. Everson was crazy, has already regretted her choice and has tried to run away. But she is checked by the Marchese who persuades her to stay. Also in the party are the chauffeur, Rudy, a former movie star, and Victor, a Filipino houseboy. Mrs. Malone finds Mrs. Everson very demanding and at breakfast she is touchy and temperamental.

THE Marchese was having his breakfast in the kitchen of the trailer. He had opened the window and a smart breeze lifted his hair. Head back, eyes closed, he took a deep breath of the desert air.

"Wonderful morning," he said exhaling and opening his eyes again. "Aren't you glad to be alive, Malone?"

"Yes, sir. Very."

Mrs. Malone hurried back with the orange juice. Just as she reached Mrs. Everson's room, the road curved and the trailer swayed sharply. Mrs. Malone staggered, clutched for support, let the glass fall. It shattered on the floor, splattering.

"You fool!" Mrs. Everson shouted.

She seized a napkin and threw it at Mrs. Malone.

"Hurry! Wipe it up before it ruins the carpet!"

"I'm sorry," Mrs. Malone gasped, on her knees. "I'll get some more."

"I don't want it, now. You're an awkward fool! Get out of here. And stay out until I ring."

Flushed and angry, Mrs. Malone went back to the kitchen. Had the trailer stopped, she would have stepped out then and there.

The smooth speed was maintained, hour after hour. There were few variations in the landscape that flowed past the windows. Occasionally, a distant table-land appeared, wheeled, disappeared. The sun climbed, implacably brilliant. Mrs. Malone busied herself in the kitchen, put her own room to rights, then straightened up the salon.

She was astonished to find small paintings set in the wall. One—a white horse rearing—was signed Chirico. Another held her puzzled for a long time. There was no signature. Only a blanched cow's skull, and a datura in full bloom. She had seen such skulls in the desert, and such flowers in the semi-tropical gardens along the coast near the sea. But never had she seen them together like this: the skull dry in death, the flower oily in life, yet strangely similar in form, in whiteness.

She remembered suddenly what the Marchese had said about things being associated that never were before. Faintly, she understood what he meant.

* * *

SHE turned away from the painting to look at the books. Joe had been a great reader. He was always reading and calling out to her: "Come here a minute Margaret. Listen to this." Kipling. Conrad. Long passages from "Puck O'Pook's Hill" or "Lord Jim."

Mrs. Everson's books were not familiar: Mrs. Malone ran her finger along the titles, but recognized none of them. Nor had she heard of the authors: Gide, d'Annunzio, von Hofmannstahl, Mallarme, Wilder, Bemelmans, Rousseau. One shelf was all French and Italian. There were large, thin volumes of maps, scientific works, sociology.

"To heck with it," Mrs. Malone said aloud.

She enjoyed being alone in the room, free to examine the amazing ingenuity of its designers. Lifting what appeared to be a table-top, she discovered beneath it a miniature piano. There was a sturdy safe, too, built into the end of the sofa.

* * *

AT 11 o'clock, the Marchese came from his room. He wore gray flannel slacks, a short-sleeved sweat-shirt and, as before, a silk muffler. He was carrying a very shiny and beautiful flute. Sitting crosslegged on the sofa, he lifted the instrument, adjusted his lips and began to play a sad, off-key tune.

"I'm sorry to interrupt, sir," Mrs. Malone said, "but I've had no orders for lunch."

He paused long enough to say: "Salad. Any kind." Then returned to the plaintive melody, which he played over and over. Her teeth on edge, Mrs. Malone shut herself in the kitchen and concocted what Joe called her Missouri salad: hard-boiled eggs, crisp bacon, lettuce and mayonnaise.

At noon the insistent speed slackened, the brakes were applied and the trailers came to a stop at a filling station. From the window Mrs. Malone saw the attendants, young fellows wearing oil-stained uniforms with their names Sam and Bob chain-stitched above the breast pockets. They were squinting up at the trailer, open-mouthed. Behind them the usual pumps and a sudden sharp smell of gas.

Mrs. Malone said to herself: "Here's where I get off!" She wouldn't wait to pack her suitcase again. She'd just take her purse and her coat and beat it into the service station restroom. They'd drive off without her.

Westerners Rebel On Washington Heat

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Western members of the House are rebelling over the hot Washington weather.

Their target is the long week-end recesses, which they complain give eastern members a chance to go to their seashore homes while the lawmakers from distant points sweat in the capitol.

The rebellion, which has been seething for some time, broke into the open when Rep Hoeven (R-Iowa) served notice that he will object hereafter to house recesses running from Thursday to Monday. A single objection can block these recesses.

If congress must "sweat it out" in Washington's hot weather, Hoeven told the house yesterday, it should work every day and get the job done so everybody can go home.

Hoeven didn't object to the recess from yesterday until next Monday, but said he will in future cases.

Phil Evans, director of Farm Services for The KMBC-KFRM Team, is just as busy as any other farmer these days. The fact that he's a practical farmer, and in turn presents highly important daily farm-casts makes him one of the hardest working, best known and respected farm authorities in the Midwest. As a reminder, Phil is heard at 6:45 each morning, and at 9:55 a.m. daily, with his daily 12:10 p.m. Feed Lot Chat, and with Poultry, Produce and Grain Markets at 12:50 p.m.

KMBC will originate to the network the "Church of the Air" at 9 a.m. this Sunday morning. Rev. Daniel T. Murphy, vice-official of the Kansas City Diocesan Matrimonial court will speak, and choir music will be furnished by the Annunciation church, with Herman Schwickrath directing, and Margaret Miller as organist. We hope you'll hear this program, originating from Kansas City.

Some friends were asking me about Caroline Ellis the other day. In the course of the conversation one of the ladies said, "You know, the more I listen to Caroline's morning Happy Home program, the more I like it." Friends, that pretty well sums up Caroline's morning quarter-hour broadcasts. We hope you folks will continue to listen more regularly to this grand lady who conducts the "Happy Home" at 9:30 weekdays over KMBC.

A comedy program of particular interest returns to the air over KMBC this Sunday evening at 8 p.m. "Meet Corliss Archer," starring Janet Waldo, is the program, and many of you will remember it from last season. It's a delightful comedy of teen-age youngsters that will be of interest to the entire family. We'd like to suggest that you tune in Sunday evening!

Your KMBC Sunday newscaster, John Farmer, is a very busy fellow, as he writes and delivers six highly important news programs each Sunday. He spends more than an hour preparing for the 7:15 a.m. program each Sunday, and follows it up with a mid-morning news report at 9:45. At 12 noon, John presents ten minutes of late news, and is back before the microphone for the 7:00 p.m. news. Farmer is heard again at 9:30 with another 10-minute program, and presents 5 minutes of a general news roundup at 11 p.m. For the latest, most accurate and complete news in the area, we invite you to keep tuned to KMBC.

House Stays Fixed; States, Counties Move

LINCOLNVILLE, Me. —(AP)—A tiny house has stood in two states and three counties—but it has never been moved. The 230-year-old dwelling—one of Maine's oldest—was built about 1718, when Maine was part of Massachusetts. When Maine became a state it was in Lincoln county. In a later division it was in Hancock county. In 1827, a third division made the area Waldo County.

The two-room house was acquired in 1939 by Rachel E. Obershawa and Hester R. Hoffman of Newport. Most of the old oaken beams remain as do the original mantle and ovens in the kitchen.

Traffic Toll Little Lower

CHICAGO, July 30—(AP)—The nation's traffic death toll for the first six months of 1949 was 13,810 — only 100 lower than for the comparable 1948 period.

The National Safety Council, which reported the figures Friday, said that a five-month comparison however, showed that the nation's motorists rolled up six per cent more mileage this year than last and the ratio dropped to 7 deaths per 100,000,000 miles of travel.

This compared with a rate of 7.2 per cent for the equivalent period last year — the previous low rate.

Twenty-two states reported fewer deaths for the first half of 1949. And 200 of 471 cities over 10,000 population reported reductions in the number of deaths. No traffic fatalities were reported in 128 cities.

Roundup For 75 Hungarians

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa) said today that 75 Hungarian citizens are being rounded up by immigration authorities for being in this country illegally.

Walter told reporters the Hungarians are all displaced persons and that some of their papers were forged by a passport ring in Paris.

Walter is chairman of a house judiciary subcommittee in charge of immigration. He said there is no suspicion regarding the character of those being rounded up. He added that there has been no indication that they are subversive or undesirable.

He said their fault was that they apparently were overly anxious to enter this country. Most of the 75 are now under detention at Ellis Island, N. Y., he added.

Walter said those involved obtained Hungarian passports to enter five South American countries. Their entry visas to these countries, he said, were forged, including seals and official signatures.

Armed Gambling Place Raided

Hands upraised with their faces showing various degrees of emotion, persons in an armed gambling house at Maple Shade, N. J., are shown a few minutes after New Jersey state police broke into the heavily-armored spot. One hundred and sixty men were arrested and $40,000 confiscated. Police said the spot was officially listed as a plumbing warehouse, but was elaborately equipped for all types of gambling "day and night, including Sunday," according to a sign on a board. The operators, police said, furnished limosine service to patrons. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Affiliation MVC Approved

MARSHALL, Missouri. — The affiliation of the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing to Missouri Valley College has been formally approved by the Missouri Board of Nurse Examiners, it was announced today by Dr. G. Dewey Smith, vice president of the college. The curriculum for the Bachelor of Science degree in nursing is thus accredited by the State Board of Nurse Examiners.

The affiliation of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing with the college was announced recently at the spring commencement at the college. Under the plan, students will receive their general education and training in science at Missouri Valley and the professional courses at the School of Nursing. Degrees will be conferred by the college.

Dean J. F. Deering becomes, under the agreement, a member of the Nursing School committee of the hospital, and Miss M. Alicia Sayre, Director of Nurses, and Miss Irene M. Heilman, Assistant Director, become members of the faculty of Missouri Valley College.

The course of study, Dr. Smith said, will cover four and one-half calendar years, of which two years and one summer will be spent on the college campus.

Asserts Lewis Becomes 'Bore'

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Tyre Taylor, general counsel for the Southern States Industrial Council Friday called John L. Lewis is an "insufferable bore" and a "ham" actor.

The attack on the United Mine Workers Chieftain was made before the senate banking committee with the suggestion that congress cut Lewis "down to size."

Taylor, a Washington attorney, said the UMW has a total monopoly over coal production which is, in effect, Lewis' personal monopoly.

"John D. Rockefeller, Sr., never exercised one-tenth of the control over oil that John L. Lewis now exercises over coal," Taylor said.

The committee is investigating coal operations, the activities of the UMW and the three-day work week which Lewis ordered in the eastern coal fields last June 30.

Senator Robertson (D-Va), acting chairman, who requested the inquiry, has invited Lewis to reply to the attacks made against him throughout the week by coal operators and other witnesses.

Taylor wound up his bitter statement on this note:

"I will, however, in conclusion, venture an assertion which I doubt will be challenged by any member of this committee. It is that—in addition to all his other offenses against the general welfare which could impel congress to trim him down to size—John L. Lewis has become an insufferable bore.

"His acting is ham, his utterances corny, his posturing pompous and silly. From this, too, a lot of long-suffering citizens would welcome deliverance."

Here's Important News For Central Missouri Shoppers—

Thursday Night Will Be Shopping Night In Sedalia

Beginning This Thursday Night Sedalia Stores Will Be Open Until 9 oclock

Beginning this Thursday night, August 4th, and continuing each Thursday night throughout August and September—and perhaps indefinitely, depending on the reception of the new shopping night by Central Missouri shoppers — the following stores, and many more not represented in the listing below, will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Frankly, this is being tried by Sedalia stores as an experiment, for it is the belief of these store owners and operators, that many people who shop in Sedalia prefer a middle-of-the-week shopping night.

Many cities and stores throughout the country are following this middle-of-the-week opening night trend, because they realize that most people who work have free time over the end of the week and that many of these people want to devote that time to recreation and relaxation.

Many of these Sedalia stores plan shoppers' specials for Thursday night customers. Watch for these specials in the Wednesday evening Democrat and the Thursday morning Capital and take advantage of them each Thursday night when you are in town or downtown shopping.

Because this is experimental, Sedalia store owners and operators will welcome your expression as to how you like Thursday night openings. Your participation in Thursday night shopping will be your best answer.

Remember, now you can shop downtown this Thursday night, and every Thursday night!

Chiefs of Staff In Germany

Start Study Of Western Europe's Defenses; Aid Talk Is Ruled Out

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 30—(AP)—The United States military chiefs of staff flew in from Washington today for a get-acquainted survey of western Europe's defenses.

Top-secret conferences with officers of Italy and Luxembourg and with American military leaders in Germany are docketed Monday. The party — including Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Air Force Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Adm. Louis E. Denfeld of the Navy—has a dual mission on its 10-day tour:

1. To discuss the proposed military organization provided by the 12-nation North Atlantic treaty.

2. To make a first-hand study of American troops in Europe, the bulk of whom are concentrated in western Germany.

Travelled In President's Plane

The chiefs arrived this afternoon in President Truman's personal plane, the Independence They will move on next week to London, Paris and Vienna for conferences with military leaders of the pact nations.

They will confer here with John J. McCloy, the American military governor; also the Army, Navy and Air Force commanders in Germany and the Luembourg and Italian military representatives, who have not been identified. They may take time out for a quick flight to Berlin.

Denfeld told reporters there would be no talk about military aid. President Truman's proposal for the appropriation of $1,450,000,000 to arm friendly nations is before Congress.

To Study What Is Needed

"We will talk with the chiefs of staff of the Atlantic pact nations," Denfeld said. "We are not going to talk about military aid. The U. S. defense department has ruled out discussions on the European arms aid program."

Bradley said "we will see what kind of organization and staff are needed to implement the pact."

Vandenberg said "there will be an exchange of ideas with the European military leaders during our visit."

Tuesday they will fly to London for conferences with the British chiefs of staff and other military officials. They will proceed to Paris Thursday.

Take Key From Child's Throat

Dale Lee Cairer, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cairer, 1913 South Harrison avenue, swallowed a "T" shape toy winding key, sometime Friday evening. The little man was relieved of his "unusual diet" about 4:00 o'clock Saturday morning by Dr. John M. Rodeman, and never once seemed to show much worry over the incident.

The parents became alarmed over the baby's coughing about 7:00 o'clock and later took him to the Bothwell hospital. An X-ray picture revealed the little key lodged in his throat. When Dr. Rodeman would endeavor to "finger" the key, the doctor became the victim of several sharp front teeth.

The baby was permitted to rest and Dr. Rodeman administered an anesthetic and within thirty minutes the key was removed and the child was taken back home, with tired and worried but relieved parents.

Polio On Increase In New York City

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP)—New York city's total of infantile paralysis cases for the year jumped to 341 today as 35 new cases of the disease were reported.

Two new deaths from polio were reported by the health department, bringing the death toll for the year to 21.

Health Commissioner Dr. Harry S Mustard described the outbreak as a "mild epidemic," and warned against parents getting panicky.

Horse Frightened Runs Away; Two Other Boys Injured

William Lynn Turner, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, of the Huston-Turner funeral home, Windsor, died at 12:15 o'clock Saturday morning from injuries received Thursday evening when he was thrown from a wagon by a run-away horse.

The Turner boy and two other children were injured about 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening about a mile south of Windsor on the Leesville road. The other boys, Harold McCampbell, 10, and Harry Scheele, 12, received only minor cuts, scratches and abrasions. All three boys were rendered unconscious at the time of the accident, and the Turner boy never regained consciousness. He died at the Windsor community hospital.

According to Mrs. Turner, the three boys had been using the horse and wagon all week in helping the McCampbell family move from their residence in Windsor to a farm near the scene of the accident. The horse, described as very gentle, pulled a rubber-tired wagon and the little boys moved light articles to the new home. It was their last trip, and they were almost at their destination.

Help Came Too Late

The McCampbell boy was driving the wagon, and called for help when he realized the horse was frightened. A neighbor ran to the scene, but too late to help, and found the children out of the wagon. It is believed the wagon struck something in the road, throwing the children out, although this, and what had frightened the animal, was not clear to the boys.

The horse was in a great state of excitement, and broke two gates before it was subdued. Men at the scene could not go near the animal, it was reported, because of its wild actions.

Mr. and Mrs. McCampbell were following the wagon in their car, but had not caught up with the boys in time to see the accident Mrs. McCampbell is a registered nurse, and was formerly in charge of the Windsor hospital.

Mule Angry at Being Kicked, Kicks Man Twice

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 30 (AP)—There's such a thing as kicking too much.

A motorist, his car mired on a side road near U. S. highway 59, stopped 12-year-old Bob Betts of Winthrop, Mo., with two mules he was leading.

When the boy told the motorist he couldn't help him because he had no harness for the mules, the motorist kicked the boy. Then the motorist kicked one of the mules.

The mule retaliated and gave him a good kicking, landing two good blows, before the motorist could get back into the car.

The motorist and his two passengers managed to push the car from the mud before Officer Jim Keames arrived and fled across the bridge into Atchison, Kas.

Wage Contract Submitted For Approval

MIAMI, Okla., July 30—(AP)—A wage contract, by which 500 idled employes may go back to work, today was submitted for their approval by the Eagle-Picher Mining and Smelting Co. and union negotiators, a union spokesman disclosed

The offer, will be discussed and voted on at a union meeting Wednesday night, according to Bobby Huddleston, international representative of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (AFL).

Huddleton, Eagle-Picher personnel director E. C. Mabon and others were closeted for two hours today.

Offer The Same

Except for minor changes, the company's offer is the same as that made before shutting down tri-state operations June 30, throwing 825 employes out of work—including the 500 union members.

Eagle-Picher said at the time it hoped for union acceptance of an average daily wage cut of $3 08 per worker in order to continue operations despite the slumping price of zinc ore—now $53 a ton. The proposal was rejected

Huddleston said the cut was still in, but that the company had modified its offer for a sliding wage scale pegged on the price of ore

The current business slump has idled 3,600 in the Missouri-Oklahoma-Kansas Mining district

Woman Hit By Truck, But Not Seriously Hurt

Taken To Hospital And Released In About An Hour

Mrs. Letha Reynolds, 309 East Third street, was injured, but believed not seroiusly, in an accident at Third and Massachusetts avenue about 9.43 o'clock Saturday night. Mrs. Reynolds was struck by a truck driven by N. E. "John" DeWan, 320 East Main street.

DeWan reported to the police he was not driving more than ten miles per hour when the accident occurred. He said he had just left his parking space on Massachusetts avenue between Third and Fourth streets, and in approaching Third street was going very slowly. He said Mrs Reynolds was crossing the street and he was unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap, and she was evidently unable to get out of the way.

Struck by Bumper

Mrs. Reynolds was struck by the bumper and knocked to the pavement. She suffered bruises on her right leg below the knee, an abrasion on the right elbow, two broken ribs on the lift side.

DeWan was accompanied by Miss Nellie Klein, 102½ South Washington avenue, and C. H. Salmons, 301 East Twenty-Seventh street, who also said DeWan was driving very slowly at the time.

Mrs. Reynolds was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance and she was treated by Dr. Gordon Stauffacher, and released about an hour later and taken to her home.

Cool Front Is Moving to East From Canada

Unusually Chilly Temperatures In The Midwest

By The Associated Press

A storm-studded cool front broke the east's two week heat siege late Saturday.

At Philadelphia, the mercury dropped from an afternoon high of 96 to 79 at 10 p.m. In some places in Maryland the drop was as much as 18 degrees in 15 minutes.

Heavy rains drenched Pittsburgh. An overnight low of 62 was forecast for Steel City.

Thundershowers brought relief to heat-stricken New York city. The temperature in Manhattan dropped 10 degrees to 76 within an hour after the storm struck Manhattan at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

Temperatures Soared

But Saturday temperatures soared—to 100 at Newark, N. J., 98 at Portland, Me., 84.2 at New York city, 96 at Hartford, Conn., and 94 at Washington. Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.,

The upsurge of heat prostration deaths subsided with at lease 77 reported.

There were scattered local reports of relief in upper New York and New England as showers dropped Boston's mercury to 81 for a while and Dunkirn, N. Y., experienced a gratifying dip to 67.

Miami an Exception

But it was 90 in all but a few localities. Miami, Fla., was an exception, with a high of 86 before a thunderstorm pushed the mercury lower.

It was the hottest day of the year in Maine. Portland's 98 broke the all-time record of 91 degrees for the date set in 1909. Temperatures ranged from the high 80s well into the 90s in all sections of the state. Forestry officials patrolled three new fires in the woods. High humidity was credited with preventing really serious outbreaks.

Baltimore, Md., with a high of 96, chalked up its 12th straight day of over 90 temperatures—the third longest spell in 78 years of record keeping.

In contrast, clear, cool, weather prevailed from the Great Lakes westward to the Rockies, and as far south in the plains as Oklahoma. Chicago's temperature at 2 p.m. (EST) was 73.

Chilly in Midwest

There were some unusually chilly temperatures reported early Saturday in the Midwest, including 40 degrees at Land O'Lakes, Wis., 49 at Aakdale, Neb., and 56 at Omaha. The Omaha figure tied the low record for the date set in 1889.

The Southeast, however, appeared to be relieved by the cool air mass which fanned eastward from the midwest. The cool weather front moved as far south in the Ohio valley at Louisville, Ky, where brief showers in the early afternoon dropped the temperatures from 90 to 83 degrees.

Real relief was predicted by the weather bureau for New England, and all of New York and Pennsylvania Saturday night. Substantially milder weather for the middle Atlantic area was predicted by Sunday.

A thunderstorm, accompanied by wind gusts up to 40 miles per hour, broke a 12-day heat wave in West Virginia, lowering the temperature Saturday afternoon at Huntington from 93 to 71 degrees.

Larger Downtown Stores To Be Open on Thursday Nights

Beginning this Thursday night—August 4th—Sedalia and Central Missouri shoppers will have an opportunity to shop in most of Sedalia's larger downtown stores until 9:00 o'clock.

For more than a year there has been a movement here to have a middle - of - the - week shopping night. This movement finally became a reality when those interested called on other Sedalia merchants and drew up a plan of action which will result in practically a city-wide Thursday night opening of all Sedalia downtown stores.

A middle-of-the-week shopping night has been a nationwide trend among stores and cities for several years and gained considerable momentum during the recent war period. Proponents point to the fact that people's habits and working hours have changed, and that those who are employed, or who operate businesses, have free time over the end of the week and that many of these people want to devote that time to recreation and relaxation, yet they want and need a night other than Saturday when they can make necessary purchases.

An Experiment

The new Thursday night opening will be an experiment by Sedalia merchants, and will be operated on a trial basis throughout August and September During this trial period, many stores plan Thursday night merchandising features to keep the new shopping night before the people of this area and to create an incentive for shopping on that night.

On the back page of the second section of this edition of the Democrat-Capital is a cooperative advertisement calling attention to the new Thursday shopping night and listing the names of the stores who are cooperating to bring the message to the people of the Sedalia territory. Many stores not listed on this advertisement will participate and their places of business will also be open each Thursday night during August and Septemeber

It is the belief of some merchants that their places of business should be open on Saturday nights as usual until a Thursday night opening has proved to be a more satisfactory shopping night for Sedalia and out-of-town people, and most Sedalia stores will be open both Thursday and Saturday night throughout the trial period.

An Unusual Plant Growing in Dresden Known as Unicorn

An interesting plant growing in the garden of James Anderson, of Dresden that has puzzled Sedalians and Dresden neighbors for quite sometime, has finally been identified.

Mr. Anderson has cared for this plant all spring and summer, as it came up voluntarily in his garden, and not knowing what it was, hesitated in cutting it down. R. V. Denny, of Sedalia, was so interested he took a picture of it, to send away to be identified. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Denny went to Dr. J. E. Cannaday's office to tell him about it, but he could not tell them, upon their description.

Dr. Cannaday, who is a student of botany, Mrs. Ora Stephens, a botonist, and Roy I. Coplen, county farm agent, made three trips to Dresden, and none of the three could identify this plant, so they decided to send specimens to the University of Missouri.

Plant Identified

Saturday, they received word that the plant is a Unicorn, or Martynia Proboscidea. The more common name is "Elephant's Trunk."

In making a more thorough study of the plant Saturday, Dr. Cannaday said the pods are often used as ornaments in homes, and some people have used them for pickles as they do cucumbers, as well as for the heavy foliage in the gardens.

Dr. Cannaday gave the following description of the plant: Rand branchy, sprawling limbs on the ground, very heavy odor, with leaves broad, and more of a type of one to two feet high. The flowers of whitish mottled, resembling snapdragons. The pods are five parted, very hairy, with a long curving beak, and the name of "Elephants' Trunk" come from this. The fruits have a very distinct appearance by reason of the long curved horn which splits from the top as the capsule hardens. The seeds are large. The plant is treated as half hardy annuals.

How the plant originated, no one knows, but it is believed, since the plant is growing near a railroad track, that a seed fell from a passing train.

Briefs

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—The administration was reported working today on a proposal to reduce the size and scope of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 (B) foreign arms program.

This revision may turn up later in the form of a Democratic compromise after congressional committees have completed hearings.

The State Department, however, denied there had been any such compromise or that it was considering any.

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Testimony of a self-decribed former Communist that Russia has used the United Nations to "reinforce" her spies in this country was made public tonight by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

The statement was made by Mrs. Ruth Fischer of New York City, a sister of Gerhart Eisler, the Communist leader who jumped bond and skipped the country after being convicted of passport fraud.

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—A determined effort to clip some of the vast powers wielded by the 21-member Senate appropriations committee appeared under way today.

Some Senators told a reporter privately that is the real cause of perhaps the worst snarl in regular money bills in 25 years or longer.

Although the new fiscal year isa month old, nearly $30,000,000,000 (B) worth of appropriation now are piled up waiting Senate action.

Majority leader Lucas (D-Ill) and other Democratic congressional leaders hope to break this legislative logjam next week. But no one now is certain when the disputes will end and Congress can plan to adjourn.

LONDON, July 30—(AP)—The British sloop Amethyst escaped down the Yangtze river today under fire of Chinese Communist shore batteries and rejoined the British fleet, the admiralty proudly announced.

Prime Minister Attlee relayed his personal congratulations to the commanding officer and crew of the Amethyst for their "gallant exploit." The British naval commander in chief in the Far East told the sloop's crew their daring passage will go down as "an epic in the history of the Navy."

Still Enforce On Rent Control

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods said Saturday, administration and enforcement of Federal Rent Control will continue without change, and that the decision in Chicago by U. S. District Judge Elwyn R. Shaw holding the Housing and Rent Act of 1949 unconstitutional because of the "local option" provision will be appealed.

"Rights of tenants against eviction and overcharge, and rights of landlords under the adjustment provisions of the Act will continue as heretofore," Mr Woods said.

"In other words, the Housing and Rent Act of 1949 is still the law of the land and will continue to be unless it is set aside by the Appellate Courts.

"In the meantime status quo will be maintained in all areas and parts of area still under Federal Rent Control."

Two Mothers Into Court In Child Case

Natural Mother Takes Her Away From Foster Parents

TULSA, Okla., July 30—(AP)—Two mothers—one of them jailed, but defiant—vied with each other today for the custody of a missing little girl. Eleven-year-old Jerriline Beshears.

Jearriline's whereabouts is the bone of contention between her natural mother, Mrs. Nellie Beshears, a 29-year-old divorcee, and the child's adopted parents—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Whitley.

Mrs. Beshears has been jailed since Thursday for failing to make $1,000 bond on a charge of child stealing filed by the Whitleys.

"I wouldn't tell where she is if they were fixin' to hang me," she told her attorney, John L. Ward, Jr. He said he will ask that the adoption be set aside due to "misrepresentation."

Admits Taking Child

Mrs. Beshears admits taking the child from the Whitley home when informed she could no longer see her. "The child's all I have left, now," she said. An older boy is being treated at a state hospital for a speech defect.

Mr. Whitley today denied refusing Mrs. Beshears permission to see the little girl, adopted by the couple July 5. "I only refused to let her take the child to her rooms," she explained.

All live in suburban Sand Springs. Mrs. Whitley, who worked in a cotton mill with Mrs. Beshears, said she and her husband took care of Jerriline when the mother worked nights.

Habeas Corpus Action Filed

"When Mrs. Beshears decided to adopt the child out, we asked if we could get her," Mrs. Whitley declared. "I can't have any children of my own, and we want her son," she sobbed.

Mrs. Beshears next week will face a habeas corpus action filed to get her to bring Jerriline into court, County Attorney Elmer Adams said.

"I won't tell," Mrs. Beshears repeated grimly. "I can't have any more children, and I'm going to hang onto my little girl as long as I can."

It will be the first child for the couple, who met while attending Reed college here. They were married last year.

Mrs. Seagraves is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Eleanor Boettiger. As children, she and her brother, Curtis (Buzzie) Dahl, were White House favorites.

PARSONS, Kas, July 30—(AP)—A former marine, who has been a patrolman here since 1940 with the exception of two years during the war, was named Parsons' new chief of police today.

He is W. K. Merrick, 43. He was appointed by Acting Mayor G. A. Berglund to succeed Frank Williams who was dismissed July 7 by the city commission at the suggestion of Attorney General H. R. Fatzer following an investigation into gambling operations here.

Sixteen Killed In Collision

Airliner And Navy Fighter Crash In The Air; Fighter Had Buzzed Other Planes

FORT DIX, N. J., July 30 (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed today as a Memphis-bound airliner was chopped apart in the New Jersey skies by what witnesses described as a stunting Navy fighter plane.

The airliner's left wing and tail were shorn off, and the crippled Eastern Airliner DC-3 whirled into a farm house pasture and burst into a wall of flame. The Navy plane burrowed into the ground two miles away.

The charred bodies of twelve passengers and three crew members were strewn throughout the wreckage of the airliner. The pilot of the Navy plane was found dead in a field beside an unopened parachute.

State police said they had reports from two witnesses who saw the two planes tangle high in the sky over the Fort Dix military reservation.

Had Buzzed Piper Cub

One was a pilot of a Piper Cub who said the Navy fighter had buzzed his little craft and "stood me on my right wing for an instant" just before zooming into the airliner.

"The small plane appeared to strike the airliner on the left side just aft of the left wing," the Piper Cub pilot, George Humphries of Fair Haven, told investigators.

"Parts of the airplane were all over the sky, and I veered to my right. I saw the aircraft strike the ground amid a cloud of dust and flames."

Another witness, farmer Harry Miller, said he saw the fighter plane take the tail off the airliner and send it into a spin.

"The big plane took three turns and then the wing fell off," he said.

Other Complaints

Pilots of two other commercial planes complained later at Miami that their airliners also had been "buzzed" by Navy aircraft while flying over the New Jersey area today.

A National Air Lines pilot said three Navy craft had swerved in front of his plane two-and-a-half hours before the fatal crash. Another Eastern Airlines pilot said his plane had been buzzed at about that same hour some 25 miles from Fort Dix. Both statements were made in the pilots' reports to their airlines.

The dead were taken from the scattered wreckage tonight and placed in three funeral homes throughout this rural area. State police said that most of the dead were burned beyond recognition.

Included among the casualties was Howard Sanderson Le Roy, of Washington, D. C., a past president of Rotary International.

Airliner Into Ditch

The two-engined airliner, bound from Boston to Memphis, plowed open a wide ditch as it ground into a mass on the farm of Peter Mungus in the Chesterfield-Sykesville road.

Farmers who ran to the rescue said the crash was followed by an explosion and a wall of flame which kept them at a distance for almost half an hour.

Firemen from the Fort Dix Army camp and nearby communities said there wasn't a sound from the burning plane when rescuers reached it.

"The only noise was the crackle of the flames," said Stanley Matthis, chief of the Chesterfield township fire department.

Pilot's Name Withheld

Maj William A. Somerby of the Fort Dix public information office identified the military craft as a Navy fighter from the Anacostia Naval Air Station in Washington, D. C. Navy officials there said a Navy F-6-F Hellcat left there this morning for Quonset Point, R. I., and was overdue.

The Navy said it could not make public the pilot's name until his next-of-kin is notified.

Eastern Airlines, Army, Navy and Civil Aeronautics Board officials sped to the crash area to investigate the accident.

Somerby said Army investigators had been told by an eyewitness that the fighter plane had approached the airliner from the right rear and had crashed into the top of the liner.

The plane had left Boston without any passengers at 7:35 (EST) this morning. It picked up 15 passengers in Hartford. Nine of these got off at LaGuardia Airport in New York. Six others, who died in the crash shortly after 10 a.m., boarded the plane at New York.

Prosecutors to Get Extra Pay

JEFFERSON CITY, July 29—(AP)—Attorney General J. E. Taylor ruled today prosecuting attorneys can start collecting at once a salary increase granted by the recent legislature.

The legislature directed third and fourth class county prosecuting attorneys to attend all coroners' inquests. For this extra duty they are to receive 25 per cent of their previous salary.

Sam Semple, prosecuting attorney at Moberly, asked whether the increase is effective at once, in view of a constitutional section which says an officer's salary can not be boosted during his term of office.

Assistant Attorney General Will F. Berry, Jr., concluded that under Missouri court decisions, extra compensation may be collected when extra duties are performed.

GOP Planning 'Grass Roots' Convention

Twenty-Five States Represented In A Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO, —uly 30 — (AP) — A group of Republicans from 25 states, discontented with their party's policies, adopted a program Friday and laid the groundwork for a later "grass-roots" convention.

Fred A. Virkus of Chicago called the conference, contending the GOP needs revitalizing. The 105 attending all were either delegates or alternate delegates to the 1948 Republican National convention

Virkus himself is president of the conference of American Small Businesses and a former Illinois state legislator.

After two days of closed committee sessions, the dissident Republicans:

Urging New Policies

Recommended a labor policy based on the Taft-Hartley law.

Urged a farm policy based on government purchases in the open market.

Called for a Republican round-up, or grass-roots convention, before the next elections. Representatives of county GOP organizations would be invited.

Mrs. E. Wyatt Payne of Huntington, W. Va., urged the GOP to bar from consideration for the 1952 presidential nomination the governors of both New York and California.

She declared the next GOP standard-bearer should come from the midwest "where they have not been tainted by foreign ideologies."

The group selected Chicago for its temporary headquarters.

In their policy statement, the Republican group asserted:

"There must be returned to the states the rights, privileges, and duties which have been usurped by the federal government x x x.

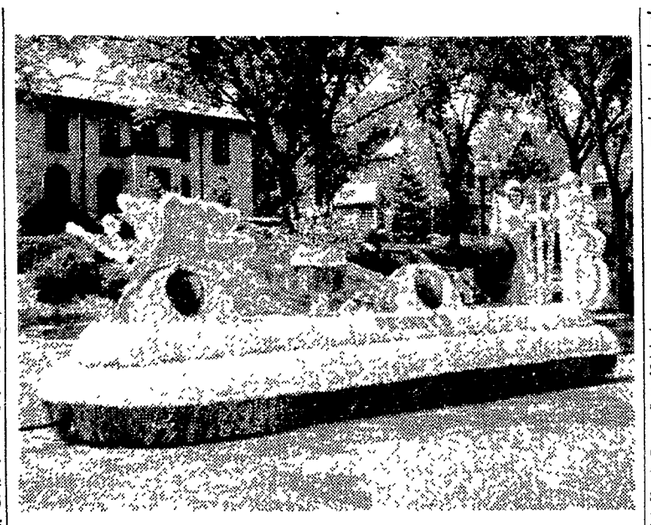
"We oppose federal aid for housing and education, which would result eventually in socialism and the loss of individual liberties" x x the socialization of medicine x x x (and) government use of the taxpayers' money to compete with private enterprise."

They advocated "every honarable effort to maintain the peace of the world without surrendering our national sovereignty."

The farm plank called upon the government "to maintain parity between labor, industry and agriculture by purchase in the open market of basic agricultural products."

George Virkus, son of the sponsor, was elected secretary and W. H. Mason of Memphis, Tenn., treasurer.

The following were among those named to the executive board: Mrs. Chester Dunn, Oxford, Kas., and Mrs. M. Kelly, Trenton, Mo.



Mrs. V. J. Taylor, of St. Joseph, formerly of Sedalia, who is employed in the office of the J. C. Penney company in that city and was chosen queen of their float in the Apple Blossom Festival held there in May. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Miss Doris Kelley and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kelley, 103 East Walnut street, Sedalia. Mr. Taylor was manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company here before being transferred to St. Joseph.

May Still File For Dividend

Veterans may file application for the special National Service Life Insurance dividend even though they do not know their insurance number, W. F. Fidler, Jr., in charge of Veteran Administration Office at 511 South Ohio said.

While the "N" number will help to more speedily identily an account, veterans who have lost or misplaced their insurance certificate and number need not make inquiry of the VA concerning this information, Fidler said. In case an application is received without an insurance number, it will be furnished by the VA from the veteran's insurance account.

Application forms for the special insurance dividend are expected to be available August 29. It will be a three-fold card. After the veteran fills it out, he retains one-third(with the instructions) for his own records and mails the other two parts to the VA. The application part of the card is separated at the VA and the return acknowledgment portion mailed back to the veteran in order to let him know his application has been received, Fidler explained.

Students Picnic At Warrensburg

The Pettis County Club, composed of students enrolled in the summer session at Central Missouri State College, entertained with a picnic at Shepard Park in Warrensburg on Thursday evening, attended by 24 persons. This activity culminated the several meetings which the group had held earlier during the summer. The committee in charge of the picnic was as follows: Misses Dora Benz, Dresden; Norma Jean Leicher. Hughesville, and Virginia O'Neill. Beaman. They were assisted by the officers of the county group, Mrs. Donald Donath, president; Miss Margaret Jo Cranfill, vice president, and Mrs. Cecil Peoples, secretary. Prof. Courtney Aldrich is faculty sponsor of the Pettis County Club.

Attending the picnic as special guests were Mrs. C. F. Scotten and daughter Judy, Mrs. Will Embrey, and Miss Marjorie Rector, all of Sedalia.

Following the picnic several of the group attended the concert of the college orchestra and chorus held at 8:00 p. m. in Hendricks Hall.

ceived no damage. The drivers settled at the scene.

Two Minor Traffic Accidents Friday

Two minor traffic accidents occurred in one hour in Sedalia, Friday afternoon, but no extensive damage resulted in either of them, and no arrests were made.

The first collision occurred at the intersection of 50 and 65 highways, when a 1947 International truck of the Sedalia Packing Company, being driven westward by Berley Odell, of 603 South Engineer avenue, collided with a 1947 Mack truck of the Gerbes Super Market of Tipton, being driven in the same direction by Edward F. Gerbes. Damage to both trucks was slight, and the drivers agreed on settlements at the scene.

The second collision was at 2:15 o'clock at Sixth street and Osage avenue. W. C. Colvin, of Sixteenth street and Marshall avenue, was going south in his 1936 Ford sedan, and was in collision with the 1936 Chevrolet truck of Fred Eads, route 1, Beaman, which was stopped at the time of the accident. The right side of the Ford was damaged, but the truck re-

Bell Hearing Is Recessed Until Tuesday

2 More Witnesses, Then Opponents Will Prepare Their Case

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 30 —(AP)—Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's effort to get $5,000,000 more a year on its Missouri rates recessed Friday until Tuesday.

When the state Public Service Commission resumes the hearing then, the company plans to present two more witnesses to complete its case. After that cities fighting the rate increase want two months to prepare their case.

Next week's witnesses will be H. M. Duphorne, Bell's inventory and costs engineer, and L. D. Leverington, general rate engineer.

Leverington will present the detailed schedules of the requested ocal and long distance rates. Duphorne will testify about the cost of the "telephone plant in service"—the lines and equipment now in use.

Company's Evidence Unnecessary

In a little byplay today, Commission Chairman Morris Osburn indicated some of the company's evidence was not necessary.

He broke into an argument between opposing attorneys to comment, "as far as I'm concerned, the Commission is going to pay very little attention to reproduction new."

"Reproduction new" is one of the theories of valuing a utility's property.

Today was the fifth day in the second round rate increase case.

It was punctuated by Bell delivering a check for $1,800,000 to Cole county circuit court here. That represents a $300,000 monthly payment for the last six months to cover the costs of refunds if the Bell company loses an earlier $3,400,000 rate increase granted by the PSC.

It is now being appealed to the state supreme court. The company posted a $3,500,000 appeal bond yesterday. The $300,000 monthly impoundment payments will continue until the appeal is decided.

Look What Happened!

—It's snow—real, honest-to-goodness snow—falling in Cleveland, O., on July 28, with the temperature at 93. And it didn't take Jackie Steiner, 7, more than a minute to grab a sled and his ear-flap cap and go sledding in the stuff. Now if you're skeptical and don't believe this snow-in-July story, look below. (NEA Photo)

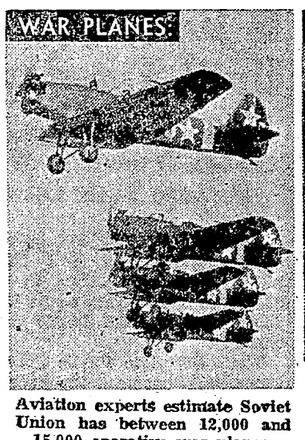
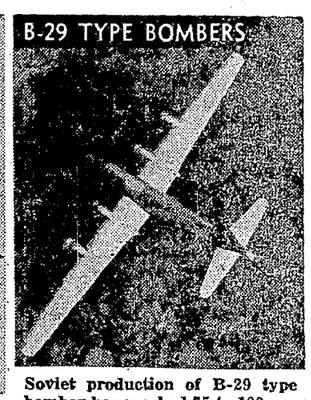
Is There Another War Scare Around the Corner

Latest figures indicate Russia and her satellites have 6,000,000 men under arms. U. S. officials say Russia alone has 170 combat divisions, her satellites 90 more.

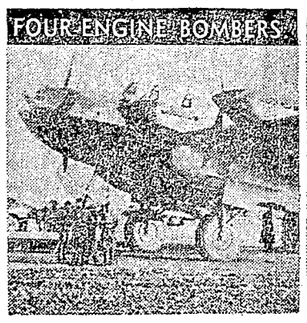


Aviation experts estimate Soviet Union has between 12,000 and 15,000 operative war planes.

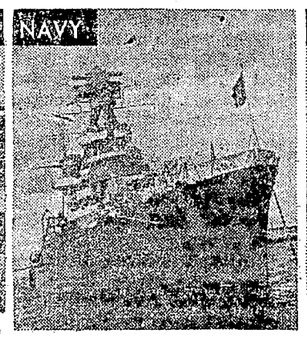


Soviet production of B-29 type bomber has reached 75 to 100 per month, says European expert. U. S. authorities believe this is too high.

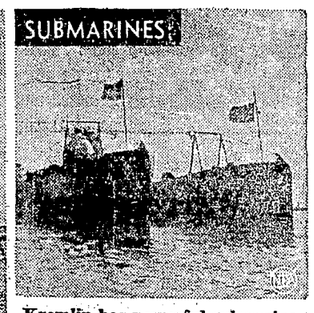
Foreign reports estimate Russia can put more than 1000 jet fighters into air at once. U. S. thinks figure is low.



Russia reportedly has from 750 to 1000 four-engine bombers. U. S. officials are skeptical.



Soviet navy is in no way comparable with that of the U. S.



Kremlin has powerful submarine fleet—bigger and better than that with which Hitler entered war. Strength estimated up to 300.

Will the cold war become warmer? That's a question which is confusing diplomats, government officials and Americans generally. In a major foreign policy address in Chicago, President Truman said the Russian threat was waning. Six days later, in support of his arms-for-Europe program, he told Congress the "massed might of the Soviet Union" was suc hthat it might again resort to the threat or use of force. Then the administration announced it would lay before Congress "secret intelligence reports" indicating Russia is arming for war. This newschart gives the latest estimates available on Soviet military power.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The fabric that's fast winning all-American fashion honors emerges now as champ in the field of summer sportswear.

That's nylon. It makes "taffeta" shorts, slip-ons and cardigans of "jersey," styled like those shown above, which dry quickly and can by-pass the ironing board on trips from and to the tennis court, golf links or beach.

Nylon taffeta shorts in black and other dark colors are smartly styled with cuffed legs.

'Baby Face' Burke Is Paroled

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 30—(AP)—"Baby Face" Mike Burke, who, as a youth, confessed the slaying of two men and terrorized this community, will be released from the Missouri state penitentiary next Tuesday.

He will have served nearly 18 years of a life sentence for murder.

In 1931, Burke, then 17 years old, was tried for the slaying of John Fisher, superintendent of Armour and company, in a holdup, and was acquitted on grounds of insanity. After serving for several months in a state hospital, he was released as sane.

After his release he was charged with the fatal shooting of John Brown, former constable, in a holdup. He had confessed the Brown slaying at the time he admitted the Fisher killing, and pleaded guilty to a charge of murder. He was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the Brown shooting.

Burke's escapades created tension throughout this area. He admitted more than 100 burglaries. His accomplishments included the hold up of a car's occupants as he rode alongside on a bicycle flashing a gun.

He was caught in the act of burglarizing the home of Emmett J. Crouse, then a state Senator and now a circuit judge.

When Burke's burglary confession was being obtained, a bill was pending in the state legislature to increase the St. Joseph police force to cope with crime spree here.

Col. Marvin B. Casteel, director of the state department of correction, said Burke plans to go to Iowa after his release to become employed in the floor sanding business.

Jewelry Cache In Rooming House

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30—(AP)—Oklahoma City police Friday reported finding thousands of dollars worth of jewelry in a rooming house following the arrest of two robbery suspects.

Police Inspector Roy Bergman said one of the men told officers most of it was taken in the burglary of a Salt Lake City, Utah, pawnshop two weeks ago.

Bergman said the pair was arrested at a downtown hotel after police received information they had a large amount of jewelry in their possession. Both denied knowledge of the jewelry, but it was found in a rooming house after police received another tip.

About a dozen Oklahoma City pawnshop tickets were found in the pockets of one of the men. He said he pawned several watches and rings here and also two movie cameras in Denver.

The found jewelry includes 105 diamond and gold rings, and 33 watches. Four pistols also were found in the rooming house.

Bergman said both men have prison records, one for burglary and the other for car theft. One gave his home as St. Louis, the other said he lived in Seattle, Wash.

Bergman said the pair also will be held for questioning in a series of two-man holdups here in the past two weeks.

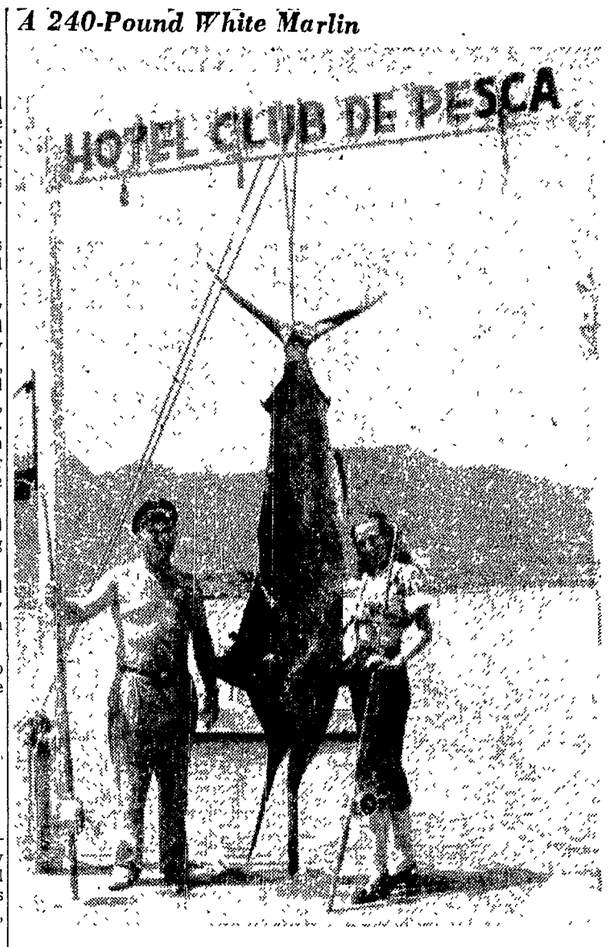
A 240-Pound White Marlin



Two visitors in Sedalia the past week brought a "fish story" to the Democrat-Capital office that they were really prepared to prove. They not only had the above picture of themselves with the fish, but also had an official certificate in recognition of their catch.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tiede, of Las Vegas, Nev., were the lucky fishermen. They arrived in Sedalia on Wednesday, July 20, for a visit with Mrs. Tiede's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMackin, of the Milner hotel, and left last Thursday.

Mrs. Tiede told of their vacation into Old Mexico a few weeks ago, where they make frequent fishing and vacation trips. They stayed at Acapulco, Mexico, a city on the Pacific Ocean far down on the Mexican shore.

It was on a trolling trip from this city that they caught the fish pictured above—a white marlin weighing 240 pounds, and measuring 9½ feet long. The marlin is a member of the swordfish family. The fish was caught July 15.

Troll Fishing

Mr. Tiede landed the fish along from the back of a small trolling vessel, in the ordinary manner of troli fishing. The bait used is a fish about eight inches long, with the hook sewed securely inside. The fisherman is bound just as securely to his chair in the back of the boat, because of the large and powerful fish that are sometimes hooked.

Mr. Tiede had the first strike about 12:15 o'clock, and an hour later the fish was ready to be taken into the boat. Three men assisted in getting it into the vessel, since the fish must be killed by harpooning because of its mean disposition and deadly "sword" snout.

The fish was then brought into the harbor at Acapulco, and the picture was taken under the sign of the Hotel Club de Pesca, where the Tiedes were staying on the trip.

Certificate Presented

The following certificate was presented to them in recognition of the catch. It is a large yellow diploma-type document, embellished with various na[illegible] signs and pictures, and has a large picture of a swordfish in the center. It read as follows:

"Club de Pesca de Acapulco, A. C.

"This is to certify that Mr. Larry Tiede of Las Vegas, Nev., caught a sailfish measuring nine (9) feet (6) six inches long and weighing 109 kilos—240 pounds.

"This catch has been duly recorded in the Fishermen's Union Official Sailfish Ledger.

"Acapulco, Mexico. 9th July, 1949."

CHICAGO, July 30 — (AP) — From last place came the pounding hoofs of Calumet farm's Ponder today to gallop to a rousing victory in the $87,750 Arlington classic ending Arlington Park's highly successful 36-day meeting.

Seemingly hopelessly last at the half-mile post, sixteen lengths behind, the plodding Ponder charged on to take the lead at the stretch turn in the mile and a quarter race. He flashed under the wire three lengths ahead of Admiral Lea, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, Chicago. It was the same margin by which Ponder defeated Capot in the Kentucky Derby.

Capot Is Fifth

Saint Nicholas, Brown Hotel stable entry, was fourth, six lengths behind Palestinian. Green Tree stable's Capot was fifth. John's Joy, owned by J. A. Kinard, Jr., was sixth and last.

Ponder's victory was cheeringly acclaimed by 32,047 spectators, largest crowd of the Chicago season. The colt went to the post 6-5 favorite and returned $4.40, $2.80, and $2.20. The race was almost a duplicate of his victory in the Kentucky Derby. His time was 2:03 1/5.

Bound Over to Higher Court

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. July 30—(AP)—George O. Wells, Jr., 26, of St. Joseph, Mo., today was bound over to district court on a first degree murder charge in the death of a circus performer.

The action came at the conclusion of a three-hour preliminary hearing in county court. Bond was set at $3,500.

Wells, a former dredge deck hand here, is charged with slaying Jesse Charles Dillard, who did a female impersonation act with the Rogers Brothers circus.

Dillard's body was found July 14 in an empty box car near the city dock. He had been beaten.

Wells did not testify in his own behalf. The principal testimony for the state was given by Sheriff Carl Ryder who said Wells admitted being in the box car with Dillard and striking him.

Dillard used the name "Jack Lopez" in his circus appearances. The FBI established his real name by fingerprint comparisons. Dillard at one time was a clerk-typist at the Veterans Administration hospital in Nashville, Tenn.

Fatally Hurt In Collision

CARROLLTON, Mo., July 30—(AP)—Carl Toomey, 19, of Braymer, Mo., was injured fatally today in the collision of his automobile with another driven by Johnny Robinson of Kansas City.

Robinson, who suffered serious injuries, including a fractured skull, was taken to the Veterans hospital at Wadsworth, Kas.

Toomey suffered fractures of the skull, both legs and internal injuries. He died in a Carrollton hospital.

Capt. O. L. Viets of the state highway patrol said that Iowa authorities radioed shortly before the accident, asking that Robinson be picked up for driving a car without the owner's consent. Vients said the request came from the Bloomfield, Iowa, sheriff.

Blast Dime A Dance Palace

ALICE, Texas, July 30—(AP)—Five men blasted a dime a dance palace with shotgun fire before dawn today, less than 24 hours after W. H. Mason, crusading radio commentator, had been slain.

The dance hall was unoccupied at the time.

DemocratsMay Have Trouble Over Meeting

If Committee Is Called To Choose A New Chairman

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Democratic leaders Friday faced the cheerless prospect of opening 1948 party wounds if a National Committee meeting has to be called to choose a new chairman

The present chairman, Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, has been offered the attorney generalship by President Truman He has not yet accepted

A Worrying Question

The question worrying party leaders is

Should an official call be addressed to the still legal members of the committee who opposed Mr Truman in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina last year, or to pro-Truman forces organized in those states since, but not yet officially ratified by the national group?

"It's a question, but we will meet it when it arises," said one official at party headquarters

There is a possibility that both groups would be invited to force a showdown on whether to replace members who supported the States Rights presidential ticket

Look To 1950 Elections

Meanwhile, President Truman and the Republican National committee took a long look toward the 1950 congressional elections Mr Truman was quoted by a visitor as desiring the election of a "forward looking Congress"

Republicans announced plans for a "kickoff" dinner for 1950 here next Thursday night after election of a new chairman of the GOP National Committee

Senator Brewster of Maine and Rep Hall of New York, heads of the Senate and House GOP campaign committees, said the dinner would be in honor of the party's national committee

The committee has been called to meet here earlier in the day to elect a chairman to succeed the retiring Rep Scott of Pennsylvania Walter S Hallanan, National committeeman for West Virginia, told a reporter today he believed no informal agreement on a successor would be reached before the meeting

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

A fur trim coat works magic on the wardrobe for the new fall season. This type coat has been scarce for the last few seasons and now the selection is wide. There is nothing more feminine than a large fluffy fox collar and especially white fox—particularly striking on pastel fabrics. Grey fox is better on the dark fabrics Squirrel in either grey or brown is being used for small collars, or to edge an odd-shaped one. A diamond-shaped collar fashioned from squirrel is especially attractive. Flat furs such as mouton, persian lamb and bombay lamb are smart on green, wine, black or grey—muskrat is good on brown, grey or the new neutral shade called "Dasha." Most of the fur-trims have loose backs with smart tailoring of yokes and gores

Good accessories properly selected bring out the quality of a fur-trim coat. The furs that I have mentioned are popular priced and they will fit the average budget. It is well to select your fur-trim coat early to get top furs and workmanship—then too, you can build your wardrobe around it so you will always be appropriately dressed.

Red Cross Corner

Miss Nina Larkin, Nursing Consultant for Missouri from Area office in St. Louis, was in the office of the Pettis County Chapter of the American Red Cross Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Larkin has just returned from 55 days of disaster service at Cape Girardeau, and while she was here she talked with many persons concerning the Chapter's disaster plan. She said this was the ninth tornado disaster that she had helped in rehabilitation and that no two were alike. Our plan covered a disaster as near as preliminary planning could do, she said.

The Board of Directors of the Pettis County Chapter met Thursday with Philip M. McLaughlin presiding. Miss Margaret Egan gave a report on the Junior Red Cross Work Shop that she had attended at Pittsburg, Kas. There will be a Junior conference at Warrensburg in September and Miss Egan hopes to take a group from Pettis county. Mrs. Henry Menefee and Mrs. Eula R. Spencer told the board about their experiences at the American Red Cross convention at Atlantic City the last of June. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 30—(AP)—Springfield won its way into the finals of the state American Legion Junior Baseball tournament tonight by edging Sedalia 5-4.

Ken Dolin sparked the St. Louis attack with five singles in six times at bat.

Kansas City Eliminated

Springfield eliminated Kansas City from the tournament earlier today, 10-4, in a losers' bracket game.

Card Try-Out Camp Soon

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (Special) July 30—Joe Mathes, director of the famous St. Louis Cardinal farm system, has announced that the large annual Red Bird try-out camp will be held at Sportsman's park here August 10, 11, 12, and 13.

All boys 17 to 23 years of age who would like the opportunity to have their playing abilities appraised by major league scouts are invited to turn out for the drills, which will start at 9 a. m. daily. Since the Cardinals do not supply such equipment as baseball shoes, gloves, or uniforms for their trial camps, those planning to attend are asked to bring their own. The Cardinals will pay all expenses incident to attending the camp for any players signing contracts.

Successful System

Mathes can point with pride this year to the success of the Cardinal farm clubs and their ability to produce. Of the 25 men now on the Red Bird "varsity," 23 are products of the Cardinal system. And as of July 19, 18 of its 21 clubs were in the first division of their respective leagues. Records of that type are unusual for such a large organization, and serve as some indication of the type training offered players in the Cardinal system.

Supervising activities here will be Red Bird scouts George H. Sisler, Jr., Joe Monahan, W. H. "Buddy" Lewis, George Silvey, and C. A. "Runt" Marr. All five men are veteran players and scouts, fully qualified to pass judgment on the players who will pass before them during the workouts.

All boys attending the camp will have an opportunity to participate in regular drills of fielding and throwing, and games between teams made up of the players at the camp.

It Pays to Marry

GELSENKIRCHEN, Germany—(AP)—A glassware factory here has promised a bonus of $15 to each of its employees who marries another member of the firm's staff.

Smithton Hornets Play Tipton Today

The Smithton Hornets will tangle with the strong Tipton ball club this afternoon at the Smithton park, with game time scheduled at 2:15 o'clock.

Either Donath or Johnson will be on the mound for Smithton. Both have had good records this year, as has the entire ball club.

Other probable starters for the Hornets will be Thomas, left field; Demand, first base; Landes, right field; Phillips, third base; Lamm, center field; Estes, short stop; Brown, catch; and Fairfax, second base.

A tight game is predicted, since the Tipton team also has had a good season.

Yanks' Lead To 3 1-2 Games After 9-2 Loss

As Indians Outslug Red Sox 10-6 In 10-Inning Thriller

By Ralph Roden

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP)—Casey Stengel's 59th birthday was anything but happy today as his New York Yankees took a 9-2 trouncing from the Chicago White Sox.

The Sox not only ripped Casey's ace, Vic Raschi, to shreds but they also cut the Yanks' American League lead over the Cleveland Indians to three and a half games. The Indians outslugged the Boston Red Sox, 10-6 in ten innings at Boston.

Chicago White Sox manager Jack Onslow, an old foe of Stengel's, shook up his lineup and the revamped batting order came through. Don Wheeler belted in five runs on a triple, double and single. Floyd Baker delivered three on a single, two walks and a fly out. Charley Kress pounded out three hits and scored four runs.

Bill Wight, a former Yank, started and received credit for his tenth victory. Wight is the first Chicago pitcher to win ten games since 1947. Ed Klieman, also an ex-Yankee, relieved Wight in the sixth and blanked the Yanks over the last four heats.

Four Runs in Tenth

The Indians pounced on Mel Parnell for four runs in the tenth with Ike Boone featuring the rally with a two-run homer. Boone got into the game in the eighth inning during a four-run Red Sox rally that tied the count at 6-6. Boone replaced Manager Lou Boudreau who was thumbed out during an argument. Mickey Vernon poled his 13th homer for the Indians in the sixth.

Dom DiMaggio of the Sox collected one hit in six trips to extend his consecutive batting streak to 26 games.

Tigers Trounce A's 11-0

Virgil Trucks pitched the Detroit Tigers to a five-hit 11-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Neil Berry with four hits, and Don Kolloway and Aaron Robinson with three each paced the Tigers' 19-hit bombardment of a trio of Athletic pitchers. Pat Mullin's triple during a six-run ninth-inning drive, was the Tigers' lone extra base hit of the game. The triumph was Trucks' 13th of the season.

Browns 11, Senators 9

The St. Louis Browns exploded for four runs in the eighth inning and went on to clip the Washington Senators, 11-9. Roy Sievers drove home three runs on a trio of safeties and Paul Lehner four on two blows to spark the Brownie drive. Joe Ostrowski, second of four St. Louis pitchers, was the winner and starter Paul Calvert the loser.

Phillies Win Two

The Philadelphia Phillies snapped their fourth place National League tie with the New York Giants, beating the Chicago Cubs twice as the Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds, 8-7, in ten innings.

Philadelphia took the opener, 4-3, and the nightcap, 9-1.

Russ Meyer checked his former Cub mates on five hits in posting his eighth triumph in the first game. One of the blows was Hank Sauer's 20th homer with a man on in the first inning.

The Phils broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh against Doyle Lade on singles by Dick Sisler, Bill Nicholson and Willie Jones. Nicholson had homered in the third to give the Phils a 3-2 lead.

Robin Roberts scattered eight hits in gaining his tenth triumph in the second game. The Phils sewed up the game in the fifth with a four-run rally against Johnny Schmitz and added four more in the ninth against Emil Kush.

Giants Win in Tenth

The Giants won out in the tenth when with two out Hank Thompson singled and Whitey Lockman tripled. The Giants overcame a 6-3 deficit with a four-run blast in the sixth inning that Sid Gordon featured with a three-run homer, his 21st of the season. The Reds sent the game into overtime with a run in the eighth.

A scheduled game between the Boston Braves and the Pirates in Pittsburgh was rained out.

An 80-Year-Old Card Fan Dies Of Heart Attack

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(AP)—An 80-year-old St. Louis fan, Anthony E. Fechter, suffered a fatal heart attack tonight during the Cardinal-Brooklyn Dodger game at Sportsman's Park. He was stricken about an hour after the game started while sitting in the bleachers with his daughter and friends.

Conservation Commission Explains Rules

Question Of How They Are Made Is Answered

The Missouri Conservation Commission has had numerous requests in past months on "How are the rules and regulations of the commission formulated?" The following story regarding this question has been compiled by the commission and is being told by its various conservation agents, and passed on to those of Central Missouri by agent William H. Stuesse.

Generally speakng, all the regulations in Missouri's Wildlife Cofe have three original sources: the public, the wildlife technicians and the enforcement personnel. These groups send in their ideas to the commission itself, which considers them, determines if immediate action is required and, if not, passes them on to a regulations committee for detailed study. The committee briefs and tabulates them, proceeds with any field or other investigations or hearings, gathers relevant data and information and finally prepares a recommendation which is submitted to Director I. T. Bode, who submits it to the commission for final action. At this time the tabulated summary of all ideas that have come in again goes before the commission so they may receive all suggestions regardless of the recommendations of the regulations committee.

An Example

To make it more simple, let's take an example. Suppose a sportsmen's club in Pettis county wants a change in fishing regulations and writes to the director. He submits their letter to the commission. The commission determines whether immediate action is required. If not, the matter is referred to the regulations committee of Assistant Director Jay Morrow, Fish and Game Chief Mel Steen and Field Chief Vernon Bennett. In this case, the committee calls in Dr. G. B. Herndon, chief of fisheries, to advise with them on the matter. If Doc has already talked to his field boys about conditions and no further studies or hearings are required, he analyzes the suggestion and makes his recommendations.

Then Vernon, or Red Bailey of the Protection Section, considers it from the enforcement angle; finally, the proposed change is mulled over from the public relations viewpoint. If further field study or hearings are indicated, these are then carried out.

If everything clears and the change is agreed upon, the revision is sent back to Director Bode, considered by the four commissioners—usually at the August meeting—and there given tentative approval, a final form is drafted by the commission's legal counsel, Lon Haymes, of Springfield, and brought up before the commissioners again at the September meeting, which is the time final changes are approved for the Code for the ensuing year.

Emergency Measure

If approved again, the measure then goes to the secretary of state for filing in accordance with law and is ordered printed in the Wildlife Code for 1950. In an emergency, a new regulation can be made legal in ten days but no one likes to do that; even with our fine newspaper cooperation, it's hard to get people acquainted with the change.

That's how suggestions from the public are handled but, of course, not all suggestions come from the public. Many of them are based upon the recommendations of biologists and zoologists, the technicians who make a career of studying our fish and game. These men will ask for regulations that are needed for good "management" of a species. For instance, if their studies show the population of bullfrogs is down, they'll ask for a lower bag limit or a shorter season. But their requests are treated exactly like those sent in by the public.

The field men send in a lot of recommendations, too, based upon their own experiences on the streams, lakes and hunting grounds.

All Suggestions Noted

Every suggestion gets attention, despite the large number coming in all the time. Each of them is noted by the commission, referred to the regulations committee and, condensed and grouped, again presented to the commissioners.

Public hearings are held over the state, too. Commission personnel have been sitting in on sessions with gigging associations since early spring, trying to work out a solution to that knotty problem. The commissioners hold at least half of their monthly meetings at points outside Jefferson City and hear a lot of delegations. Right now, hearings are going on with coon hunters associations, fox hunters and other groups.

But in the end, all proposed revisions or new regulations must meet one final test: Is it good game or fish management; is it for the greatest good of the greatest number of people.

Sport Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

IT appears, from rumors, the Sedalia Blues, Pettis County Post No. 16, Jr. American Legion baseball team, and the Sedalia Chiefs of Central Missouri Ban Johnson league, will have to carry the 1949 baseball season to completion. The Sedalia Athletics, it is reported, have turned in their uniforms and called it a year.

The Sedalia Athletic Association at the first of the season had an excellent idea on sponsoring sports. Various difficulties occurred during the season, and especially the lack of fan support disheartened not only the organization but the players. The club was, and is, entitled to far better financial support of local fans than it received, and if they should fold up now, maybe a better start can be made in 1950.

But Sedalians can still see some mighty fine baseball played at home. The Blues have been playing some hot teams this year and their record is far, far above the average. The Chiefs didn't do so well in winning the first half of the season, but the second half is producing a championship team. Certainly The Junior Legion has been turning in some excellent baseball and their games, as far as Sedalia's playing, have been worthwhile.

To put baseball teams on the field costs money—not chicken feed—but good old hard cash. Hench if Sedalia expects to carry on in baseball, then paying fan attendance is necessary.

BASEBALLS are rather costly these days. It seems the youngsters, hungry for baseball, are at it again—snitching a foul ball knocked over the fence, and then running. I am sure the parents of these boys don't approve of such action and if they knew where the ball their son is playing with came from—Papa would make him take it back.

The police patrol is being pressed into service again to try and stop such practices. We hope the boys stop of their own accord and not because a police officer is necessary to keep them honest.

IT is reported new lights are to be purchased for the Liberty Park baseball diamond, and the old ones will be placed at other parks, the Southeast Sedalia park especially, to give Sedalia a lighted softball park. This is something which is badly needed, as Sedalia has no such lighted park and there are several strong teams of this sport desiring to play night ball in Sedalia.

The Sedalia park board plans other improvements not only for Liberty park, but for Housel park in Northeast Sedalia. and Hubbard park in North Sedalia. The park system is excellent in Sedalia and should be maintained constantly.

Chiefs To Play Mexico Today

The Sedalia Chiefs will leave Cal Rodgers' station at 9:30 o'clock this morning to journey to Mexico for a league game with the Ban Johnson club of that city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Chiefs saved their ace hurler, Joe Imhauser, to pitch the Mexico contest, which will be a big feature game as the last of the year in that city.

Saturday night, the Chiefs downed the LaPatina B-J aggregation of Kansas City, 7 to 3, in an exhibition contest that went only seven innings because of a failure of the ball diamond lights. Gene May went all the way on the hill for Sedalia, with Phillip White and Carl Barbour doing the receiving.

Dr. J. Frederick Doering, interim chief administrator, said Skelton will become line coach for the football team, head basketball coach and will assist in track. He succeeds Warren Harris, who will become coach at the Edwardsville, Ill., high school.

The new assistant coach coached in high schools in Kansas, including Chanute, for a number of years before going to Kemper.

Snead Now Leads Western Open

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 30—(AP)—Sam Snead caught and passed the leaders in the third round of the Western Open Golf tournament today, firing a seven-under-par 65 in today's round for a 54-hole total of 201.

That figure put the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro one stroke ahead of Chick Harbet of Detroit, who wound up today with a 68, and a 202 total for 54 holes.

Lloyd Mangrum, who had been tied with Harbert for the lead at the start of today's play, had some tough luck on the 16th hole when his drive went into a trap, and turned in a 69 for 203 and third place.

Snead lost no time in starting his drive to overtake the leaders. He cut one stroke off par on the first hole, taking a three, and from then on never went over regulation figures. He was one under on four more holes of the first nine to make the turn with a 31, five under par.

Cards' Lead To 2 1-2 Games After 7-6 Win

Ninth Consecutive Win Comes After Two Runs In 8th

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals extended their first-place margin over Brooklyn to two and one-half games tonight by defeating the Dodgers 7-6 in a spine-tingling thriller, with catcher Joe Garagiola doubling in Glenn Nelson with the winning run in the eighth.

Enos Slaughter drove in Stan Musial with the tying run in the same inning. Musial had drawn a bases on balls.

The contest was witnessed by a sellout crowd of 31,614, who were on their feet most of the time as the high-flying Cardinals won their ninth straight gae, not counting two tie contests with Brooklyn this week.

The clubs will close their crucial series with an afternoon game tomorrow.

Dodgers Ahead in 7th

A four-run uprising in the seventh sparked by Jackie Robinson's two-run single to right put the Dodgers ahead 6-5. Pitchers Max Lanier and Ted Wilks were blasted out in the big inning.

Single by Tommy Brown, Bruce Edwards, and pinch hitter Roy Campanella and a base on balls accounted for two runs and sent Lanier to the showers. Robinson drove in the two scores with his single to right after Peewee Reese beat out a bunt for a hit. A force play at the plate and an outfield fly had left the bases loaded.

Red Munger came in and forced Gil Hodges to hit into a force play ending the inning.

Al Brazle is Winner

Al Brazle, the fourth Cardinal pitcher, was the winner.

The Redbirds forged into the lead 5-2 and kayoed Lefty Joe Hatten in the third. Hatten got the first two men out but Chuck Diering started things going with a triple to deep right center, scoring Lanier who had walked. Red Schoendienst singled home Diering and, after Musial walked, scored on a single by Nippy Jones. Hatten was relieved by Jack Banta after walking Enos Slaughter, and was greeted with a two-run single by Marty Marion.

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the third on three singles and an error. The inning started with successive singles by Brown, Edwards and Joe Hatten. Hattens' blow drove in Brown. After catcher Del Rice fumbled Peewee Reese's sacrifice bunt and Edwards was forced at the plate Carl Furillo hit into a force play, Hatten scoring.

Erv Palica, the last of four Dodgers who paraded to the mound, was the losing pitcher.

Diering Stars in Field

Diering brought roars from the crowd with several spectacular fielding plays. At the start of the ninth he sprinted far into left center for a great catch of Campanella's terrific drive. He made a shoestring catch that robbed Carl Furillo of a hit in the first.

Garagiola, a hero in his home town of St. Louis tonight, had been sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, and smacked his game-winning double to the right field screen as a pinch hitter. A pinch runner was sent in for him.

Presley Askew Succeeds Coach Lambert At Arkansas U.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 30—(AP)—A thorough "student of the game" with an impressive small high school coaching record was appointed head baseketball mentor at the University of Arkansas today.

He is Presley Askew, 38, who last season was an assistant to the man he succeeds, Dr. Eugene Lambert.

Lambert announced yesterday that he had resigned, after guilding Razorback Cage fortunes for seven years, to enter private business.

Broadmoor Tourney Into Finals Today

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 30—(AP)— Portly Jack Munger of Dallas and Claude Wright of Denver today earned the right to meet tomorrow in the final of the Broadmoor Invitational Golf tourney.

Munger gained the final with a two-up win over favored Matt Palacio of Wichita, Kas., two-time winner of the title.

Wright moved into the showdown bracket with a two and one upset victory over Fred Newton, fellow Denverite, who won the Broadmoor title in 1946.

Munger's win was the bigger of the two surprises as it halted a steadily good golfer who earlier ousted Dee Replogle of Oklahoma City, tourney medalist, in Thursday's round.

Blues Meet Raymore, Mo. At Housel Park

Sedalia Seeks 11th Victory; Visitors Have 17-2 Record

The Sedalia Blues will meet the Raymore nine this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Housel park.

The town of Raymore is located on Highway 71, between Harrisonville and Kansas City. According to reports, the club has a record of 17 wins against two defeats. The team has beaten teams such as Kansas City, Kas., Pratt, Kas., and teams of Kansas City.

The Blues will be shooting for their eleventh home victory today. The Blues have been hitting an average of .294, with the following hitting over the .300 mark: Slocum, Barnes, Barr, C. Poynter, Evans, and Sullivan.

Manager Reynolds of Raymore said he will use the following line-up today: King ss, J. Reynolds cf, Lane 1b, Jackson 3b, L. Reynolds lf, N. Suddath rf, Thomas 2b, L. Suddath c. and either Reevoldt or Bradford doing the pitching.

Blues Lineup

The Blues' line-up will be: Slocum ss, Sullivan rf, Barr 3b, Evans lf, C. Poynter 1b, Walls or Scott 2b, Barnes cf or C. Weller cf, Don Weller c, with either Turchek or Bob Rapp on the mound.

Wire has recently been placed along the first and third base lines so cars can park without danger of breaking glass in the windows.

Today will be the first time Raymore team has ever played in Sedalia, and with the two clubs' past records, this should be a rough contest.

Waitkus May Not Play This Year

PHILADELPHIA, July 30—(AP)—A thin, drawn Eddie Waitkus is asking himself this question these days:

"How good will I be after my bullet wound heals?"

The popular first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies would like to play ball again this year if only for a few games. He wants to prove to his own satisfaction that the bullet wound inflicted by a love-crazed girl in a Chicago hotel room hasn't dulled his ability as the best fielding first baseman in the National League.

But there appears only a slim chance that Eddie will play again in 1949.

He still has a drain in his back and visits the doctor several times a week for treatments. While his appetite has improved vastly, Waitkus hasn't gained much weight back. It looks like a slow, tedious trip back for the 28-year-old star.

The Phillies are counting heavily on Waitkus in their 1950 pennant plans. Club officials don't expect Eddie to play this year.

A spokesman said the Phils will be gratified if Eddie recovers sufficiently to make the final western trip with the club merely as a spectator and morale builder for the team's youngsters.

The spokesman explained it is in the morale departm ent that the Phillies sorely miss Waitkus.

Sedalia Wins Central Mo. Softball Title

N. Thompson Pitches Merchants To 3-2 Victory Friday

Norman Thompson, Sedalias' big right hander, pitched the Merchants into the Central Missouri Softball league championship, by beating Baker, Sweet Springs' ace pitcher, in a pitchers' duel Friday night by a score of 3 to 2.

Thompson allowed three hits, while his teammates were collecting four off the offerings of Baker, one of Central Missouri's leading pitchers.

Sedalia scored their three runs in the second inning on hits by Thompson, Paul Evans, a walk to Whittle and a hit by Klink.

Sweet Springs scored one in the fourth inning on two walks and a hit. Their second tally was a home run in the fifth by Mautz.

Thompson now has a season record of 13 wins and two losses, to put him among the best of Central Missouri softball hurlers. He pitched a no-hit, no-run game earlier in the season against Carrollton.

Play Tonight at Marshall

The Merchants still have one remaining game in the league with Marshall, to be played tonight. They are out to avenge the only defeat they suffered in the league play. Their league record is 8 wins and 1 loss, and their season record is now 18 wins against three losses.

The Merchants have entered the state district tournament to be played at Marshall the week of August 14. This is the third straight year that the Merchants have won the championship of the league. The team formerly played under the banner of the Sacred Heart Redbirds.

Sedalians have not had a chance to see the Merchants in action at home this season. The cost of burning the lights at the big diamond at Liberty Park prohibits any softball games to be played here, so the team has played all games away from home.

Outstanding Players

Much credit must go to Johnnie Swisher, who has filled in as a player on all positions on the team. The Merchants have such players as the veteran Omar Simon, catcher, Rocky Carver, third baseman, Junior Reams, first baseman, Charles Finnell, shortstop, Leo Richards, Lester Whittle, Paul Evans, Kenneth Tucker and J. J. Paxton, fielders. Frank Lueck, veteran second baseman, was lost to the team early in the season when he accidently lost a finger on his right hand while at work. Lueck has been assistant manager and coach since the accident.

Newcomers that have strengthened the team are Bud Michaelis, infielder, Bud Klink, infielder and pitcher, Mickey McNeal, and Jess Tuggle, infielder. The team is managed by Virgil Hogan.

The Merchants carry a team batting average of .293 into the State tournament. All players are to leave from 410 Wilkerson at 6:30 o'clock for the Marshall game.

Rifle Club Throws Rocks

HAMBURG, Germany —(AP)— Use of firearms by Germans except police is still banned by the military government so a Ruhr Rifle Club had a problem when the time came for their annual shooting match. The traditional bird-shaped target has been set up in a tree.

The marksman finally knocked it down by throwing stones. "Hope military government won't think we are practicing grenade throwing and prohibit this too," commented one member.

CHARLESTON, W. Ca.—(AP)—What does the locksmith's wife do when he is busy picking locks? She picks locks herself. That is, if she is like Mrs. Madelyn Judy, attractive wife of Charleston locksmith Reaburn Judy.

He likes to recall that shortly after their marriage, before he knew of her talent, he left her in charge of the shop while he was out on a job. Four allegedly pick-proof locks were in the shop at the time. When he returned they were pickproof no longer.

"A lot of people come into the shop with locks they want picked and ask for my husband," she said. "They seem surprised when I tell them I can do it."

'Vest-Pocket' Kitchen Unit Designed From Back Stairwell And Hall Landing

By Hugh Evans
Written for NEA Service

The "vest pocket" kitchen, miniature but complete, stationary but removable, which can be built into a shallow closet, window alcove or even a stairwell is the householder's ace in the hole today for turning rooms with no cooking facilities into a real home.

This problem of what to do about a kitchen can be solved by families whose search for homes wind up with rented cellars, one-room accommodations, or the upper stories of houses unequipped for cooking.

Proof that a vest pocket kitchen can be put in almost anywhere that provides enough space for cooking, dishwashing and refrigeration — even over a partially closed stairwell — is the H. V. Kaltenborn project which my brother Bill and I installed for this New York radio news commentator.

In this case, the need was for an easy-access upstairs "snack" kitchen which in our client's home was installed over the stairwell to supplement a full sized downstairs kitchen.

What was done here to convert a narrow hall, made narrower by a stairwell, into a "vest pocket" kitchen can be duplicated in kind by any householder whose crying need is for small-scaled, efficient cooking facilities.

In the Kaltenborn home, we made room for one small steel cabinet, a two-burner stove, a sink, a medium-sized refrigerator and a storage cabinet by taking the needed space from a narrow back hallway. This hallway forms the landing for the back stairs and serves as passageway between library and living room.

For the additional space needed for installing kitchen units an old storage cupboard was removed and flooring was built over part of the stairwell of the descending back stairs. This partition of stairwell was covered to provide a floor stout enough for the support of kitchen unit's weight. The flooring, however, did not interfere with stairway traffic or reduce the head room of stair climbers.

The stove refrigerator unit was anchored in place over the new flooring, and a cabinet was hung above. A hardwood natural finish board placed at the exposed end of the stove and attached accurely over the stair bannister served as an adequate work table.

Plumbing and electric wiring were connected to basement outlets and a three-plug electric outlet on the hardwood table top was added to accommodate electric toaster, grill or broiler.

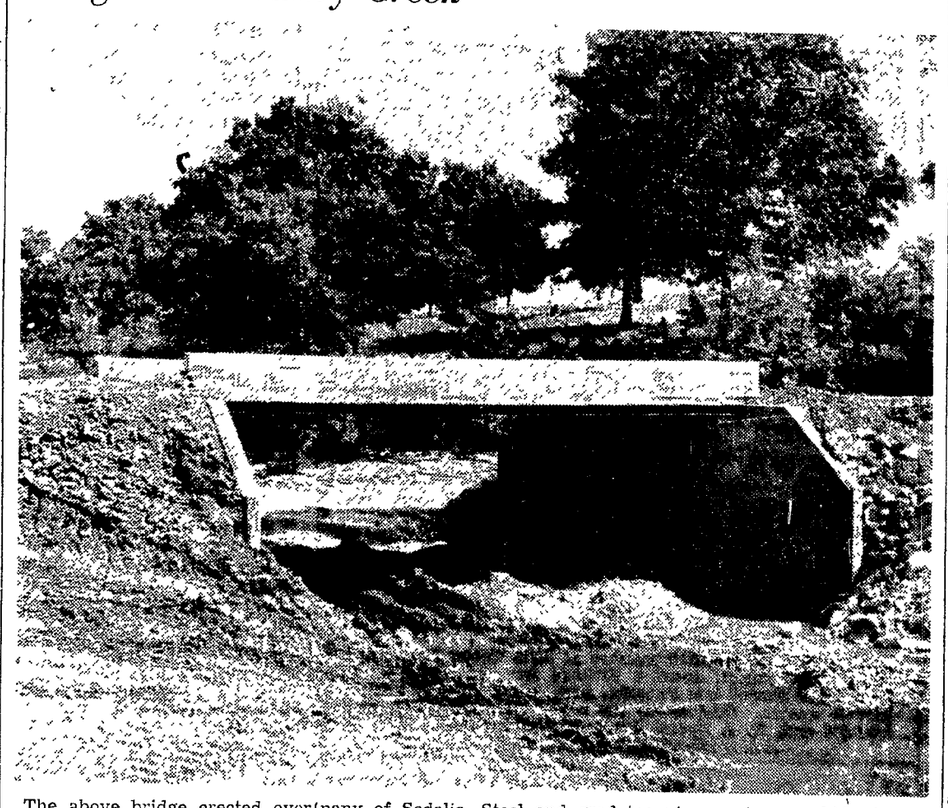
Bridge Over Brushy Creek



The above bridge erected over Brushy Creek, about four miles northwest of Sedalia, was recently constructed under King Bill Project 49-7. Included in this project is the graveling and grading of 2½ miles of dirt road near the bridge.

The bridge was constructed by the Howard Construction Company of Sedalia. Steel and grading was furnished by the 12-Mile Road District. Before a bridge of this type is build in conjunction with the King Bill Project, the county engineer and 12-mile road district superintendent make up the specifications and submit them to the state for approval. After approval is met by the state, the county court open bids for the construction.

When a bridge is completed, it is inspected by the state and county engineer, and if approved, the state submits its portion of the construction cost, as does the 12-Mile Road District to the county court, who in turn pays off the contractor.

Two Sedalia Musicians Into Business

Two Sedalia musicians have opened a music shop on the second floor of the Scott's Dollar store building with the entrance at 418½ South Ohio avenue.

According to the two partners, Harry Trotman, a former salesman for Hamilton Motors, and Marion "Jake" Siragusa, a former Sedalian but more recently of Alfred, N. Y., the shop will carry a full line of Selmer, Bundy and Frank instruments and will have a repair department equipped to take care of minor as well as major repair jobs.

The Harjak Music Company, as it will be known, is located in the front part of the second floor, with three sales and business rooms that is approximately 16x20 and a 10x20 repair, or work room.

Trotman said a large room on the third floor, that is about 30x60, will be used for a practice room for various musical organizations in Sedalia after pianos have been moved in and it is redecorated. The acoustics of this room, which are very important for practice as well as for concert productions, are good, he said.

"Jake" as he is known to his friends, started his professional music career playing around Bradford, Penn., where he played string bass with the symphony orchestra and played bass and sang with several dance units around his home town. Uncle Sam brought him to the S.A.A.F. in December '45, and while he was stationed at the base he became a member of the 757th A. A. F. band, under the direction of Thomas E. Wilson. "Jake" was active in music in and around Sedalia when he was here, playing in the Sedalia symphony, and was a member of several dance units including Cracker's Quintet and Harry Trotman's old dance band. He married a Warrensburg girl, Stella Swope, and when he was discharged they moved to Sedalia to make their home. He was employed at Central News Agency prior to his leaving to attend Alfred university in Alfred, N. Y., over a year ago. After returning to Sedalia last month he and Trotman began their plans for the business. Mr. and Mrs. Siragusa have two daughters, Toni Ann, 5, and Susan Carol, 2½.

Also at S.A.A.F.

Harry Trotman is also an alumni of the old S.A.A.F. and began his musical career in Haddonfield, N. J., a suburb of Philadelphia. Harry started his playing in 1935 and did considerable dance and orchestral work in and around Camden, N. J. He has studied with Donald S. Reinhardt, one of the leading brass instructors in the country. He was a student at Temple university, majoring in music, and a member of the S.A.A.F. for four years. Trotman was a flight instructor on C-47's and C-46's at the base and he later married Margi Duncan of this city. After he was discharged he formed his own dance band and was director of music in the Green Ridge high school for several years. The Green Ridge band went to the state music contest several years ago and won second place in the class D band division. Harry has been an important addition to the trombone section of the Sedalia Symphony the past five seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Trotman have a daughter, Beth Ann, six months.

L. A. Pharris Is With SCB

The adjustment and collection department of the Sedalia Credit Bureau will be in charge of L. A. Pharris beginning Monday, according to G. V. Jones, manager of the bureau's office, 301 South Ohio street, in the Third National bank building.

Until two years ago Mr. Pharris was manager of the Public Loan Corporation in Sedalia, then served in a similar capacity in the Brainerd. Minn., office. During that time Mr. and Mrs. Pharris maintained their home in Sedalia at 1005 South Missouri avenue.

This week Mr Pharris resigned his connection with the Public Loan in order to assume his new position in charge of the adjustment and collection department of the Sedalia Credit Bureau.

"We were Sedalia residents back in the late thirties before we went to Boston." Mr. Pharris remarked, "then finally got back here in the middle forties. Sedalia is our home, we hope, permanently. It'll take a tornado to blow us out of here again."

Three Youths Involved In Auto Thefts

Kansas City Boys Released To Parents Following Inquiry

Three juveniles, two thirteen years old and another fourteen, are being detailed for investigation by the City police in connection with the stealing of two automobiles, one in Kansas City and the other here in Sedalia. A fourth boy, who is from Kansas City, but visiting here, and who is fourteen, was permitted to go to his relatives' home.

The three Kansas City youths were returned to their homes by their parents, Saturday morning. As to the fourth boy, there was no evidence he was involved or had knowledge the cars were being stolen and was released. Juvenile authorities of Jackson county requested the boys be turned over to their parents and they would be contacted after they were returned home.

They were apprehended at Ninth street and Ware avenue about 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon after they had "ditched" the 1938 Ford tudor which they stole in Kansas City. The driver, who is fourteen, was doing his utmost to get the engine started when Chief of Police Ed Neighbors and two of his officers drove up in front of him and took charge.

Sedalia Car Involved

At police headquarters the boys were questioned regarding the taking of the Sedalia car, a Dodge sedan of C. R. Lind, of 1422 South Grand avenue. The car was stolen from near Broadway and Warren avenue and two of the boys denied any knowledge of it. But two others said they remembered a second car, and one of the younger of the group told the officers he thought he could show him where it was.

Taking a ride in the patrol car, the boy directed them to 412 West Fifth street, where the car was found parked. It was later returned to the owner. Two boys denied any knowledge of the car while two others admitted it was taken.

A Third Car

A third car, belonging to Leonard Swope, 1301 East Boonville, which was on a parking lot at Main street and Lamine avenue, was the subject of an attempted car theft by a youth wearing overall pants and a blue shirt. This car, a Chevrolet coach, was run into the rear of a 1941 Mercury belonging to N. H. Lewis, Dean apartments. Police were called to the scene and arrived just in time to see the youth running up the alley toward Massachusetts and when they reached Massachusetts avenue, the boy had disappeared.

The Kansas City car was stolen from near Thirty-Fourth street and Warwick avenue, sometime about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, the boys told the police. They said they drove out 40 highway to highway 13, then back to highway 50 and into Sedalia and later met the fourth boy.

Keys Were In Car

The car belongs to Elmer Dungan, 3213 Lockridge avenue, Kansas City, who did not notice his car was missing until after the noon hour.

The boys said the keys were in the car which "invited them to 'borrow' it for the trip to Sedalia."

Mr. Dungan accompanied by his wife arrived in Sedalia, early Saturday morning and claimed his car. The car had two damaged fenders, and a clutch burned out from the time it was stolen until it was recovered.

Drew Pearson Should Testify Says Maragon

Demands Pearson To Furnish Specific Evidence On Charge

By Roger D. Greene

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Dapper John Maragon, an ex-bootblack who once had a White House pass and auto parking privileges, demanded Friday that columnist Drew Pearson be called to testify in the Senate investigation of "five percenters."

Pearson Would Be Delighted

"I should be delighted to testify," Pearson replied in a statement.

Maragon said Pearson accused him in a July 20 column of being "not only a five percenter but a 50 percenter."

The 56-year-old Malta-born Jack of many trades—he won't say what he is now—emerged beaming from a closed-door session of the Senate's special investigation subcommittee headed by Senator Hoey (D-NC).

The Senate group is looking into allegations that persons claiming to have influence with government officials have been telling businessmen they could get fat government contracts in return for a percentage fee.

Maragon, who used to ply his shoe-shine trade in Kansas City and met President Truman there, talked to newsmen after being questioned for the second time in less than 24 hours by Senate investigators.

With a big smile, he said:

"Not Mad At Anyone"

"I am happy. I am not mad at anybody. We just talked about my personal affairs. I am happy to be here. When you have been accused of being a five percenter or a 50 percenter, you want to straighten it out."

He said he had asked the Senators to hale Pearson before the subcommittee and demanded that the columnist be required to furnish specific evidence of his charges against Maragon.

"What did they say, John?" a reporter asked.

"That," said Maragon, "is for them to say."

A girl reporter then asked: "Well, what did the committee want to know?"

"Honey," Maragon smiled, "that is something the committee will have to tell you."

Asked if he had given the committee any clues about "five percenters" operating in the nation's capital, Maragon replied:

"How could I give them any clues when I am not in a position to ascertain any?"

He said, however, that he doubted the committee would call him back for more secret testimony.

About 100 Chinese Take Control To Enforce Back Pay

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—More than 100 Chinese seized control of the American consulate general office in Shanghai Friday to enforce back pay demands against the U. S. Navy, the State Department reported.

An official dispatch to the department said the Chinese invaded the offices at 7.20 a.m. (Shanghai time) locked the gates at 3 30 p. m. and prevented the consulate staff from entering or leaving.

Police Refuse To Intervene

The department was advised that the police flatly refused to intervene and that the Communist military control commission's alien affairs bureau also failed to take action to restore order.

The report came from the consulate general. John M. Cabot is the consul general at Shanghai but officials said they did not know whether he was present personally. He has been trying to return to the United States by plane with Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

Earlier in the week the State Department spoke of "difficulties" the Communists were putting in the way of Stuart's arrangements to leave.

Former Shanghai Employes

The besiegers were described as former Shanghai employes of the Navy which pulled out of that port before the Communists occupied the city late in May. They are demanding pay for the period since their jobs ended, plus separation and other bonuses.

The State Department was advised that American officials, under authority from Washington, have proposed a settlement known to be acceptable to more than half the claimants. They had been requested by the Communist aliens affairs bureau to defer the proposal.

"Tight Town" Policy Hasn't Hurt K. C.

OMAHA, Neb., July 30—(AP)—A "tight town" policy hasn't hurt business in Kansas City, Chief of Police H. W. Johnson of Kansas City said in an interview here Friday.

Johnson is in Omaha to help examine Omaha police seeking advancement in grade.

The Kansas City police head said Kansas City is "tighter than tight" on gambling and prostitution, but the population has continued to climb. At the same time, he said, there has been a 13 per cent decrease in the city's crime rate in the last two years.

"Some people argue that you attract visitors and promote business when you open up a town. That's a lot of hooey," Johnson said.

Sedalia Sisters Sing in The Church Noted for Weddings

If they are former Sedalians you can't get within a block of them without knowing it, because they are going to tell you.

A man who was in Sedalia on business recently told about three Sedalians who worked for the same company that he did in another city and everybody that knew them knew that Sedalia was their old home town.

"No matter where we go," the husband of a former Sedalia girl said once, "she is sure to run in to somebody from Sedalia and that means at least an hour."

So it isn't any wonder when a group of former Sedalians get together they have the time of their lives.

In a letter to Sedalia friends here Mrs. William Shackelford, who formerly lived at 910 West Third street, but who left here less than a year ago for LeRoy, Minn., told of a recent visit there by Mrs. Frank Meyer, daughters, Misses Frances and Mary Helen, and sister, Miss Grace Duncan, of Kansas City, who are also former Sedalians.

Visit Church in Vale

Among the things enjoyed by the former Sedalia group was a visit to the Little Brown Church in the Vale at Nashua, Ia., which was made famous by the song and has now become a Gretna Green with weddings one after another all day long. To be married in the little church costs five dollars and the minister is then paid whatever the bridegroom cares to give him. The minister and his wife are a very charming couple, Mrs. Shackelford said, and the quaint little church is in a pretty and peaceful setting. Each couple rings the bell as they leave the church.

Meyers Sisters Sing

Shortly after the former Sedalians reached the church the seventh couple that day arrived to be married. Mrs. Shackelford had told the minister that the Meyer girls sang so they were asked to sing at the wedding. Knowing the Meyer girls as all Sedalians know them, ready and willing to give of their talent at all times, they of course, consented to sing. The fact that Frances was in a blue house dress with no hose and Mary Helen wore a yellow house dress with yellow bobby socks didn't keep them from singing at the wedding.

The couple chose the song, "Because," and the girls sang, accompanied by the minister's wife.

Making up the dignified audience on the back pew of the church were Mrs. Shackelford, Mrs. Meyer and Miss Duncan, also in house dresses.

The young couple then asked to take pictures of the wedding party and asked for the names and addresses of the members of the group. The minister then wanted the girls to sing: "I Love You Truly," which they did, and as they started off the eighth couple arrived for another wedding, but the ex-Sedalians did not stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Shackelford moved to Le Roy to be near their son and daughter after Mr. Shackelford's retirement last August from Swift and company. They like it there very much now, but it still isn't Sedalia. "But," wrote Mrs. Shackelford, "Won't we have a lot to talk about this winter?" referring to the visit of the Meyer family and Miss Duncan, and then added: "We do keep up with what is going on in Sedalia, the building, improvements, births, deaths, etc., through the Sedalia Democrat."

Work Brings Same Things As Riches

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — (AP) — People sometimes say:

"The only way you can get in the newspapers is to hold up a drug store or elope with a movie star."

So today I'd like to tell you the story of a simple heart—the story of "Mrs. Van." She is a fine old lady who never robbed a bank or ran against Harry Truman for President.

"But I've had a wonderful life," she said. It might not seem so to some people, but it does to her.

She has a long Dutch name, but she is shy and asked me not to use it. So I'll just call her "Mrs. Van"—as everybody does.

Mrs. Van is a practical nurse. She is white-haired and 63, but her skin is as fair as milk. I got to know her when she came to stay with a young neighbor couple expecting their second child. She would only accept $10 a week.

When the baby came, the young mother said:

"Do you know what Mrs. Van did with half of her first week's pay? She bought me flowers."

Money doesn't mean much any more to Mrs. Van. But being helpful does.

She likes the younger generation—and disapproves of it.

"I don't think they can face life as we did," she said. "They don't have discipline. If I had lived as young girls do today I would never have been able to confront the problems I met with in my married life—no, never."

Moved in Schoolhouse

Mrs. Van was born in Holland and married a carpenter at 21. They had five children when he came to the United States to found a new home here. It was just at the time America entered the first world war, and for two years we couldn't send money back to his family.

"I had to move into an abandoned schoolhouse," said Mrs. Van. "We had no breakfast, and the children took a carrot or a turnip to school. For lunch we had potatoes, and I saved the peelings and cooked them for supper.

"The neighbors felt sorry for us, but I was happy. We were all together—the children and I—and we were healthy."

After the war she and the children came over, and the family settled in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Van had twins at the age of 39, and one died. Later her husband lost his mind. He spent five years in a mental institution before his death, and Mrs. Van had to support the family.

"I didn't know the language well," she said. "So I had to work as a scrubwoman and do washing. Then I studied the language with the children and I became a practical nurse. But I never was in want of a job."

"Now the children don't want me to work. They say I worked all my life for them, and now I should rest. But I like to help where I can."

She has a serene faith that never faltered in her long years of trouble.

"You just have to have courage and responsibility," she said. "Without courage there is nothing."

Mrs. Van has no desire to revisit Europe.

"Here if you work you can have the same things as the rich man," she said. "You can't over there. You don't even buy your groceries at the same store."

She is sturdily indifferent to the present plight of the world.

"I believe the Lord will have to come and settle it," said Mrs. Van. "And the way the world is going, I don't think it will be long.

"There is an awful tribulation coming, but it won't get me. The Lord will come and take me away first. He will take care of his own."

Asks For Arms Aid

Secretary of State Dean Acheson tells the House foreign affairs committee that the U. S. should begin promptly to help rearm western Europe because "the possibilities of direct military aggression" by huge Soviet forces cannot be ignored. He asked approval of the administration's drive for $1,450,000,000 arms aid program. (AP Wirephoto)

MOSCOW—(AP)—Howard Fast's book, "The Road to Freedom" has been published here in Russian. Reviewing it "Culture and Life" said it "has the force of an indictment of the whole social and political structure of contemporary America."

Knob Noster State Park Popular—

"A man's best things are nearest him," would apply to Knob Noster State park, 20 miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50, which is no distance at all these days of the automobile.

Annually the Democrat-Capital staffs and their families have a picnic. This year the committee decided to use the State park. Only a handfull of the 120 men, women and children had ever been inside the park though they had driven by the entrance a half mile west of Knob Noster many times.

A huge shelter house, equipped with oven, tables, running water; lake nearby, and clean comfort stations surprised the visitors. This recreational area of winding roads, beautiful trees and well-kept grounds has been developed rapidly.

The park is equipped for group camping in a manner similar to that of Cuivre River and Lake of the Ozarks State parks, and is used by Girl Scouts and similar non-profit organizations during the camping season. All camps are equipped with modern conveniences, and the public use area where the Democrat employees had the picnic there are tables, benches, shelters, ovens, barbecue pits, water, sewer and electric lights.

One can also imagine what a delightful place this is for steak frys, and weiner roasts come fall weather.

People of Central Missouri who have never visited this park should drive through it, stop at the parking grounds in the picnic area and roam around through the grounds just to see what they have been missing right under their noses.

—O—

Streets, East-West; Avenues, North-South—

Sedalia's north-south main business thoroughfare is commonly referred to as Ohio street. This is incorrect. Ohio is an avenue. Lamine is not a street; it, too, is an avenue.

In fact, and it is something easy to remember, north-south thoroughfares in Sedalia are designated avenues and all these avenues have names. Generally speaking the east-west streets from Main street on south are numbered. There are exceptions like Main street, Walnut, Wilkerson, and Broadway.

There is a real First street and a First Terrace, both intersecting State Fair boulevard south of Main street, sometimes called First street.

This information is repetitious, but sometimes the obvious needs repeating, especially so now the new street signs are attracting attention and performing a very good service.

—O—

Law Library—Keep Out!—

Certain tolerance should be allowed when making rules. Sooner or later hard and fast rules are broken, either intentionally or unintentionally.

The weather was unbearably hot during sessions of the June grand jury so the regular jury room was abandoned and the men moved to the cooler law library for two of their sessions. None seemed to notice the fine print on a placard attached to the law library door which read:

"No individuals, organizations, societies, groups or kindred associations of any type shall be permitted to hold meetings, conferences, gatherings or the like in said library.

By Order of the County Court,
27th of June 1940."

—O—

Three Words Need A Permanent Home—

"Prudent financial management," was an expression used by President Truman in an address to the people of the nation. He says he believes in it. This is reassuring because there had been slight suspicion currently that practice in governmental affairs of this well deserved objective has not dovetailed with the theory.

In the family of words, prudence, frugality and economy are close relatives. We hope they become welcome visitors in the administration household. Indeed they have been victims of the housing shortage these many years. May their sojourn in Blair House, though temporary, be continued in the remodeled White House when moving day comes.

—O—

A Fall Not In The Script—

There is a certain inevitability about time and circumstance. Whoever thought that glamorous Mae West of the '20s would find herself "sick, sore, lame and disabled." Yet that is her 1949 status according to an action in court against a New York hotel for $250,000 as result of a bathroom fall. The accident forced closing of the play she was in.

Two years ago I sat within "arms length" of Mae in a New York theatre. She and her escort had slipped in quietly and taken a seat in the rear. She had just returned from a foreign trip. How her presence became so quickly known is a mystery but soon there was a buzz in the audience and many autograph hounds got to work, more interested in Mae than the play they had paid to see. The unexpected attention caused Miss West and her companion to slip away as quietly as they slipped in.

—O—

A news item reports the dados in the Pettis County Court house have been painted york buff. "Serves them right," says the court reporter, "only they shoulda daubed those foreigners with yellow."

Many Catholics Do Not Approve Cardinal Spellman's Criticism Of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — What may have been a significant conference was scheduled in New York this week between Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, who called on Cardinal Spellman.

What they planned to talk about is not known. But it is known that on the preceding evening, when the distinguished prelates from Chicago and Detroit attended a preview of the motion picture, "Come To The Stable," they did not appear happy over Cardinal Spellman's attack on Mrs. Roosevelt.

This brings up a highly important point now widely asked in both political and denominational circles, namely—did Cardinal Spellman speak for the Catholic church or only for himself when he wrote his letter to Mrs. Roosevelt?

The answer, according to lay Catholic leaders and to Catholic newspapermen, may lie in the fact that Cardinal Spellman is not popular with various of the Catholic hierarchy. Catholic leaders interviewed this week pointed out that Spellman has jurisdiction only over the New York metropolitan area, excluding Brooklyn which is under the jurisdiction of Bishop Molloy.

They also pointed out that, despite this, the New York cardinal has shown great dexterity in placing his own friends in certain key spots where they can influence church policy. Recently, he appointed one of his proteges, Father Thomas J. McCarthy, to be chief of the National Catholic Welfare Conference Information Bureau which distributes news to all Catholic papers.

Another of Spellman's proteges, J. Francis McIntyre, was appointed archbishop of Los Angeles, an appointment resented by many Southern California Catholics where the population is largely Italian and Mexican and not appreciative of an Irish clergyman all the way from New York. This is the first time an archbishop has been appointed to that area who could not speak Spanish.

First American Pope—

Some years ago, Spellman wrote a speech for Jimmy Roosevelt to deliver at Springfield, Mass., in favor of the child labor law—a law opposed by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Spellman had served under O'Connell as his auxiliary bishop, and when Spellman was promoted to be archbishop of New York, a Catholic newspaperman congratulated Cardinal O'Connell. The much-loved prelate did not reply immediately. Finally, with a note of sadness, he said:

"Francis epitomizes what happens to a bookkeeper when you teach him how to write."

Many of the Catholic hierarchy have felt that Cardinal Spellman's frequent visits at the White House, his widely publicized magazine articles, and his various trips to Europe were part of a campaign to make him papal secretary and later the first American pope.

It is recalled that when the American cardinals-designate went to the Vatican to receive their red hats, Spellman alone was kissed by the pope. At that time, the late Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis remarked to Congressman Joseph Casey of Massachusetts, who accompanied him to Rome:

"I hear Spellman wants to be papal secretary. He'll have us all in hot water."

That, many Catholics fear, is now what has happened. They point to the constantly growing Ku Klux Klan and to the zooming sales of Paul Blanshard's book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power." The book received almost no reviews in the press, while even advertisements were banned by the New York Times. Nevertheless, the book has gone into its fifth printing since Cardinal Spellman's blast against Congressman Barden of North Carolina. And since his attack on Mrs. Roosevelt, the sales have skyrocketed.

All of which is why, in fairness to all Catholics, it should be noted that Cardinal Spellman appears to represent only one segment of his church.

Gore Celebrates—Tennessee Loses—

Congressman Albert Gore of Tennessee celebrated his victory over the Brannan farm plan at a drinking party in his office. One of the most jubilant guests was Tom Hitch, president of the Tennessee Farm Bureau, who promised to support Gore for the Senate if he would help defeat the Brannan plan.

NOTE—What wasn't mentioned at the celebration party was that Gore's action will cost Tennessee $71,331,824 in lost farm subsidies.

DDT Can Now Help Fight Once Dread Yellow Fever

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

North America has suffered repeatedly in the past from yellow fever (also called yellow jack) which was brought in from the West Indies by ships.

Between 1668 and 1821 there were about 20 epidemics in Philadelphia, 25 in New York, eight in Boston and seven in Baltimore. In 1793 an epidemic in Philadelphia took 4044 lives and 3900 more in 1803. In 1803 there was an epidemic in New York with 608 deaths.

In recent years yellow fever has apparently existed only in South America, Africa and Panama east of the Canal Zone. This terrible disease has been cast out of our continent because it was learned that it is carried by a mosquito. Dr. Carlos Finlay, a Cuban, in 1881 was the first to announce the theory that the mosquito spread yellow fever.

By 1900 the Yellow Fever Commission of the U. S. Army had clinched the case against the mosquito now known as Stegomyia fasciata. This commission was composed of Drs. Walter Reed, Carroll, Agramonte and Lazear.

Direct Connection

Their studies showed the direct connection between the bite of the mosquito when infected and the development of yellow fever in the person bitten. In the course of their studies, in which they allowed themselves to be bitten, Lazear lost his life from the disease and Carroll suffered a severe attack.

Screening of living quarters and active measures to destroy all mosquito breeding places were begun. In less than a year a sanitary specialist, named Gorgas, was able to rid Havana of yellow fever.

Now DDT and other insect killers can be used to aid in the battle against the disease in South America and other areas still in danger.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

QUESTION: Is a lump in the groin which gets larger and smaller a rupture? Could it be cancer?

ANSWER: It is extremely unlikely to be cancer if it changes in size. It is impossible to tell from the description whether it is a rupture. It could be a lymph gland, since there are many lymph glands in the groin area.

American Wives Don't Need Apron-Strings on Husbands

Are American husbands tied to their wives' apron strings?

An Englishman recently returned to London after being a guest of Uncle Sam, claims they are. He bases his pitying accusation on the fact that on a Sunday afternoon the American husband piles his wife and children into the family automobile and off they go for an afternoon's outing.

On the other hand, according to the critic of American family life, on a fair Sunday the British husband goes out for a solitary stroll or joins some male companions in a bar.

Granting that the Englishman's observations are sound, it doesn't follow that he has reached the right conclusion.

There may be a better reason why the American husband spends much of his leisure time with his wife and kids than that he's hopelessly tied to his wife's apron strings . . . and I think there is.

Why Pop's Happy, Though Married

American wives make a great effort to be companionable to their husbands.

They get taken along where their husbands go, because they are good sports who have learned to enjoy the same kind of recreation as their men.

If Papa is a baseball, fan chances are Mamma is just as fond of relaxing at a ball park.

If Papa likes to fish, chances are Mama has learned to sit still and keep quiet hour for hours at a time.

If Papa is a golfer, Mama has very likely been taking lessons from a pro. And so it goes.

As a matter of fact, the American wife has made herself so companionable to her husband that often she's the one who it tied down.

Far from wanting to be alone the American husband with a companionable wife has a fit if she plans to go to a bridge party on his afternoon off, or if he comes home from work to an empty house.

When an old buddy happens to be going through town the American husband doesn't say "I'll meet you at a bar." He says, "Come on out to the house for dinner. I want you to meet my wife."

And he couldn't be pried loose from his easy chair to take a solitary walk—as any wife wanting to run a vacuum cleaner over the living-room rug well knows.

The American husband is a family man, not because he's tied to Mama's apron strings, but because he likes it.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, has been extended an invitation to occupy the pulpit of the Lindell avenue Methodist church in St. Louis while the regular pastor is on vacation.

Dr. T. P. McCluney, formerly of Sedalia, now of Warrensburg, was in the city last night to hear Kryl's band at the Chautauqua.

Fred L. Hoxie left for Seattle, Wash., in the interest of the Worrell Manufacturing company of this city.

A severe windstorm struck Sedalia early this morning but no serious damage resulted. It followed an unusually heavy rainfall for July.

O. F. Fowler, chief dispatcher for the M. K. & T., left for McAllister Springs to take a few days' rest.

W. T. Grow, a former Sedalian, now of Galveston, Texas, is here for a brief visit while on his way to California.

• Barbs

It may be more than a coincidence that the arch criminal seldom is caught flat-footed.

A robber in Oregon who used hook and line to fish money from dressers is no sportsman. He never throws back the small ones.

The most frequent color in animals eyes is brown. The green-eyed monster just has to be different.

Jewlers are to hold a convention in a western city. Oh, goody, youngsters—another gem session.

There's no agreement that marriage is a 50-50 proposition until the golden anniversary is finally reached.

A Kentuckian who lived past 100 has never seen an auto. It was thought unnecessary to ask the usual question about the secret of his longevity.

• Social Situations

SITUATION: You and your husband accept a dinner invitation.

WRONG WAY: Wait several months before inviting the couple who entertained you to have dinner at your house.

RIGHT WAY: Return the hospitality promptly enough so that the couple will feel that you enjoyed the evening and really want to see them again.

SITUATION: A friend tells you she is considering decorating with a certain color which you dislike.

WRONG WAY: Say, "Oh, don't use that color. I think it is hideous."

RIGHT WAY: Keep your own personal taste to yourself. If you express a strong dislike for something a friend likes she will either have to give up the idea that pleases her or know that you think she has poor taste.

• REFUGE

THE STORY: Mrs. Everson, a rich widow, believes that an atomic war is pending that will mean the end of the world. So she has equipped two trailers and has set out with her servants and a companion, the Marchese Dellacasa, to reach a place of safety. Where this place is, no one but Mrs. Everson knows. Mrs. Margaret Malone, who was hired along the route to replace a cook who left because she thought Mrs. Everson was crazy, has already regretted her choice and has tried to run away. But she is checked by the Marchese who persuades her to stay. Also in the party are the chauffeur, Rudy, a former movie star, and Victor, a Filipino houseboy. Mrs. Malone finds Mrs. Everson very demanding and at breakfast she is touchy and temperamental.

THE Marchese was having his breakfast in the kitchen of the trailer. He had opened the window and a smart breeze lifted his hair. Head back, eyes closed, he took a deep breath of the desert air.

"Wonderful morning," he said exhaling and opening his eyes again. "Aren't you glad to be alive, Malone?"

"Yes, sir. Very."

Mrs. Malone hurried back with the orange juice. Just as she reached Mrs. Everson's room, the road curved and the trailer swayed sharply. Mrs. Malone staggered, clutched for support, let the glass fall. It shattered on the floor, splattering.

"You fool!" Mrs. Everson shouted.

She seized a napkin and threw it at Mrs. Malone.

"Hurry! Wipe it up before it ruins the carpet!"

"I'm sorry," Mrs. Malone gasped, on her knees. "I'll get some more."

"I don't want it, now. You're an awkward fool! Get out of here. And stay out until I ring."

Flushed and angry, Mrs. Malone went back to the kitchen. Had the trailer stopped, she would have stepped out then and there.

The smooth speed was maintained, hour after hour. There were few variations in the landscape that flowed past the windows. Occasionally, a distant table-land appeared, wheeled, disappeared. The sun climbed, implacably brilliant. Mrs. Malone busied herself in the kitchen, put her own room to rights, then straightened up the salon.

She was astonished to find small paintings set in the wall. One—a white horse rearing—was signed Chirico. Another held her puzzled for a long time. There was no signature. Only a blanched cow's skull, and a datura in full bloom. She had seen such skulls in the desert, and such flowers in the semi-tropical gardens along the coast near the sea. But never had she seen them together like this: the skull dry in death, the flower oily in life, yet strangely similar in form, in whiteness.

She remembered suddenly what the Marchese had said about things being associated that never were before. Faintly, she understood what he meant.

* * *

SHE turned away from the painting to look at the books. Joe had been a great reader. He was always reading and calling out to her: "Come here a minute Margaret. Listen to this." Kipling. Conrad. Long passages from "Puck O'Pook's Hill" or "Lord Jim."

Mrs. Everson's books were not familiar: Mrs. Malone ran her finger along the titles, but recognized none of them. Nor had she heard of the authors: Gide, d'Annunzio, von Hofmannstahl, Mallarme, Wilder, Bemelmans, Rousseau. One shelf was all French and Italian. There were large, thin volumes of maps, scientific works, sociology.

"To heck with it," Mrs. Malone said aloud.

She enjoyed being alone in the room, free to examine the amazing ingenuity of its designers. Lifting what appeared to be a table-top, she discovered beneath it a miniature piano. There was a sturdy safe, too, built into the end of the sofa.

* * *

AT 11 o'clock, the Marchese came from his room. He wore gray flannel slacks, a short-sleeved sweat-shirt and, as before, a silk muffler. He was carrying a very shiny and beautiful flute. Sitting crosslegged on the sofa, he lifted the instrument, adjusted his lips and began to play a sad, off-key tune.

"I'm sorry to interrupt, sir," Mrs. Malone said, "but I've had no orders for lunch."

He paused long enough to say: "Salad. Any kind." Then returned to the plaintive melody, which he played over and over. Her teeth on edge, Mrs. Malone shut herself in the kitchen and concocted what Joe called her Missouri salad: hard-boiled eggs, crisp bacon, lettuce and mayonnaise.

At noon the insistent speed slackened, the brakes were applied and the trailers came to a stop at a filling station. From the window Mrs. Malone saw the attendants, young fellows wearing oil-stained uniforms with their names Sam and Bob chain-stitched above the breast pockets. They were squinting up at the trailer, open-mouthed. Behind them the usual pumps and a sudden sharp smell of gas.

Mrs. Malone said to herself: "Here's where I get off!" She wouldn't wait to pack her suitcase again. She'd just take her purse and her coat and beat it into the service station restroom. They'd drive off without her.

Westerners Rebel On Washington Heat

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Western members of the House are rebelling over the hot Washington weather.

Their target is the long weekend recesses, which they complain give eastern members a chance to go to their seashore homes while the lawmakers from distant points sweat in the capitol.

The rebellion, which has been seething for some time, broke into the open when Rep Hoeven (R-Iowa) served notice that he will object hereafter to house recesses running from Thursday to Monday. A single objection can block these recesses.

If congress must "sweat it out" in Washington's hot weather, Hoeven told the house yesterday, it should work every day and get the job done so everybody can go home.

Hoeven didn't object to the recess from yesterday until next Monday, but said he will in future cases.

LISTEN! by Jim Carson

Phil Evans, director of Farm Services for The KMBC-KFRM Team, is just as busy as any other farmer these days. The fact that he's a practical farmer, and in turn presents highly important daily farm-casts makes him one of the hardest working, best known and respected farm authorities in the Midwest. As a reminder, Phil is heard at 6:45 each morning, and at 9:55 a.m. daily, with his daily 12:10 p.m. Feed Lot Chat, and with Poultry, Produce and Grain Markets at 12:50 p.m.

KMBC will originate to the network the "Church of the Air" at 9 a.m. this Sunday morning. Rev. Daniel T. Murphy, vice-official of the Kansas City Diocesan Matrimonial court will speak, and choir music will be furnished by the Annunciation church, with Herman Schwickrath directing, and Margaret Miller as organist. We hope you'll hear this program, originating from Kansas City.

Some friends were asking me about Caroline Ellis the other day. In the course of the conversation one of the ladies said, "You know, the more I listen to Caroline's morning Happy Home program, the more I like it." Friends, that pretty well sums up Caroline's morning quarter-hour broadcasts. We hope you folks will continue to listen more regularly to this grand lady who conducts the "Happy Home" at 9:30 weekdays over KMBC.

Caroline Ellis

A comedy program of particular interest returns to the air over KMBC this Sunday evening at 8 p.m. "Meet Corliss Archer," starring Janet Waldo, is the program, and many of you will remember it from last season. It's a delightful comedy of teen-age youngsters that will be of interest to the entire family. We'd like to suggest that you tune in Sunday evening!

Your KMBC Sunday newscaster, John Farmer, is a very busy fellow, as he writes and delivers six highly important news programs each Sunday. He spends more than an hour preparing for the 7:15 a.m. program each Sunday, and follows it up with a mid-morning news report at 9:45. At 12 noon, John presents ten minutes of late news, and is back before the microphone for the 7:00 p.m. news. Farmer is heard again at 9:30 with another 10-minute program, and presents 5 minutes of a general news roundup at 11 p.m. For the latest, most accurate and complete news in the area, we invite you to keep tuned to KMBC.

House Stays Fixed; States, Counties Move

LINCOLNVILLE, Me. — (AP)—A tiny house has stood in two states and three counties—but it has never been moved. The 230-year-old dwelling—one of Maine's oldest—was built about 1718, when Maine was part of Massachusetts. When Maine became a state it was in Lincoln county. In a later division it was in Hancock county. In 1827, a third division made the area Waldo County.

The two-room house was acquired in 1939 by Rachel E. Obershawa and Hester R. Hoffman of Newport. Most of the old oaken beams remain as do the original mantle and ovens in the kitchen.

Traffic Toll Little Lower

CHICAGO. July 30—(AP)—The nation's traffic death toll for the first six months of 1949 was 13,810 — only 100 lower than for the comparable 1948 period.

The National Safety Council, which reported the figures Friday. said that a five-month comparison however, showed that the nation's motorists rolled up six per cent more mileage this year than last and the ratio dropped to 7 deaths per 100.000,000 miles of travel.

This compared with a rate of 7.2 per cent for the equivalent period last year — the previous low rate.

Twenty-two states reported fewer deaths for the first half of 1949. And 200 of 471 cities over 10,000 population reported reductions in the number of deaths. No traffic fatalities were reported in 128 cities.

HORSEPLAY—A photographer flying over Gore Sound near Morehead City, N. C., came upon this strange sight of frolicking horses. It became a game of follow the stallion into the cool water when the temperature got too hot for the horses in their shoreline pastures. The semi-wild stock is allowed to run free on the isolated banks but is rounded up each year so the yearlings may be branded by their owners.

Roundup For 75 Hungarians

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa) said today that 75 Hungarian citizens are being rounded up by immigration authorities for being in this country illegally.

Walter told reporters the Hungarians are all displaced persons and that some of their papers were forged by a passport ring in Paris.

Walter is chairman of a house judiciary subcommittee in charge of immigration. He said there is no suspicion regarding the character of those being rounded up. He added that there has been no indication that they are subversive or undesirable.

He said their fault was that they apparently were overly anxious to enter this country. Most of the 75 are now under detention at Ellis Island, N. Y., he added.

Walter said those involved obtained Hungarian passports to enter five South American countries. Their entry visas to these countries, he said, were forged, including seals and official signatures.

Armed Gambling Place Raided

Hands upraised with their faces showing various degrees of emotion, persons in an armed gambling house at Maple Shade, N. J., are shown a few minutes after New Jersey state police broke into the heavily-armored spot. One hundred and sixty men were arrested and $40,000 confiscated. Police said the spot was officially listed as a plumbing warehouse, but was elaborately equipped for all types of gambling "day and night, including Sunday," according to a sign on a board. The operators, police said, furnished limosine service to patrons. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Affiliation MVC Approved

MARSHALL, Missouri. — The affiliation of the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing to Missouri Valley College has been formally approved by the Missouri Board of Nurse Examiners, it was announced today by Dr. G. Dewey Smith, vice president of the college. The curriculum for the Bachelor of Science degree in nursing is thus accredited by the State Board of Nurse Examiners.

The affiliation of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing with the college was announced recently at the spring commencement at the college. Under the plan, students will receive their general education and training in science at Missouri Valley and the professional courses at the School of Nursing. Degrees will be conferred by the college.

Dean J. F. Deering becomes, under the agreement, a member of the Nursing School committee of the hospital, and Miss M. Alicia Sayre, Director of Nurses, and Miss Irene M. Heilman, Assistant Director, become members of the faculty of Missouri Valley College.

The course of study, Dr. Smith said, will cover four and one-half calendar years, of which two years and one summer will be spent on the college campus.

Asserts Lewis Becomes 'Bore'

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Tyre Taylor, general counsel for the Southern States Industrial Council Friday called John L. Lewis is an "insufferable bore" and a "ham" actor.

The attack on the United Mine Workers Chieftain was made before the senate banking committee with the suggestion that congress cut Lewis "down to size."

Taylor, a Washington attorney, said the UMW has a total monopoly over coal production which is, in effect, Lewis' personal monopoly.

"John D. Rockefeller, Sr., never exercised one-tenth of the control over oil that John L. Lewis now exercises over coal," Taylor said.

The committee is investigating coal operations, the activities of the UMW and the three-day work week which Lewis ordered in the eastern coal fields last June 30.

Senator Robertson (D-Va), acting chairman, who requested the inquiry, has invited Lewis to reply to the attacks made against him throughout the week by coal operators and other witnesses.

Taylor wound up his bitter statement on this note:

"I will, however, in conclusion, venture an assertion which I doubt will be challenged by any member of this committee. It is that—in addition to all his other offenses against the general welfare which could impel congress to trim him down to size—John L. Lewis has become an insufferable bore.

"His acting is ham, his utterances corny, his posturing pompous and silly. From this, too, a lot of long-suffering citizens would welcome deliverance."

Worth More Than GOLD

"Credit," said Daniel Webster, "has done a thousand times more to enrich mankind than all the gold mines in the world."

You may not be wealthy but—

If you have a good credit record — a reputation for paying your bills promptly and keeping your promises — you have something worth more than gold itself.

And the more you use it the more valuable it becomes! For every prompt payment of an account adds that much prestige to your credit record.

Here's Important News For Central Missouri Shoppers—

Thursday Night Will Be Shopping Night In Sedalia

Beginning This Thursday Night Sedalia Stores Will Be Open Until 9 oclock

Beginning this Thursday night, August 4th, and continuing each Thursday night throughout August and September—and perhaps indefinitely, depending on the reception of the new shopping night by Central Missouri shoppers — the following stores, and many more not represented in the listing below, will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Frankly, this is being tried by Sedalia stores as an experiment, for it is the belief of these store owners and operators, that many people who shop in Sedalia prefer a middle-of-the-week shopping night.

Many cities and stores throughout the country are following this middle-of-the-week opening night trend, because they realize that most people who work have free time over the end of the week and that many of these people want to devote that time to recreation and relaxation.

Many of these Sedalia stores plan shoppers' specials for Thursday night customers. Watch for these specials in the Wednesday evening Democrat and the Thursday morning Capital and take advantage of them each Thursday night when you are in town or downtown shopping.

Because this is experimental, Sedalia store owners and operators will welcome your expression as to how you like Thursday night openings. Your participation in Thursday night shopping will be your best answer.

Remember, now you can shop downtown this Thursday night, and every Thursday night!
